

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

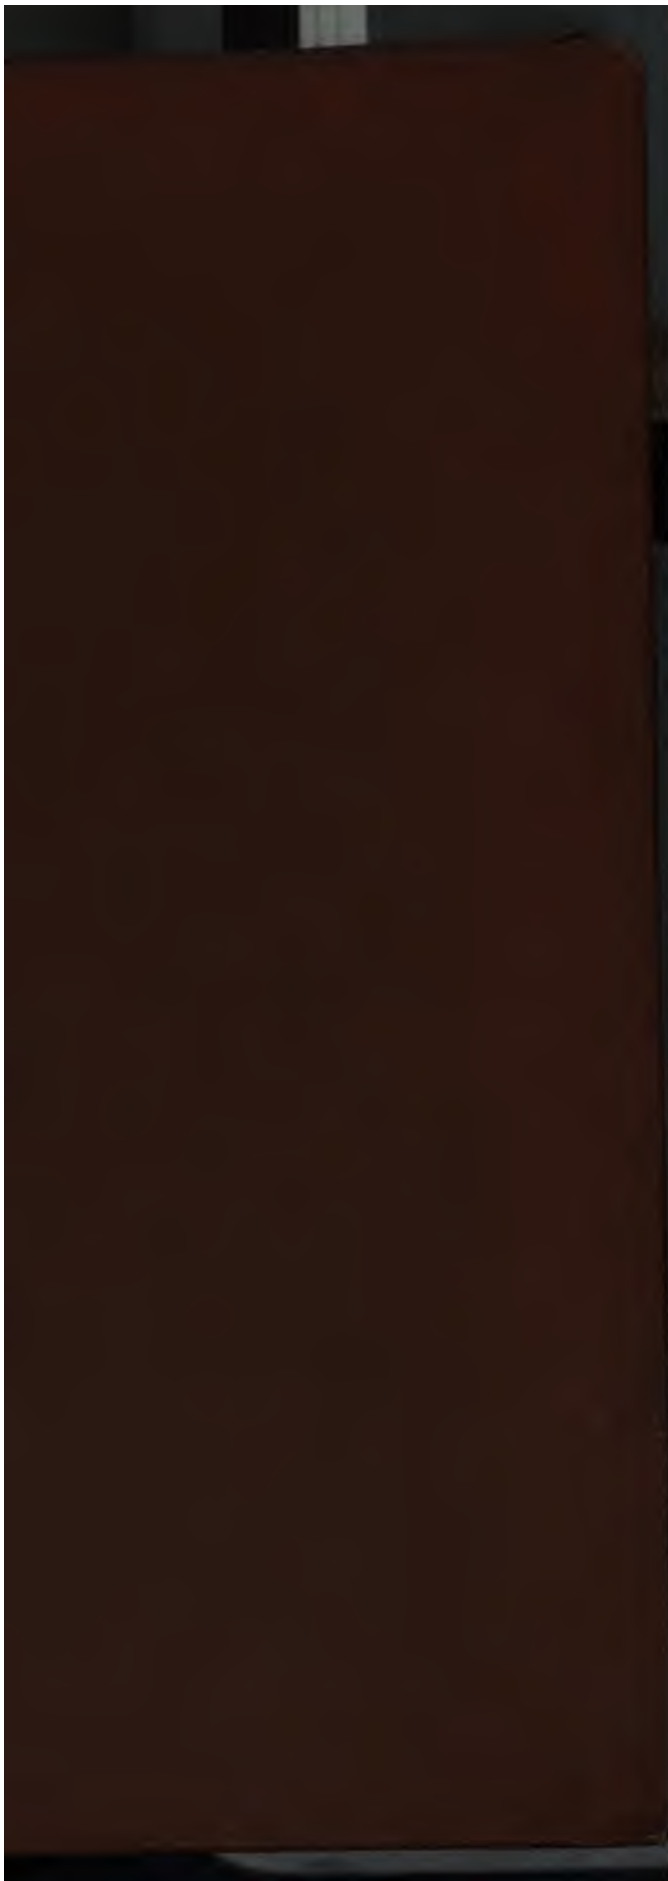

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. The Bishop, Clergy and Brethren of the Diocese of Georgia, send greeting unto our well-beloved brother and fellow-servant in Christ, Robert S. Barrett, Priest in the Church of God, and sometime Rector of St. Luke's Church, Atlanta.

Forasmuch as we have heard of the sore trial which has come upon you, so that in pain and weariness of body you can no longer labor abundantly in the Gospel as you have ever labored hitherto, we, being now assembled in Annual Convention, do send you our heartfelt sympathy in this, your so great sorrow and affliction. We thank our God upon every remembrance of you, for your fellowship in the Gospel from the first day until now; for the steadfastness of your faith; for your patience, which beareth all things, and for your courage, which hath not failed. We have prayed, and will ever pray, unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, if it be His gracious will, you may yet be restored to at least some measure of your former health; and unto His special and loving care we commend you now and always. In sickness and in health the love and prayers of your brethren will ever be with you. May the Lord, Whom you have served so faithfully, give you a sure deliverance from all your bodily pain, and fill you with all spiritual benediction and grace, for Christ's sake. Amen.

APPENDIX I.

Address of the Bishop.

To the Clergy and Laity of the Seventy-fourth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Georgia :

Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

I have to announce, to the great sorrow of us all, the decease of the Rev. William Eston Eppes, a well known and revered Priest of this Diocese.

The Rev. William Eston Eppes was born in Leon County, Florida, near Tallahassee, on the 5th of July, 1830. Having possessed the advantages of refinement and culture in his home, had a good classical education from his father, Mr. Francis Eppes, an accomplished scholar and man of letters, a grandson and pupil of Thomas Jefferson, he subsequently attended the school of Mr. William Bogart, who at that time taught in Tallahassee. At nineteen years he was sent to Ravenscroft College, Columbia, Tenn. He graduated at the University of Georgia, in the year 1852. He was admitted to Deacon's Orders at S. Augustine, in 1854. He was ordained to the Priesthood by Bishop Rutledge, of Florida. Shortly thereafter he married Miss Emily Bancroft, whose children are three sons and three daughters. His first Parish was Monticello, Fla. For a few months he labored in Arkansas, near Camden, but returned to Monticello in 1861. Thence he removed to Clarksville, where he ministered at Grace Church for two and one-half years, to January, 1864, when he returned to Monticello, and for two or three years was the only missionary in the whole middle portion of Florida, from Monticello to Jacksonville. In 1867 he took charge, as Rector, of S. John's, Jacksonville, with sixty communicants, and in two years' time he left it with two hundred.

In 1869, Mr. Eppes removed to the Rectorship of S. James', Marietta, which he kept for five years. From Marietta he went to Clarksville, and joined Gainesville to his other charges. Thence to Cave Spring in 1876. In 1878 he opened a Mission in Cedar-town, where he ministered, and also at Dalton, Kingston and Cartersville.

In the fall of 1879 he took charge of S. Mary's, Athens, and held therewith the Churches at Madison and Greensboro, up to 1881. Illness and death in his family caused his removal to Clarksville, but he still ministered to S. Mary's, Athens, until 1883, when he confined his work to Clarksville, Mt. Airy and Toccoa, where he held the first Church service, and to Gainesville.

He was Rector of S. Paul's Church, Albany, from December, 1887, to July, 1895, after that date returning to his home near Clarksville.

He accepted general Mission work in North Georgia in January, 1896. He took up temporary residence at West Point, and ministered there and at Newnan and LaGrange until April 5th, Easter Day, 1896, the Morning Service of which day was his last, when he removed to Clarksville, upon the suggestion of his physicians, his health being too much impaired to undertake any regular duty.

Mr. Eppes' second wife was Miss Augusta J. Kollock, who survives him.

After a brief illness he passed to his rest in the house of his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Kollock, near Clarksville, on S. Mark's Day, April 25, 1896. His burial occurred on Monday, April 27th, in the Chapel of the Holy Cross, near Clarksville, and the cemetery attached, Rev. R. M. W. Black assisting me in the Service. The congregation present bore ample testimony to the love and affection of this dear servant of God, who had so often and for so long a time ministered to them in things spiritual.

Let us pray.

Collect for All Saints.

First Burial Collect.

You are aware that we are assembled earlier this year than usual under our rules. The call so to do is made under the resolution of this body, upon my request, at the last Convention, in order to enable me to attend the Lambeth Conference. By a miscalculation I conceived it to fall this year instead of 1897. I did not feel that, under the circumstances, I was authorized to return to the old date for the holding of this Convention, it having been once determined to put it on the 6th of this month.

As the date of the next Lambeth Conference is fixed, I have accepted the invitation of His Grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury, to attend, and ask that our next Annual Convention be held early in May, next year, also, for the purpose already mentioned.*

Reviewing the work of the Church in our Diocese for the past twelve months, I am free to say that I am in the main encouraged by the tangible results. We have not, it is true, opened so many new missions or built so many churches as have been reported in previous years; but we have endeavored to strengthen the missions, to clear off debts from the churches, and to fill them with devout people, who appreciate the Church's Apostolic order and reverent worship.

It has more than once been intimated that we are building more churches than we can take care of. I deny the allegation, and declare that there have been no longer vacancies in any of our missions than in several of our self-governing and self-supporting parishes; and, had all of our parishes come up to the full measure of their obligations and promises with promptness, even the temporary halt in our advance would not have occurred. By altering the appointments of some of the clergy, and by a new grouping of missions, as well as by short lapses in the incumbency, we have gone through the year, paying our missionaries with reasonable promptness, and the report of the Treasurer of Missions will, I believe, gratify the most exacting.

It will be admitted, I apprehend, that our country is passing through one of the worst financial periods of its history, and from year to year since I have been laboring among you the condition has grown worse and not better. If, under these circumstances, our work has prospered, as the reports will show, I leave you to imagine what progress the Diocese of Georgia would make in times of any ordinary prosperity. If I, who have not only the oversight, but the chief responsibility, to the missions and to the clergy in charge of them, feel encouraged to continue, and do not faint or weary, it will not, I imagine, be adjudged an undue expectation that the clergy in the self-supporting parishes, and the laity who love the Church, should sustain my hands.

In this connection I must repeat a statement, made more than once, and the truth of which is obvious, that our base of supplies is the large Church centers. These, as we all know, are taxed with the care of local missions and interests; and part of the general missionary work of the Diocese is in some of our cities. Now, it must be apparent, that unless our strong Church centers supply more means than are necessary to carry on work begun in their locality, or if the Mission Board of the Diocese is to bear the expense of local missions, then the general missionary work of the Diocese reaps absolutely no profit from those churches upon which, in the natural order of things, we are forced to depend. I invite your examination of the receipts and expenditures of the Treasurer of Missions to illustrate this statement, and to afford a reason for the Convention making an urgent request and recommendation in the line of my remarks.

Beginning with our See City it ought to be a cause of lawful pride and undisguised delight that Church work under the Cathedral system in Atlanta has been a pronounced success. Under the truly admirable administration of the Dean, the Cathedral has, for the first time in years, extinguished a considerable part of the principal of its bonded debt, and provided for the interest on the rest, beside paying for the last three years regularly its various Diocesan assessments, and sustaining its credit, restored with much labor and judgment. To those who know the history of this Parish, such results, in so short a time, will appear marvelous.

S. Luke's Church, under its efficient Rector is not only winning souls in numbers, but encourages our expectation of a better financial status from this time on.

The people of West End, not content with being a missionary attachment, have zealously and successfully forged ahead. They began at the right end by securing a godly and active Priest, whose stipend they have met promptly, and they have built one of the prettiest churches in the Diocese on a most eligible lot, incurring an indebtedness of only $2,000, which they expect to liquidate in a few years. I had the very great satisfaction of opening this house for divine worship on the eve of SS. Philip and James Day, in the presence of Rev. Wiley J. Page, Priest in charge, and Rev. Allard Barnwell of the Cathedral and an enthusiastic congregation. I then and there confirmed fourteen people as the first fruits of the Church in this stage of its development.

At Hapeville, a suburb of Atlanta, Christ Church is paid for and consecrated.

At East Point, another very pretty church is nearly completed, and most of the money secured.

The church at Newnan is paid for and ready for consecration, and several others will soon be relieved of small obligations which they now carry.

A city Missionary has been employed the past year, and his stipend chiefly paid out of funds provided by the Churches in Atlanta; and, for the first time in the history of the city, we have had sufficient provision made for the Church people, who now number one-fifth of our whole constituency in the Diocese.

In addition to these material advances we have succeeded in establishing what we conceive to be an effectual starting-point of all spiritual work. The distinguishing characteristic of the Church is a body whose members believe in prayer. Acting upon the theory that we have no right to expect God's blessing upon our efforts unless we worship Him and pray to Him; and that a prayerless Bishop and prayerless Diocese deserve to fail, we have established and sustained, through the cordial co-operation of the four local clergy of Atlanta and the Archdeacon, a daily Eucharist with Morning and Evening Prayer in the Cathedral. Men may think as they will of the advisability of these frequent opportunities; we, on our part, are convinced of the importance of them, not so much from the results—although they have not been small—as from the Divine promises, which are sure to be fulfilled in their season.

In many other places there are tokens of successful progress. At Albany the new S. Paul's Church is an ornament, and a delight to the many zealous Churchmen of that city.

At Athens a handsome stone church is built nearly to the wall-plate, and there are means in hand to put on the roof.

S. Peter's Church, Rome, which for more than a year looked like a ruin, is now under roof. The great pleasure in contemplating its completion is only exceeded by the gratifying circumstance that, in the final effort to enclose the church, the townspeople of all denominations in that city were united and gave valuable service.

At Toccoa a church building is begun, and at Washington, in place of the building destroyed by fire last Spring, a new and attractive church is completed upon a far more eligible lot.

Most of the means are in hand for the building of a church at Fitzgerald, the new Georgia town. A House of Prayer for our colored people, on the Little Ogeechee River, will soon be erected out of funds supplied in answer to a brief printed appeal through the Church papers.

I might mention many other encouraging features of structural work, but these will suffice to show that not even the stringency of the times, so often quoted, can prevent the expression of that loyalty which is more lasting than fair words and polished phrases.

In the near future we expect to build at Dublin, Sparta, Cordele and Fort Valley. Four churches have been built the past year; four more are in process, and five projected. In the past four years and a-half we have built twenty churches and chapels, in every one of which the testimony of the Church is heard at stated intervals, and opportunity is given to become familiarized with our incomparable liturgy and reverent worship.

We esteem this no small result of perseverance, as well as, in many instances, sincere desire for the exclusive benefits supplied by the Church. It is distinctly a cause of honorable pride that most of this work has been paid for by the citizens of the several towns, and that the additional missionary enterprise has been accomplished with almost no increase of cost to the Diocese at large.

CONDITION OF CHURCH PROPERTY.

In most of our Parishes and Missions there is a laudable desire to preserve the Church property, and improve it with as much interest as personal property. The sacred structures, in the greater number of instances, are kept in a constant state of repair. Many of them, like this in which we worship to-day, have undergone important alterations and adornment; and I am happy to say that the obligations incurred in so doing have been, in almost every instance, promptly and satisfactorily met. I take it for granted that the question of fire insurance is settled in the minds of most, for all our Parishes and Churches are well insured, and so are most of the Mission Chapels. There are, however, about fifteen of the latter which are without any insurance policies whatever, the aggregate value of which would not fall short of $9,000. I have, as far as practicable, paid the insurance on many of these buildings, out of a fund in my hands known as the Church Extension Fund; but the demand is greater than I am able to supply, and, in several instances, the people themselves can ill afford to bear the cost. I shall be glad of advice from the Convention on this point, or suggestion as to how this need were best provided.

MEETINGS OF BOARDS AND COMMITTEES.

It is a real obstacle to the progress of the work, and greatly adds to my labors and responsibilities, as well as anxieties, that the various Executive Boards of this Convention so seldom meet together for the transaction of business. It has almost come to be a rule that these bodies assemble but once a year for a hurried meeting in time to prepare their reports for the Diocesan Convention. I understand perfectly the conditions which make these meetings so difficult, but I cannot resist the expression that, while it is to be regretted that anyone who is capable of the duties should not be eligible, the question of attendance should be very seriously considered in filling your Executive Committees. I cannot name one committee in this Diocese which, as a whole, has fulfilled its duties properly during my Episcopate.

OFFERINGS FOR GENERAL MISSIONS.

It is a pain and mortification to me to see how very little is done in the Diocese of Georgia for the general mission work of the Church. In a few instances large gifts are reported, but these are almost all from a few individuals of means, and the gifts are by no means widespread, either among Parishes or individuals. It has been my constant endeavor not to pauperize the Diocese of Georgia by application to the General Board for assistance in our work, much as we need it and well as it might be applied. Notwithstanding that fact we are to-day the recipients from the Board of not less than $5,000 per annum. Our offerings to that Board fall short of that sum $1,600; so that, instead of being contributors, we are, in fact, beneficiaries of the General Board of Missions. An easy remedy will be found if each Parish and Mission will, every year, regularly take at least one Sunday's offerings for the General Mission Board, and supplement this by individual pledges and contributions, so that the gifts from each place will be in the proportion of at least one-tenth of the amount which is contributed for Diocesan purposes. This is in line with the resolution, which was passed with great unanimity in the Board of Missions at the General Convention of 1895, and which has been acted upon with the best possible results in some of our weaker Dioceses. At the same time it would not be in the least inappropriate that these pledges be made in open Convention by the clergy and delegates of the several Parishes and Missions, and that a resolution go forth from this body to all those not represented here, urging this matter upon their attention.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS.

However baffled by imperfect successes in the past, I cannot agree to keep silent upon the importance of Christian education in its bearing upon the future of this Diocese. As I have had neither promises nor assistance in this direction for local institutions, I emphasize once more the exceeding great value to us of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn. Brethren, we do not act justly by this institution. As a memorial of Otey, Elliott and Polk, if for no other reason, this University should appeal to the hearts of all Southern Churchmen, and should find a responsive echo in all of us who are heirs of the sacrifices and labors of those and other noble men. But Sewanee can assert her claims upon grounds which more readily reach the sympathies of this practical age. She is to-day doing work nowhere else fulfilled in the South—in her theological training; in her academic department; in her grammar school. She asks for your patronage, that she may verify the assertion of her ability to fit your sons for any vocation in life; and she asks for a share of your benefactions, not so much to enlarge her buildings and extend her plant, as to provide for the many worthy but impecunious applicants, who, in honoring their alma mater, would glorify the sires of our south country. The clergy of this Diocese should feel it their peculiar privilege to keep constantly before their people the work and the needs of this school, from which we, of this Diocese, have already derived great benefit. It is true here, as elsewhere, that much of the means which should go to the extension of Church institutions is diverted to those whose policy is not only different from but contrary to our own. It is a peculiar sort of Churchmanship which will allow men and women to subsidize and endow institutions of other sorts, while our own are in great need of necessary funds. The University of the South challenges comparison and test by results. I urge upon the Churchmen of this Diocese to make themselves familiar with the character of the education there given, and if worthy—as it will be found to be—then to give their hearty and generous support.

I am pleased to report that our little school, named for Bishop Elliott, has been more successful the past year than before, and is gradually winning favor and sympathy. I believe that no better application can be made of the income from our small invested funds than is done in this school in the form of scholarships, the preference only to be given to those who are children of Churchmen.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

For anyone who witnesses the operation of hard and stern rules, which keep the little ones out of the Kingdom of Heaven, contrary to the Saviour's command, it is impossible to conceal the conviction that one of our most important duties in this Diocese is to the young. The command, "Feed my lambs," is equally imperative with that of "Feed my sheep," and issued from the same Divine lips. Under the conditions surrounding us it is not sufficient that we should simply baptize the children who are brought to us for the purpose; the clergy should realize that it is a part of their duty and their privilege to bring the little ones into the fold of Christ. To omit the exhortation to parents, provided in the rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer is well nigh criminal. Should we not esteem it a delight to look out children to be baptized in our Parishes, and by our kindness and tenderness make them partakers of the blessings promised in that holy Sacrament? Speaking for myself I could not excuse myself from a duty laid upon us by the direct demand of the Master, upon the plea that the child and its parents are not connected with the Church. To whom will they look for light if we, who are the light-bearers, will insist upon keeping our illumination within our own narrow chambers? I take the words, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not," as a commission to every Priest, to imply that he could do no more pious and charitable work than to admit these little ones, who are most suitable candidates, into the Kingdom of Heaven.

Upon the subject of the Holy Communion, to which I made reference in my last Convention Address, I have something yet to say. Referring to the report of the Committee on the State of the Church, I do insist that whether or not the clergy realize the obligation of celebrating the Holy Communion on every day for which a Collect, Epistle and Gospel are provided, is not the question at issue. My own conviction on this point is clear and emphatic, that with many hundreds of years of usage in favor of it as against a hundred cited by the committee, this is the Church's clear intention. There have been times within a hundred years when the Holy Communion has been celebrated only once a quarter, and that in a great many places. Shall we imitate this example? There have been times in the history of the Church in America, when male communicants were exceedingly scarce, and it was almost a second wonder to see a man at the Holy Communion at Christmas time. Shall we encourage this laxity, or do we wish to continue such practices in this day of grace and Church-growth, and increased spirituality? There was a time in the history of the Church of England, namely, the Georgian era, when men seemed to have adopted as their motto, "Let the Church hear the State," and it was a time of great barrenness of religion, and lasted long enough to leave behind it a scar from which the Church has never recovered. Precedents may be found for every species of carelessness in worship and viciousness in morals, but a precedent to be followed by earnest and intelligent Churchmen should be such as not only has age upon it, but also has produced the best possible fruits, and is most strictly in accordance with Apostolic and primitive usage. I will not further argue the duty of frequent celebrations from the theoretical standpoint, nor do I care to place the obligation merely upon the fact that provision is made therefor; but it is perfectly obvious to me that in many Parishes of the Diocese there is a real demand for more frequent celebrations, and the people are not fed as often as they should be with the Sacrament which the Lord Himself has provided for this purpose. Sermons and addresses, and special services, and occasions are made to do duty for that which is by the Master Himself specifically given for constant use and benefit of His children. I say it deliberately and with knowledge that in every Parish in this Diocese, where the so-called custom of monthly Communion is observed, there are people suffering with spiritual hunger; and while I do not for a moment urge Communions beyond the desire and appreciation of the people, we must remember that no man can say that the people do not want more frequent celebrations, until he has distinctly, with earnestness and for a reasonable length of time, set the opportunity before them. It seems to me most natural and reasonable that in all these things the Priest should lead, not follow; that he should raise the standard of desire, of love and of devotion; and most of all, the Priest should know the inestimable value accruing to himself, his Parish and the Diocese from the frequent use of that act of worship and of prayer, which the blessed Master Himself instituted and to which such precious promises are attached.

I cannot conclude these remarks without registering my conviction that by persistence in a custom totally out of accord with the usage of the Church in her very best days, we receive as a part of our punishment slow growth and no advance in many quarters where we have a right to expect progress, and so long as we will prefer our ways to those which the Church, in her combined wisdom has marked out, we shall have failure for our pains.

INSTRUCTION VS. PREACHING.

Next to the particular means by Christ Himself provided in His Word and Sacraments, the most valuable agency for the propagation of the Gospel is indoctrination by word of mouth, line upon line, precept upon precept.

It is this method, rather than fine literary productions, which through all ages has proven most lastingly effective; the examples of apostolic and sub-apostolic men are abundant to show how they taught; the catechetical form is most prevalent among them; indoctrination in a simple way inheres in the commission of our blessed Lord to His Apostles—"make disciples of all nations"—and teaching is explicitly commanded. His own practice in His "sermons" illustrates and enforces simple, illustrative and pointed teaching.

I would there were more dogmatic teaching instead of the attempted presentation of original views. Let the doctrine and practice be interwoven and you need not fear that the people will regard your preaching as dull because it is dogmatic.

Dogma may be viewed as the skeleton of life. It need not always appear in the exact language of creeds and articles, but we must be sure, and the people must be sure, that the frame work of life does exist, and that every bone and joint and sinew is in place and exercising its proper function.

It is an error to imagine that men do not want doctrinal teaching. Nowhere more than in a country divided among innumerable contending sects is clear, definite, positive Church teaching a desideratum. We need it in the Sunday Schools; it is an essential part of the preparation for Confirmation, and of the weekly routine of the Parish Priest. And here I would urge upon the clergy the utility and advantage of Communicant Classes, meeting weekly or monthly for definite instruction in reference to the Sacrament of the Holy Communion and kindred subjects. Among the Presbyterians and Methodists the weekly class is a power for great good. I doubt if anything so helps to sustain their respective systems as these agencies. They are no novelty in the Church. They are as old as Augustine, Cyprian and Chrysostom. We shall be wise if we restore their use.

Pray accept my advice that in this or some other way you, my reverend brethren, will take the pains persistently to instruct your people to observe the fasts as well as the feasts of the Church, and do not attempt to relax the rules which the Church has given us.

I have observed, with great apprehension of their influence upon our worship, the prevalence of two very bad habits—the neglect of the Church's explicit order to kneel in prayer, and the departure from the Church by a hasty retreat of those who having received the Holy Communion, utterly disregard the ordinary proprieties of this Holy Feast by leaving the Priest and a few communicants to finish the service.

I do not believe there are two men or women in any of your congregations who would be guilty of this rudeness at a family dinner. Can it be that what is gross impoliteness out of the Church, or en famille, can be construed into a permission in the House of God where all have banqueted at His Table? I appeal to you, who are the ministers of the sanctuary to insist upon the decencies in this matter.

Do not, I beg you, permit the Church's plain requirements to fall into desuetude because there are few or many who love to have it so, but by private admonition, as well as public exhortation, restore the reverence which is becoming in the assembly of the faithful for the worship of our own Creator, Redeemer and Sanctifier.

THE BUSINESS OF THE CONVENTION.

In addition to the customary routine you will have an opportunity to rejoice over the final adjudication upon a question which has caused great vexation to the Diocese, and to approve the settlement of the issue of many years standing between the Bishop and the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Church, now the Cathedral of the Diocese.

The position of the Trustee has been completely affirmed and sustained, the Parish has gracefully acquiesced and the bondholders, who have not been paid, are satisfied with their interest and the good faith of the Vestry to meet the principal.

After my consecration I found pending in the Superior Court of Fulton County a suit in equity, instituted by S. Philip's Parish against my predecessor, involving the legality of certain bonds purporting to be secured by mortgage on S. Philip's Church, in which cause, after review by the Supreme Court of the State of Georgia, injunction was ordered to issue upon the ground that they were illegal, not having been created with the consent of the Trustee holding the title for the benefit of the Diocese and of the Parish. (See Journal, 1883, page 31.)

On the 16th day of May, 1893, (Journal, page 26) the sanction and consent of the Convention was given to the erection of a Cathedral on the lot of land, in the city of Atlanta, described in the deed, dated February 13, 1847, of Samuel Mitchell to Stephen Elliott, Bishop of Georgia. Subsequently I was appointed, March 9, 1895, as substituted Trustee in the case heretofore mentioned pending in the Superior Court of Fulton County, and subsequently another cause was instituted in that Court by the Parish, for the purpose of having construed the said deed and its rights thereunder determined, in which a decree was rendered adjudicating finally, and forever, that the entire control of this property, vest in me, as Trustee, by virtue of my office and successor of the original grantee at the execution of the deed. And it is now my pleasure to state that all litigation of every sort, kind and description, appertaining to this property, is finally adjudicated and ended, and the property now stands free to be used in conformity to the terms of the deed and the consent given by the Convention, May 16, 1893. I ask leave to submit a copy of the decree to be printed, with this report, in the Journal.

The Committee of Revision will offer you its report which has been prepared at much expense of time and labour. It is worthy of your careful and minute attention. While criticism and debate will be in order, I trust both will be used with judgment. We may not expect to complete the work at this time, but knowing how difficult it is to reconcile and to apply our present body of Canons which have fallen together in the lapse of years, it is greatly to be desired that we adopt the re-arrangement and the more important modifications.

It is apprehended that you will discover very few radical changes, and will be gratified by the simplification and method which the committee has had constantly in view.

And now, beloved of the clergy and laity, I commend you in your deliberations to the guidance of the Eternal Spirit of Truth and Love, praying that you will bear constantly in mind whose business this is in which we are about to engage, and in your words and acts be sober, temperate, charitable and just, as beseems those whose duty and privilege it is to set forward the one Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church in a manner which no man can rebuke, and by which many may be attracted and held because of an unbroken attachment with the past, our unfeigned love in the present, and our zeal for the future of humanity.

OCTOBER.

1. Arrived in Minneapolis for the work of the General Convention, and was met with a cordial greeting by Dr. and Mrs. William D. Lawrence, at whose attractive home I was a delighted guest for the entire time of the Convention. Was present in the procession of Bishops at the opening services ; a splendid event. The Bishop of Minnesota presided and celebrated. The Bishop of Western New York preached the sermon. From this time, with the exception of one day, I sat continuously in my place in the House of Bishops, performing such duties as were assigned me, and assisting as I best could in the deliberations of that House.
3. Attended the general reception of Bishop Whipple and Bishop Gilbert in the West Hotel, and met many prominent churchmen and citizens of the two towns of Minneapolis and St. Paul.
4. In the evening met the Commission on the pointing of the Psalter for singing, and assisted in the completion of the report of that commission, which was later adopted in both Houses.

Mary's School, Shattuck School, the Cathedral and the Bishop's House. This was an occasion of great delight to us all, in the abundant hospitality of the townspeople, without respect to sect, and in the most loving welcome of the reverend Bishop of Minnesota, and the devoted church-people connected with the parishes and the institutions of Fari-bault.

We departed with the assurance that, despite the little legislation effected, the Convention had produced on that large and thriving community of the two cities deep respect for and confidence in the Church of our love. The unflagging hospitality and courtesy of the people are worthy of permanent record. Left Minneapolis that evening by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

23. Wednesday, visited Racine College, where I was most politely escorted by the Warden, the Rev. Mr. Piper. Reached Chicago in the evening and made an address at the missionary service at which the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Chicago was present in large body. 21. In the Parish of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia, lunched with the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, and afterward in the Church addressed this Society on "Missions Among the Negroes, the Encouragements and the Needs." I had a patient and interested hearing of a story which is not all gloom and despondency, as our work in Georgia abundantly testifies.

22. Spent on business in New York.

24. Preached at the Cathedral in the morning, after which presided at a meeting which considered the bonded debt and how to meet it, and from which resulted the securing of a good $4,000 as the first step toward liquidation of a most oppressive indebtedness. Prayer at the Opening of the Cotton States and International Exposition, September 18th, 1896.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.
Amen.

Our Father, etc.

O Almighty God, from whom cometh every good and perfect gift, we bless Thy Holy Name for all Thy goodness and loving kindness to us and to all men, for peace on our borders, for prosperity in our land, and for manifold comforts in our homes. To Thee we owe the wisdom to plan and the capacity to direct this undertaking. Grant, we beseech Thee, that in the power to get wealth, in inventive genius and in skill to labor, men may recognize Thy gifts and acknowledge the praise which to Thee belongs.

May every success and the power and means which Thou dost provide serve as tokens of Thy favor, lead men to perceive and know their dependence upon Thee and to show forth their gratitude in an holy, humble and obedient walk before Thee all their days. Let not pride come nigh to hurt us, nor vanity cause us to forget Thee. Prosper, we pray Thee, every effort here made which may improve the condition of mankind and promote peace and concord among the nations of the earth.

Protect, of Thy mercy, all these Thy servants from sickness, from sad casualties and from every evil to which they may be exposed. Keep them under the protection of Thy good providence and make them to have a perpetual fear and love of Thy Holy Name.

Bless our rulers, the President of the United States, the Governor of this State, and all others in authority, and so rule their hearts and strengthen their hands, that they may punish wickedness and vice, and maintain Thy true religion and virtue. Let the trust which this people hath confided in Thee never be lost or weakened by deceitful philosophy, by grossness or sensuality, by avarice and fraud, but may the bonds, which have hitherto kept us in the enjoyment of liberty, in the exercise of reason, and in the putting forth of energy, be sustained by Thy guidance for the benefit of Thy people.

Grant that the course of this world may be so ordered by Thy governance, that Thy Church may serve Thee in all godly quietness. Heal, we pray Thee, the dissensions among those who are called by Thy Name; and grant that as there is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God and Father of us all, so we may all be joined in one heart and one mind, and may with one mouth profess the Faith once delivered to the Saints.

Direct us in these and all our doings with Thy most gracious favor, and further us with Thy continual help, that in all our works begun, continued and ended in Thee, we may glorify Thy Holy Name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ our Lord and Saviour, to whom with Thee, O Father, and with the Eternal Spirit be ascribed all glory, honor, might, majesty and dominion henceforth and forevermore. Amen.

As directed by the last Convention the Treasurer of the Diocese has made a payment of $250.00 on the note of the Corporation for $500.00 held by the Atlanta National Bank. For payment of the balance of said note a resolution is hereto appended.

The Board of Missions has made an additional payment of $100.00 on a loan of $1,200.00 made to it by the Corporation October 28th 1893, reducing balance of principal of said loan to $790.00. With reference thereto a resolution is hereto appended, and its adoption recommended. The payment of $95.69 on the account of the Mission of the Redeemer, Atlanta, was made pursuant to authority reported to the Convention of 1893, (Journal, page 78), and is additional to the sum of $324.40 payment of which was reported to the Convention of 1894, (Journal, page 86). The payment last made was for balance of assessment against the lot of said Mission for street pavement. These payments amounting to $420.69 having been made with money belonging to the Permanent Fund, the Diocese is indebted to that fund the amount so paid, and should make provision for refunding the same.

The Board of Officers of the Corporation recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Diocese be directed to pay balance of $250.00 on note of the Corporation for 500.00 held by the Atlanta National Bank, said payment to be made out of any appropriation which this Convention may make from the Permanent Fund on account of the Bishop's salary.

Resolved, That the loan to the Board of Missions by the Corporation upon which there is a balance unpaid of $790.00 be continued for another year on the terms and conditions upon which the loan of October 28th, 1893, was made. But this resolution is not to be construed as relieving the Board of Missions and Treasurer thereof from the payment of said balance at the earliest day practicable.

CLELAND KINLOCH NELSON, President.

Z. D. HARRISON, Secretary

Report of W. K. Miller, Treasurer of the Diocese.

(See Page 26.)

The Board of Missions has during the year past held three meetings, one being omitted from the want of a quorum. At the last meeting, held May 5th, 1896, at St. Paul's Church, Augusta, the annual report of the Treasurer of Diocesan Missions was presented by the Rev. Mr. Knight, who certified that it was correct and in accordance with the vouchers and books of said Treasurer.

On motion of the Rev. Mr. Judd, the report was received and ordered to be presented to the Convention with the following statement :

(1.) During the year the debt to the Corporation has been reduced to $790.00.

(2.) The balance, May 1, 1895, was $318.45, exclusive of specials, the balance, May 1, 1896, was $341.82, of which $150.00 being for specials is not available for the general work.

(3.) All stipends are paid to May 1, 1896, in full.

(4.) The pledges made by Parishes for the past year amounted to $2,980.00, of which $500.00 are in arrears, but unpledged Parishes contributed such amounts as brought the total sum paid by Parishes to $3,516.00. Of the arrearages $200.00 are good and collectible, making the income from the Parishes practically $3,700.00.

(5.) The amount required from the Parishes for the ensuing year is, in the opinion of the Board of Missions, not less than $5000.00, for while it appears that all missionaries have been paid with reasonable promptness and that the Parishes have done better than their pledges, the present fair condition of the Missionary treasury is due to the enforced prudence in management which has resulted in serious detriment to the Missions. In many cases it has been necessary to group together a larger number of stations than can be properly administered by one Missionary ; in other cases Missions have been temporarily deprived of services. If, however, the pledges from all sources had reached the sum of $6,000.00 agreed upon in open Convention, no difficulty would have been experienced in the proper and efficient conduct of the work.

By order of the Board.

A. G. P. DODGE, JR., Acting Secretary.

To the Bishop and the Convention :

The Committee on Missions respectfully report :

Having examined the reports of the Archdeacons and that part of the Bishop's address referring to Missions, we heartily congratulate you upon the character and progress of the Missionary work of the past year.

It is a special source of gratitude to Almighty God that we find all stipends of Missionaries paid in full to May 1st, 1896; that the standing debt of the Board of Missions has been materially reduced, and that the amount pledged at the last Convention by the Parishes was so nearly paid.

We would call attention to the fact that our beloved Bishop has, by his personal efforts, done such splendid work on the Ogeechee River, especially among the colored people, and has succeeded in raising a sum of money sufficient for building a church in that region.

Praying for a continuation of God's blessing upon the Missionary work of the Diocese, we respectfully submit this report.

Total expenses.....	$ 2,173 70
Deficit.....	$ 14 22

We really may be said to have come out even, as there is some interest due which, if collected, would more than cover the deficit. This is satisfactory as far as it goes, and, while everything about the Home is in splendid order and working smoothly, as long as we are on as close a basis as at present, we shall have to be satisfied not to venture to extend our usefulness. If all the Sunday Schools were to follow the example of S. James', Marietta, and all the grand juries give us their fees, as the Pulaski county grand jury has done this year, it would be a very considerable help. However, we are grateful to the churches, who have pretty generally responded with their collections.

The closing year finds the Appleton Home in an encouraging condition. It is free from debt and at the same time enjoys the advantage of numerous and substantial improvements. The Infirmary, a memorial to Sister Margaret, is now complete and is comfortably furnished, one room having been fitted up in memory of Mrs. Lyman Cook, late a member of St. Paul's Parish, and the other by a society of little girls in the city.

The Chapel, though unfinished, is available for service in warm weather and is a great comfort. It is provided with altar and sufficient sittings for the inmates of the Home.

The grading of the street in front of the building resulted in a new grade for the front yard, and a handsome iron fence, the gift of Mrs. Robert H. Plant, has taken the place of the former one of wood, for one hundred and seventy-five feet. The balance of the front line of the grounds has been supplied with a neat painted wooden fence. Broad and tasteful steps and cement walks add much to the appearance of the Home, and for this improvement we are largely indebted to the zealous interest of Captain J. W. Wilcox.

It has been the mournful misfortune of the Home, during the past year, to lose by death, from its working force, a most estimable woman and efficient teacher, Miss Jane Reynolds. She died after a short illness on the 4th of June last, having been engaged in the Home only eight months, a short period, but long enough to greatly endear her to her associates, with whom her beautiful example of fidelity and christian virtue will remain a cherished memory.

While there are many kind friends whose offices are deserving of thanks, there are some whose long continued service calls for special mention. Dr. C. H. Hall and his esteemed son, Dr. Kenan Hall, are unfailing in their attention to the Home. Dr. Johnson, dentist, and Drs. Peete and Shorter, oculists, have been generous in their services.

Mrs. J. E. Wells continues gratuitous instruction in vocal music to the children, and the Appleton Church Home Aid Society is ever ready with substantial assistance. The Ladies' Aid Society, of Marietta, has supplied a number of ready-made garments; and St. Luke's Guild, of Atlanta, a box of clothing and a quantity of candy.

The proprietors of the Macon Telegraph and the Church Periodical Club, both, continue the kindness of years.

The present number of inmates is two sisters and twenty-six children. In the past year six children have been sent out and three have been received. The health of the institution continues excellent.

The Parishes contributing this year number 18, as against 16 last year, and Missions, 3, as against 1 last year. The amount contributed since last Convention has been $538.04, an increase of $114.66, over the corresponding period of last year. Our payments to the University show an increase for the convention year of $159.13, and for the year ending August 1, 1896, an increase up to this date over the whole of last year of $55.25. We owe the University for this year $60.22, as against $175.35 for last year at the corresponding date; and for two years last past $175.69, as against $384.48 for two years previous to the last Convention. If all the amounts apportioned are paid before August 1st, we can pay the $175.69; if those are paid which we may reasonably believe ought to be paid, we can fully meet the amount due for this year.

I beg leave to submit the following resolutions:

Resolved, First. That the Clerical Trustee of the University of the South be, and he is hereby, authorized to apportion among the Parishes the amount due to the Theological Department of the University and unpaid on August 1, 1896, for the two years last past, and also the $500.00 asked for from the Diocese for the succeeding year.

Second. That the amounts apportioned to the Parishes shall be such a per centage on the basis used for the assessments for the support of the Episcopate, as shall yield the amount required.

Third. That the Rectors and Vestries be, and they are hereby, requested to assume the apportionments as a regular charge upon their respective Parishes, payable on or before May 1, 1897.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK F. REESE,
Clerical Trustee.

Report of the Finance Committee.

(See pages 39 and 40.)

AUGUSTA, GA., May 8th, 1896.

To the Seventy-fourth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Georgia :

The Finance Committee beg leave to report that they have examined the following accounts and papers to them referred :

1. The books and vouchers of the Treasurer of the Diocese, which are found to be correct, and all expenditures certified by proper vouchers.
2. The statement of receipts and expenditures of the Treasurer of Diocesan Missions, certified as having been examined and found correct by the Board of Missions.
3. The Report of the Treasurer of the Appleton Church Home, and Supplementary Infirmary Report, clearly setting forth the financial condition of the Home.
4. The several statements of the Bishop of the Diocese concerning receipts and expenditures of certain trust funds in his hands.
5. The report, with statement and vouchers, of the Rev. F. F. Reese, Clerical Trustee, University of the South, which is found to be correct.
6. Reports, with statement and vouchers (which are found to be correct), of the Rev. A. G. P. Dodge, concerning certain trust funds in his hands.

Recommendation 1. The committee recommend, firstly, that the papers above referred to be printed in the Journal of the Convention.

Your committee respectfully recommend that the Treasurer of the Diocese be directed to pay, as soon as practicable, $250, balance due on the note of the Corporation held by the Atlanta National Bank.*

Your committee estimate the following amounts to be chargeable to the Diocese during the current fiscal year, to be provided for by the Convention, viz. : Bishop's salary, $4,000; clerical hire, $600; insurance premium, $467; traveling expenses of the Bishop, $300; note of Corporation, $250. Total, $5,617.

Recommendation 2. Your committee recommend that the usual sum of $1,500 be appropriated from the interest on the Permanent Episcopal Fund for the Bishop's salary.

The residue required on this account, to-wit, $4,117, your Committee recommend be provided as follows :

1. The appropriation thereto of the balance on this account now in the hands of the Treasurer of the Diocese, to-wit, $1,430.67.
2. By assessment upon the Parishes as follows :

The basis of assessment upon the Parishes to be the aggregate of their several expenditures, as submitted in their Parochial Reports, for the year, this to include only rector's salary, expenses of choir, and all other current expenses, except interest, and all Parishes to be assessed upon the expenditures aforesaid, according to the following scale of percentages, to-wit: On all expenditures as above stated, up to $1,000, 5 per cent.; from $1,000 to $2,000, 6 per cent.; $2,000 to $3,000, 8 per cent.; above $3,000, 9 per cent.

* A resolution authorizing the payment of this $250 had already been passed by the Convention before this report was presented. (See page 28.) [Secretary.]

We submit herewith extracts from the Parochial Reports for the year closing April 30th, 1896, presenting the amounts upon which we recommend the assessments as hereinafter set forth:

Thomasville, S. Thomas'	1,000 00	125 00	1,125 00	6

Your committee estimate that the amount of $5,010.48 will thus be available on this account, leaving a necessary margin for contingencies in the hands of the Treasurer.

Your committee estimate the following amounts as necessary to be provided on account of Convention expenses: Printing Journal, $400; Secretary and Assistant, $125; incidental expenses, $150. Total, $675.

The Treasurer of the Diocese reports a balance on hand to the credit of this fund of $995.67.

Convention expenses are met by assessments upon the Parishes, provided by Canon XVIII., Section 2, the specific sum of 25 cents for each white communicant being annually assessed. Inasmuch as the receipts now largely exceed the amount necessary for expenditures, your Committee recommend that the Convention take order looking to amendment of the Canon, reducing the per capita assessment to at least 15 cents.

Recommendation 3. Your committee recommend that 750 copies of the Journal of this Convention be printed under direction of the Secretary.

Recommendation 4. Your committee recommend that $100 be paid to the Secretary and $25 to the Assistant Secretary for their services at this Convention.

Your committee have had presented to them memorials from several delinquent Parishes asking for remittance in part of amounts due by them under the assessments ordered at the last Convention. Your committee are of opinion that it would not be wise or politic at this time to recommend that the amounts due be remitted.

Your committee respectfully urge upon all the Parishes strict compliance with Canon XVIII., Section 1, requiring quarterly payments, in advance, of their assessments for the support of the Episcopate.

A statement of the assessments upon the several Parishes for Bishop's salary is hereto appended and made part of this Report.

Respectfully submitted,

H. C. WHITE, Chairman, R. B. BULLOCK,
B. H. SMITH, JR., GEO. H. CLARK,

Committee.

Rt. Rev. C. K. NELSON, D. D., Bishop of Georgia, and Gentlemen of the Convention :

During the year that is past there have been no occurrences in the Office of the Registrar necessary to call to your attention, with the exception of asking your affirmation of my act in furnishing Rev. Dr. Reese, Registrar of the General Convention, one of the full sets of our Reports, for the purpose of completing his records. At your last meeting I was instructed to furnish these copies, conditioned upon securing a complete set of the General Convention Reports for the Diocese of Georgia. I immediately wrote to him, making known the action of our Convention, and received the enclosed letters in reply. Recognizing the importance, as stated in a letter accompanying, of completing the files for the General Convention, I submitted the proposition to forward the same to our Bishop, and beg to enclose his reply to my communication to him on the subject. I will state in this connection that Dr. Reese has before him a memorandum of the General Convention Reports which are missing from our collection, and in a more recent letter he states that he will furnish the missing numbers as rapidly as possible.

As stated to you in the last Convention, it has been my purpose to compile a brief history of the Churches embraced in the Diocese, which would include new ones within recent years, whose history is now available, being taken up from the commencement of the organization of Missions into Churches. The monthly publication by our Bishop of THE CHURCH IN GEORGIA, robs the contemplated work of mine of the statistical feature, as it fully compiles all matter of that character, but I still think that a valuable work could be done in the direction that I have indicated.

I find it almost impossible without the aid of the Convention in a request to the clergy to secure the information desired, and will feel compelled to abandon the effort unless some action is taken that would enable me to gather together the history of each Mission or Church.

The Archives submitted to my care are properly protected and in orderly shape.

Regretting my inability to be present in person, I submit the above, and remain,

Yours very truly,

WILLIAM N. HAWES,
Registrar.

ARTICLE II.

A Council of this Church shall be held annually at such time and place as the previous Council may have appointed; Provided, however, that no Council shall be open for the transaction of business unless there be present at least five clergymen, and delegates from five congregations. In case of an epidemic, or for other sufficient cause, the Ecclesiastical Authority may change the time and place; and in case no Council be formed, the standing officers of the last Council shall hold their respective offices until their successors shall be appointed. The Ecclesiastical Authority shall have power, when it appears requisite for the good of the Church, to call a special Council by circular letter to all members of the Council. There shall not be less than fifteen days' notice previous to the day appointed, and such meeting shall be holden where the authority calling it shall determine, and at such special Council no other business shall be transacted than that stated in the notice calling the Council.

ARTICLE III.

The Council shall be composed of Clergymen and Laymen. Every Clergyman in good standing, regularly settled and continuously exercising clerical functions in any parish, or who shall have been for six months last past performing missionary duties under the direction of the Ecclesiastical Authority of this Diocese, shall be entitled to the privileges of a member of the Council; and every duly recognized minister of this Church, canonically residing for six months last past within the Diocese, being engaged in literary instruction, or disabled by reason of age or infirmity from exercising clerical functions, shall be entitled to all the privileges of a member of the Council, with the exception of a right to vote; Provided, that no clergyman entitled to vote shall, by reason of age or infirmity, lose that privilege; and, Provided, that on all appropriations for Diocesan missions the Clergy and Laity representing self-supporting parishes and missions shall alone be entitled to vote. Every self-supporting congregation in union with this Council shall be entitled to three lay delegates, male communicants of this Church, to be chosen from its body by the Wardens and Vestrymen thereof. The Cathedral and self-supporting Churches in union therewith shall each be entitled to three lay delegates, male communicants of the Church, to be chosen by their respective congregations. Every organized mission and parish, not self-supporting, shall be entitled to one such delegate, elected by the congregation thereof.

ARTICLE IV.

Every Council shall be opened with the celebration of the Holy Communion and a sermon, delivered by the Bishop or by a preacher appointed by the Ecclesiastical Authority. The Bishop shall preside in the Council. In case of the absence of the Bishop, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Council shall elect a President pro tempore from among the clergy. The Council shall elect annually a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Chancellor, and a Registrar, and such other officers as may be necessary, who shall continue in office until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

ARTICLE V.

New parishes may be admitted into union with the Council by a majority of its votes; Provided, that they shall have laid before the Council written evidence, subscribed by the Wardens, that they accede to the Constitution and Canons of this Church, are regularly organized by the election of two Wardens and any number of Vestrymen, at discretion, not exceeding eight, and present evidence satisfactory to the Council of their ability to maintain the worship of the Church and to support its Rector.

ARTICLE VI.

The Council shall deliberate and act as one body, unless a vote by orders be required by one clergyman and two laymen, in which case each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote, the lay delegates of each congregation jointly to one vote, and the lay delegate from each organized mission to one-third of a vote; and a majority of each order shall be necessary to a decision.

ARTICLE VII.

A Standing Committee shall be chosen at each annual meeting of this Council, to consist of three clerical and three lay members, of the time and place of whose meetings due notice, in writing, shall be given to all members at least one week before the time of such meeting; Provided, however, that by unanimous consent a meeting may at any time be held without such notice. Four members shall constitute a quorum. The Standing Committee shall meet as soon as practicable after their election, and choose a President and Secretary from their own number; and it shall be the duty of the President to call a meeting of the committee whenever he shall be requested to do so by any three members of the committee. Vacancies in this committee, caused by death, resignation, or otherwise, shall be supplied by the suffrages of the members remaining.

APPENDIX II.

ARTICLE VIII.

Such deputies shall be furnished with a certificate of their election, signed by the Secretary of the Council. The deputies so elected shall be authorized to represent the Diocese in that or any special Convention till their successors are chosen. The Council shall at the same time and in the same manner elect four clergymen and four laymen with like qualifications as alternates.

ARTICLE X.

All elections shall be by ballot, except by unanimous consent, and the majority of votes cast shall be necessary to a choice.

ARTICLE XI.

No Clergyman shall be called as permanent Rector of any parish in this Diocese until he shall have first been nominated by the Vestry of the parish, and the nomination approved by the Episcopal Authority of the Diocese. The nomination and approval shall be in writing, and shall be recorded on the minutes of the Vestry before the call is made.

ARTICLE XII.

Whenever any parish shall be without a Rector for twelve months, or shall for one year fail to elect a Vestry, unless the reasons for these failures are satisfactory to the Bishop, he shall report the fact to the Council, and if, at the next succeeding Council, such parish shall not be in charge of a duly elected Rector, its union with the Council may, by resolution, be terminated, and the parish be remitted to the condition of an Organized Mission.

ARTICLE XIII.

A proposition for altering and amending this Constitution shall be introduced in writing, and considered in Council, and, if approved by a majority, shall lie over to the next Council, when, upon consideration again, if it be approved by a majority of the Council, it shall be adopted.

SEC. II. The treasurers of the funds for the support of the widows and orphans, and for the permanent support of the Episcopate, are directed, at least two weeks before the days appointed by the Convention for taking up collections for these objects, to notify all the Ministers of the Diocese of the appointed days, that they may make the proper collections.

Canon 11.—Deputies to the General Convention.

In default of which, the Bishop shall designate so many of the alternates having the greatest number of votes, as shall insure, as far as practicable, a full representation of the Diocese. And the persons so designated by the Bishop, being furnished with his certificate thereof, shall have all the power and authority of the deputies duly elected by the Council. In case of a vacancy in the Episcopate, or the inability of the Bishop to act, this power of designation shall be exercised by the Standing Committee.

No candidate for Holy Orders shall be elected to represent this Diocese in General Convention.

SEC. III. The mileage and necessary expenses of the clergy attending as delegates the General Convention shall be paid by the Treasurer of the Diocese.

Canon 12. — Archdeaconries.

SECTION I. For the purpose of association in mission work, the Bishop may, in his discretion, divide the Diocese into districts or Archdeaconries, the boundaries of which may, from time to time, be changed by the Bishop.

SEC. II. The Bishop of the Diocese shall be ex officio the presiding officer of each district.

SEC. III. The Bishop may appoint, at each Annual Council, an Archdeacon for each division, who shall have been canonically resident in the Diocese for at least one year at the time of his appointment, and who shall, if practicable, be detached from any parochial cure.

SEC. IV. Each Archdeaconry may be divided by the Bishop, as he may deem expedient, into two or more deaneries, for each of which the Bishop may appoint a Dean.

SEC. V. The duty of the Archdeacon shall be to act for the Bishop in aggressive missionary operations, in supplying vacant stations, in the collection of moneys for missions, to keep the Parish Register of all vacant stations, and to preside at the meetings of the Archdeaconries in the absence of the Bishop. An Archdeacon shall have no authority in any parish, nor shall he assume any prerogatives but such as are accorded him by the courtesy of the clergy in charge of parishes, or such as are committed to him in writing by the Bishop. An Archdeacon shall be amenable to the Bishop in all his acts and appointments, and shall not take charge of any parish, cure or station, but by written permission of the Bishop. Canon 13. — Parishes.

SECTION I. Notice of the desire to organize a parish shall be given to the Bishop, or if there be no Bishop, to the President of the Standing Committee. If approved by that body, delegates from such parish may take their seats in the Council, and the parish shall be considered as united to the Council, and subject to its decisions.

SEC. IV. The proper style for a duly incorporated congregation is "The Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen (or else the Church Wardens and Vestrymen) of Church, in, " the first blank being left for the name of the Church, the other for that of the place.

If there be two or more Parishes therein, it shall be the cure of the Ministers thereof.

Canon 16. — Vacancy in Rectorship.

SECTION I. Whenever the rectorate of any Parish becomes vacant, it shall be the duty of the Vestry forthwith to give notice to the Bishop of the Diocese, together with a statement of the support which the Parish pledges itself to pay to the new Rector. Whereupon it shall become the duty of the Bishop to provide for the celebration of divine service in said Parish by temporary supply (two-thirds of the regular salary to be paid for such service), and to appoint the locum tenens within ninety days from the date of the receipt of the aforesaid notice. Should the Bishop fail to make the appointment within the prescribed time, the Vestry may elect a locum tenens, and give due notice thereof to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese.

Canon 17.—Dormant Parishes.

SECTION I. Whenever the Rector, Wardens and Vestry, or if there be no Rector, the Wardens and Vestrymen, of an existing Parish shall unite in a petition to the Bishop, asking that such Parish be remitted to the position of an Organized Mission, stating fully the grounds of said petition, the Bishop may, in his discretion, grant or refuse said petition; and his action thereon shall be recorded with said petition on the minutes of said Parish, and be by him reported to the next Council.

SEC. II. It shall be the duty of the Bishop to take the necessary steps to preserve the property of such Parishes for the benefit of the Church.

Canon 18.—Election of Wardens and Vestrymen.

SECTION I The election of Wardens and Vestrymen shall take place, annually, on Easter Monday, unless some other day be specified in the Act of Incorporation or permitted by the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese.

SEC. II. The Wardens shall be communicants, and the Vestrymen shall also be communicants of the Church; provided, there be a sufficient number of male communicants in the Parish electing them to constitute a Vestry of the minimum number allowed by the Canon. Except when otherwise specified by Charter or Act of Incorporation, the following named persons shall be alone entitled to vote: All male communicants over twenty-one years of age, who shall have been connected with the Parish by actual communion for six months prior to the day of election; all pew-holders and holders of single sittings, being males over twenty-one years of age, who have been pew-holders or holders of sittings for six months prior to the day of election; and, in free Churches, all baptized males over twenty-one years of age, who shall have handed their names to the Rector or Senior Warden as worshipers in the Parish six months prior to the day of election; Provided, that no person shall be deemed a qualified voter in any Parish who does not accede to the terms of the articles of association as contained in Canon 13. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of Wardens or Vestrymen of any Parish, the Wardens and Vestrymen of that Parish shall fill such vacancy by election, and the person elected shall hold the office to which he is thus elected upon the same terms and for the same time as other members of the Vestry hold theirs.

Canon 19.—Meetings.

The Rector or Senior Warden, or, in the absence of both, the senior member of the Vestry present may call a meeting of the Vestry, and he shall call it at the request of three members thereof. The Rector is ex-officio chairman.

SEC. III. (a) If the Bishop consent to the organization of a Mission, he shall appoint, on due consultation, the following officers for the first year, and after that annually in Easter week: Two Wardens, Treasurer and Secretary. The offices of Secretary and Treasurer, however, may be held by the same person.

(b) It shall be the duty of the Wardens to open the Church, under the direction of the missionary, to see that the same is kept clean and in good repair, and that it be provided with all things necessary for conducting the services of the Church decently and in order. They shall also provide, under direction of the missionary, the bread and wine for the Holy Communion; take charge of the Communion service, the linen, books, etc., belonging to the Mission; and shall endeavor, in the absence of the missionary at any time, to keep up the services with regularity.

(c) It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to collect or receive all moneys contributed by the mission; and to disburse them in accordance with the rules of the Board of Missions.

(d) It shall be the duty of the Senior Warden to keep a record of events of importance to the Mission, and a list of its families and members; to have the custody of the register of the baptisms, confirmations, etc., in case the missionary be a non-resident, though not to make entries therein except by the missionary's request or in his absence; and to attend to any correspondence required by or for the Mission.

(e) The missionary, on consultation with the officers, shall appoint the sexton, organist, choir, Sunday School superintendent, and any other helper he may find necessary; but in case there is no missionary in charge, the right of such appointment shall rest with the officers above named.

SEC. IV. (a) Every person becoming a member of the Mission is expected to name a certain sum per week which he will pay toward the support of the Mission, whether it be large or small, "according as God has blessed them."

(b) Whenever practicable a weekly offertory shall be taken up for the support of the Mission.

(c) The title to the real estate given to, or purchased by, the Mission, or any property acquired by the Mission for church purposes, shall be vested in "The Bishop of Georgia and his successors in office in trust for," or in "The Corporation in trust for the Church of, town or city of"

(d) The Mission, duly organized, shall report to the Bishop at the time of the Annual Council, through the missionary, or, if there be none in charge, through the wardens.

(e) The failure of the people of a Mission to fulfill their stipulations shall warrant the Bishop in withdrawing his missionary and dissolving the organization.

Canon 27—Dissolution of Pastoral Relationship.

SECTION I. A Rector, canonically elected and in charge, or an Instituted Minister, may not resign his Parish without consent of the said Parish or its Vestry (if the Vestry be authorized to act in the premises); nor may such Rector or Minister be removed therefrom by said Parish or Vestry against his will except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. II. In case any urgent reason or reasons should occasion a wish in a Rector or Minister as aforesaid, or in the Parish committed to his charge, to bring about a separation and a dissolution of all pastoral relation between such Minister and Parish, and the parties be not agreed in respect of such separation and dissolution, notice of such desire and disagreement may be given by either party to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese, in writing. And in case of any difference between the Minister and Parish or Vestry as aforesaid, which may not be satisfactorily settled by the godly judgment of the Bishop alone, or which he may decline to consider without counsel, the Bishop (or if the Diocese be vacant, any Bishop selected by the Ecclesiastical Authority), acting with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee of the Diocese, or with that of the Presbyters only of said Standing Committee if both parties shall assent to such limitation in writing), shall be the ultimate arbiter and judge; and refusal to accept and comply with the arbitration and judgment on the part of the Minister aforesaid shall not work a continuance of lawful and canonical rectorship or settlement beyond a date fixed, conditionally or otherwise, for its termination by such arbitration and judgment, should such termination be recommended and required; but such pastoral connection shall, unless otherwise agreed by the parties, cease and terminate as therein required. But such refusal shall subject the Minister so refusing to inhibition by the Bishop aforesaid from all ministerial offices and functions within the Diocese; and such refusal on the part of a Parish shall disqualify it from representation in the Council until it shall have been declared by the Ecclesiastical Authority to have given satisfactory guarantees for the acceptance of the compliance with the arbitration and judgment.

SEC. III. In case of the regular and canonical dissolution of the connection between a Minister and his congregation, the Bishop, or if there be no Bishop, the Standing Committee, shall direct the Secretary of the Council to record the same. But if the dissolution of the connection between a Minister and his congregation be not regular or canonical, the Bishop or Standing Committee shall lay the same before the Council, in order that the above-mentioned penalties may take effect.

Canon 28—Discipline.

SECTION I. Whenever a Minister of this Diocese shall have reason to believe that there is in circulation a charge affecting his moral or religious character, he may demand, in a communication to the Standing Committee, that they make an inquiry into the truth of the charge; or, whenever the Bishop knows or is informed of any charge against any clergyman of the Diocese, which, if true, would constitute an offense for which that clergyman would be justly liable to a presentment for trial, he should make, in writing, a request to the Standing Committee to make inquiry into the truth of such charge; or, whenever the Standing Committee shall receive reliable and trustworthy information that a clergyman of this Diocese has become liable to a presentment for trial under the provisions of any Canon of this Church, General or Diocesan, it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee to investigate as to the truth thereof.

If, after investigation, it appear that reasonable grounds do not exist for believing that such information is true, the Standing Committee shall so find, and certify that finding to the Bishop and the accused. But if, after investigation, it appear that reasonable grounds do exist for believing that such information is true, the Standing Committee shall make presentment of the accused to the Bishop in the following form :

To the Rt. Rev. A B, Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia :

The Standing Committee of the Diocese of Georgia, upon reliable and trustworthy information received by it, hereby accuse C D (a Presbyter or Deacon of this Diocese, as the case may be) of the offense of (here state the nature of the offense, time and place of its commission, and such circumstances as may be deemed important and essential), and the committee are of the opinion that there are sufficient grounds for presentment and trial of the said C D, according to the Canons of the Church in such cases made and provided.

(Signed by a majority of the Standing Committee.)

The offense of which the accused is alleged to be guilty shall be specified with reasonable certainty as to the time, place and circumstances, and shall be held and deemed sufficiently correct when it states the offense so plainly that its nature may be easily understood. No presentment shall be entertained in any case for an offense alleged to have been committed more than three years before the date of the presentment.

SEC. II. Every presentment so made shall be immediately sent to the Bishop by the Secretary of the Standing Committee. After considering such presentment the Bishop, if he deem it expedient that trial shall be had, shall cause a copy of said presentment, properly certified by the Secretary of the Standing Committee, to be served on the accused, and shall at once make, or cause to be made, a list of all the Presbyters residing in the Diocese and entitled to seats in the Convention—excepting the accused, the accuser and the clerical members of the Standing Committee. He shall then summon the accused and the President of the Standing Committee to attend, at a time and place to be named in the summons, for the purpose of reducing the said list to five, the President of the Standing Committee and the accused striking off the names alternately, the President of the Standing Committee having the first strike. The five clergymen whose names remain on said list shall constitute the triers under said presentment.

Should the accused fail to attend, or omit or decline to exercise the privilege, the Bishop shall strike off the names in his stead, and shall then summon the five Presbyters whose names remain on the list, and thus selected, to meet at some time not exceeding ninety (90) days, at some place within the county where the accused shall reside or officiate for the time being ; and the said Presbyters, or a majority of their number, shall sit as Court for the trial of the accused, shall have power to adjourn from time to time, and, upon good cause shown by either side, from place to place, but always within the Diocese, and to render judgment whether the accused is guilty or not guilty as charged.

SEC. III. The Bishop shall forthwith furnish to the Standing Committee and the accused a list of the Presbyters summoned to constitute the Court, and with a notice of the time and place of the meeting of the Court. The Standing Committee shall, at least thirty (30) days before the trial, furnish the accused with a list of the witnesses who may then be known to the Standing Committee, and relied on to prove the case against him.

The Court shall appoint a Church Advocate, who shall be a communicant of the Church, in good standing, and of the profession of the law, who shall conduct the prosecution, and the accused may employ counsel with the like qualifications, the certificate of his or their rector to be presented as the evidence of his or their qualification.

SEC. IV. As soon as practicable after their appointment the members of the Court shall assemble and choose a President from their own number, and a Secretary, either from their own number or otherwise, as to them shall seem fit, and make such rules as are, in their judgment, necessary for the conduct of said trial. They shall also be authorized to employ a stenographer.

The Chancellor of the Diocese shall attend all sessions of the Court, and shall give to the Court his opinion on any question not theological, upon which the Court or any member thereof, or either party, may desire an opinion. If a dispute shall arise whether any question be or be not theological, it shall be decided by the Court by a majority of votes.

The laws of Georgia, so far as they relate to the law of evidence, shall be, as far as practicable, the rule by which the Court shall be governed, and these laws shall also be the rule of decision as to the competency of witnesses, save and except the accused shall, at his own request, but not otherwise, be a competent witness; his failure to make such a request shall not create any presumption against him, but if offered in his own behalf, he shall be subject to cross-examination like other witnesses. The trial shall be conducted according to the practice in the courts of Georgia, as far as practicable.

SEC. V. It is hereby declared to be the duty of all members of the Church to attend and give evidence, when duly summoned to do so, in any ecclesiastical trial or investigation under authority of this Church; but in case there is ground to suppose that the attendance of any witness on the trial cannot be obtained, it shall be lawful for either party to apply to the Court, if in session, and if not to any member thereof, who shall thereupon appoint a commissioner to take the deposition of such witness; and such party so desiring to take the deposition shall give to the opposite party ten days' notice of the time and place of taking such deposition, accompanying such notice with the interrogatories to be propounded to the witness. Whereupon it shall be lawful for the other party, within six days after such notice, to propound cross-interrogatories, and such interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, if any be propounded, shall be sent to the commissioner, who shall thereupon proceed to take the testimony of such witness, under oath or affirmation, and transmit it under seal to the Court; but no deposition shall be read at the trial, unless the Court have reasonable assurance that the attendance of the witness cannot be procured, or unless both parties consent that it may be read.

The oath to be administered to each witness, orally or before his examination by interrogatories, shall be: "I do solemnly call God to witness that the evidence I am about to give shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." At the option of the Court, or a majority of its members, or of the commissioner, any witness may be permitted to affirm, such affirmation being of a solemn nature and regarded as equivalent to an oath.

SEC. VI. Before pleading to the merits, all exceptions to the personnel of the Court, to the venue of the trial, or the presentment, or any charge, specification or count thereof, or plea in abatement, shall be presented, urged and determined by the Court before proceeding to hear the case on its merits. Should the accused neglect or refuse to appear, or to answer in person or by counsel, in accordance with the notice served on him, as aforesaid, except for some reasonable cause to be allowed by the Court, he shall be considered contumacious, and shall be so reported to the Bishop by the Court. Whereupon he shall proceed as if the Court had found the accused, after trial, guilty as charged.

If before or during the trial the accused shall confess the truth of the charges as stated in the presentment, the Court may dispense with hearing further evidence and proceed to render judgment; but if he shall appear and proceed to trial on the presentment, the Court shall adjudge him guilty or not guilty, according to the evidence. If he be found guilty the Court shall declare to the Bishop to what ecclesiastical sentence he ought, in their judgment, to be subjected.

SEC. VII. The Secretary shall keep a record of all the proceedings, which shall contain a copy of the presentment, specifications, notice to the accused and his answer, with the evidence, both oral and written, and the final judgment of the Court. An attested copy of this record, made out by the Secretary or the stenographer, and certified to by the Secretary, shall be forthwith at the conclusion of the trial delivered to the Bishop.

If the judgment of the Court be not guilty, the Bishop shall give his certificate of acquittal to the accused, embracing a copy of the presentment and specifications, and the accused shall not be subject to a second trial on the same charges. If the Court shall adjudge him guilty on one or more points at issue, the Bishop shall announce such canonical sentence as shall appear to him to be proper, provided the penalty shall not be greater than that expressed in the judgment of the Court. Before announcing any sentence the Bishop shall summon the accused and any two or more clergymen to meet him, at such time as in his opinion may be most convenient, in some church to be designated by him, which shall for that purpose be open at the time for all persons who choose to attend, and the sentence shall then and there be publicly pronounced by the Bishop; but no sentence shall be pronounced until the expiration of twenty days from the adjournment of the Court, nor shall the penalty be greater than that expressed in the judgment of the Court.

At any time within fourteen days after notice of the judgment of the Court to the accused, he may make application to the Bishop for another hearing. This application must set forth the exceptions he takes to the proceedings or findings of the Court, both of law and of fact, and no other matter shall be considered or passed upon under the application for new trial by either party, except such as bear upon the points to which the tions had been or are therein taken ; provided always that new evidence discovered since the trial may be considered on such motion for a new trial, when such new evidence shall be presented in the form of affidavit, as required by the laws of Georgia and practice thereunder.

c. VIII. The Bishop, the Chancellor of the Diocese, and the members of the Standing Committee, or a majority thereof, shall constitute a court to hear and determine all motions for new trials. Within five days after written application or notice of trial is presented to the Bishop, all give ten days' notice to the accused, his counsel, to the Church Warden, the Chancellor of the Diocese, and the members of the Standing Committee, of the time and place, when and where the hearing for the trial shall begin. If, after such hearing, motion for a new trial be denied, the Bishop shall then, thirty days thereafter, proceed to pronounce such sentence as the case, in his judgment, may require.

If a new trial be granted, the same shall be had as before prescribed, and except that the names of the Presbyters selected for the first trial be omitted from the list of Presbyters from whom the new Court shall be taken.

If the Chancellor of the Diocese should fail to serve as provided for in Canon, the Standing Committee shall designate a communicant of the Church, who is by profession a lawyer, to serve in place of the Chancellor.

c. IX. The Bishop may, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, suspend any clergyman, against whom proceedings are instituted under the Canon, from the exercise of his official duties during the trial. If a clergyman of this Diocese, while under suspension after pronouncing sentence shall repeat the offense for which he is suspended, he shall be presented and tried for the offense committed during such suspension just as if no such suspension existed.

c. X. Every summons, notice or citation mentioned in these provisions may be served by delivery of a written notice to the person to be summoned, notified or cited, by a person duly appointed in writing by the Bishop, the Standing Committee or the Court, as the case may require. If the accused absent himself from the Diocese, so that he cannot be served personally, then the Bishop, upon notice thereof, may suspend him at discretion, from the ministry until he returns to the Diocese or to service elsewhere.

c. XI. The expense incurred in trying a clergyman under this Canon shall be paid by the Treasurer of the Diocese out of the Convention Fund, and "prorated" amongst the parishes as part of the Convention expenses.

Canon 29.—Miscellaneous Provisions.

SECTION I. In all cases in which a Canon directs a duty to be performed, or a power to be exercised by the Standing Committee, or by the whole members thereof, or by any body consisting of several members, a majority of the members, the whole being duly cited to meet, shall be a quorum ; and a majority of the quorum so convened shall be competent to act, unless the contrary be expressly required by Canon or some existing charter.

SEC. II. No proposed alteration of, or addition to, these Canons shall be considered by the Council, unless at least one day's notice thereof in writing be read in open Council; nor except by unanimous consent, until such alteration, or addition shall have been referred to and reported upon by a committee. No alteration or addition shall be adopted during the same Council in which it is proposed, if two-thirds of the members present and voting do not concur therein.

SEC. III. All former Canons of the Diocese of Georgia, not included in these Canons, are hereby repealed.

Report of the Committee on the University of the South.

We respectfully call the earnest attention of the Convention to the claims upon us of the University of the South. Both in its Academic and Theological Departments the University has been, and is, a veritable blessing. The Theological professors depend entirely for their support upon the offerings of Church people. This Diocese assumes to pay $500 annually. Shall we not do it? The Committee is pleased to report that the offerings during the year past have been about 50 per cent. in excess of the year previous. Eighteen Parishes and three Missions have contributed, as contrasted with sixteen Parishes and one Mission the year before. But it is clearly seen that this is only a proportion of our Parishes. While the offerings have lately been gratifying, owing, in part, to some large individual gifts, we are still due the University $175 on the account for two years past. The Diocese is bound, by every consideration of appreciation and gratitude, to do the small duty by Sewanee that is expected of us.

The Committee commends the efficient work of our Clerical Trustee of the University, the Rev. F. F. Reese, and asks the adoption by the Convention of the following resolutions proposed by him:

Resolved, 1st, That the Clerical Trustee of the University of the South be, and he is hereby, authorized to apportion among the Parishes the amount due to the Theological Department of the University of the South and unpaid on August 1st, 1896, for the two years last past, and also the $500 asked for from the Diocese for the succeeding year.

2d, That the amounts apportioned to the Parishes shall be such a percentage on the basis used for the assessments for the support of the Episcopate as shall yield the amount required.

3d, That the Rectors and Vestries be, and they are hereby, requested to assume the apportionments as a regular charge upon their respective Parishes, payable on or before May 1st, 1897.

Respectfully submitted,

R. M. W. BLACK,

Report of the Committee on the State of the Church.

The evidences of the continued and sure growth of the Church in Georgia, and its outward prosperity, are clearly shown by the opening of new Missions; the rapid increase of Church buildings; the meeting of financial obligations, both in the Parishes and in the Diocesan Mission field; and in the number of confirmations and baptisms. In the last particular, especially, we observe a gratifying increase. From the sixty-nine reports (being an incomplete list), we note 596 baptisms during the past year. The total from all the Parishes for the preceding year was 587.

We call attention to the details in the Bishop's address, which clearly substantiate the statement of the visible growth and prosperity of the Diocese. We thank God for the evidences of His grace, as shown in our Bishop's untiring zeal in his efforts to supply the wants of so many scattered sheep, who have been long deprived of the Church's ministrations, and who are daily being awakened to a sense of their need. In a little over four years twenty Churches and Chapels have been built, necessitating the maintenance of an increased number of missionaries.

The beautiful new church building of "The Incarnation" has just been completed, and the congregation now admitted as a Parish in the Diocese.

From the Bishop's report we note particularly the encouraging fact that over two-fifths of the persons confirmed were men.

With so much of cheer and encouragement, we regret that the necessity is laid upon us of calling your serious attention to a most sad and conspicuous neglect of duty and charity to the Church at large; and we feel impelled to warn our brethren of the great danger of having our love and sympathy limited by the narrow round of our own daily lives, or, if our thoughts are turned at all from the contemplation of our own immediate and pressing necessities, too often it is only for the consideration of those calls of love and duty which are forced upon us by the demands of our own Diocese. We refer to the fact that of the reports submitted to our inspection, only two have complied with all the requirements of the scheme of monthly and annual offerings. It is possible that nine-tenths of our people are not even aware, or at least are not kept in mind, that besides Diocesan and local Missions they are required to contribute something each year for the necessary and charitable purposes mentioned in the annual reports, the Diocesan paper, and the Journal of this Convention. The Appleton Church Home, the Society for the Increase of the Ministry, Foreign Missions, the Infirm and Disabled Clergy, Widows and Orphans of Deceased Clergy, are neglected, either wholly or in part, by the majority of our Parishes and Missions.

We claim that the Clergy have no right to withhold from their people an opportunity of learning about the needs and purposes of these various objects, and of having an opportunity of contributing to them if they wish. No matter how small the sum may be, a dollar or a dime, some recognition should be made of each and every one of the agencies recognized by the Church for the spreading of the seed of God's Word, or the care of His needy and dependent children.

We condemn the narrow and sectarian spirit which will give no material evidence of an abiding belief in the Holy Catholic Church and the Communion of Saints, which does not perfect that faith by works and fortify its prayers by vigorous almsgiving. We deprecate the charity which begins at home and stays there, and by lack of outdoor exercise and instruction in its wider duties is in danger of degenerating into selfishness and perishing from ignorance, inanition and neglect.

We note with interest the Reports of the Appleton Church Home and the Bishop Elliott School, and press upon the brethren the duty of sustaining these worthy objects by every means in their power.

We recommend concurrence in the necessary numerical changes in the Calendar, as proposed to be acted upon in the General Convention of 1898.

We also heartily approve of the suggestions made by the Registrar, and urge the various Parishes and Missions to comply with his request to furnish him with all necessary facts and dates necessary to preserving a record of their origin and history.

Finally, we note, with reference to the peace of the Diocese, that, notwithstanding the existence of some differences of opinion concerning ritual usages and details of administration, so general and great is the satisfaction with the energy with which the missionary work of the Diocese is pushed, and the great success attending the same, that we gladly hold these differences patiently in abeyance, while we rejoice in the true prosperity of the Diocese of Georgia.

With renewed thanksgiving to God for the mercies, direction and strength vouchsafed during the past year, and with humble prayer for further grace to give Him our more perfect love,

We subscribe ourselves,

The financial depression of 1894-'95 having been partially relieved work involving pecuniary outlay, as well as spiritual ministrations, has been a feature of the activity of the year just past. The Atlanta Exposition was a notable event of this year, and absorbed the time and attention of many of the workers at the centre of activity. One of the Clerical members of the Archdeaconry staff, the Rev. James B. Craighill has been transferred to another Diocese, and has taken no part in the work since our last report. Another, the Rev. W. E. Eppes, has been an almost helpless invalid. The loss of these, the only two clergy attached to the Archdiaconal staff, has thrown an additional burden upon the Archdeacon's shoulders and decreased the record of clerical service rendered in points without the limits of Atlanta.

The addition of that faithful, able and energetic worker, the Rev. Allard Barnwell, to the city force, has, however, relieved the Archdeacon of the responsibility of all the Missions of Atlanta and immediate vicinity. Working under the direction of a committee, Mr. Barnwell has been omnipresent and indefatigable in the prosecution of his work.

A glance at the Sunday directory of the city services in Atlanta will not only reveal the magnitude of the work he has undertaken, but it will also indicate the contrast between the few service points of several years ago, and the long list of the Cathedral Missions of 1896. These show the strong impetus given to church activity in the city of Atlanta, and the determination on the part of the present administration to plant the seed of the church in every available locality.

The number of confirmations throughout this field has not been large. This species of fruit is not the immediate result of the present system of the administration. The Archdeacon is expected to deal with men in numbers, breaking down local prejudices and planting the fundamental principles of the church and Bible truth. It is the mission of the Parish or Missionary pastor following to reach the individual soul, break the bonds of life-long associations and bring him to the "laying on of Apostolic hands." Whatever work is done in these points, the strong-holds of denominationalism, cannot reasonably be expected to appear at once on the Mission registers.

The Cathedral Missions are no longer under the direction of the Archdeacon of Atlanta, but being within the territorial limits are, possibly, subjects for his report.

Hapeville has entirely completed and equipped its churchly edifice, paid its church debt in full, consecrated its building, and the first confirmation class has been presented within the walls.

East Point is distinguishing itself by the zeal and success of its local committee. Three years ago it was unknown as a Mission. Not only is this point now surpassing every other extra-metropolitan mission in its activity, but it is erecting a comparatively costly edifice (now nearly complete), half stone in structure, and possessing a more costly equipment. It is expected that the very small debt will also be quickly paid.

The impulse given to the "Mission of the Incarnation" a few years ago by the former city Missionary, Rev. R. M. W. Black, co-operating with the Archdeacon, has resulted most happily for the West End of Atlanta. About a year ago, chiefly through the active canvass of Mrs. Clark Howell, the Mission manifested its financial strength by securing a Rector of its own. The wisdom of this move became at once manifest. A generous and well known lady of the West End donated a large and central lot. It has been only a few days since a service, largely attended, in a handsome and commodious stone edifice, an ornament to the West End, indicated the crown and completion of the present effort. The energetic Rector, the Rev. Wiley J. Page, whose hand has been on the helm of the final movement, the able committee, the congregation and the Diocese should be congratulated.

Washington has met with a severe loss in the destruction of its commodious building by fire. An element of cause for failure in the work of this Parish for many years has been a mislocated church. At this point one of the handsomest and best located lots has been purchased at considerable cost. On the 11th instant, our Bishop expects to consecrate, without debt, the most artistic church building in this beautiful town. The "sorrow" of the Churchmen of Washington has been "turned into joy!"

At Toccoa, the lot donated by Mr. and Mrs. Schafer is now utilized. The zeal of the donors has been manifest also in building subscriptions. An edifice similar to that at Washington is approaching completion and, without debt, will probably be consecrated at an early day.

At Dalton, comparative unity has been restored. The Bishop, by an almost unanimous vote, had been requested to locate a church in another part of the town. A lot had already been secured. A canvass has been made. The building is now well under way, and it is hoped will be consecrated by the 15th of June.

Points where building may shortly be anticipated are Elberton and Sparta—the latter Mission having lately been received as a temporary charge of this Archdeaconry. Fort Valley, where the Archdeacon had initiated a similar effort, was transferred to a local Missionary. And lately all points on the Western & Atlantic Road have been similarly disposed of.

Newnan was left with a heavy debt of $600.00 by failure of certain subscribers to pay their pledges. The last dollar of this sum has been paid and the chapel is now ready for consecration.

At Gainesville, church alterations and repairs have been so pushed that the interior of the building can scarcely be recognized. Confirmation classes follow each other in rapid succession, and the parish is growing in financial and numerical strength.

At other points interest and activity continue and expenditure of time and labor will pay in substantial results. The Lay Brotherhood is securing valuable railroad concessions—better than those enjoyed by the Clergy themselves—and is vindicating the wisdom of its organization. Pecuniary pledges from Missions for the coming year show a considerable increase. The record shows about 459 services held in this jurisdiction, and about 25,000 miles traveled.

On Saturday, the 29th of April, a co-laborer, the Rev. W. E. Eppes, exchanged the cross for the crown. As a suitable memorial will be published elsewhere the Archdeacon will only record the profound sorrow with which the sad news was received in every town of this section of the State. A long life of faithful service in the Diocese had endeared him to many of all denominations, and the sorrow everywhere is hearty and unfeigned.

In conclusion, I would say that the success of the labor and method of the Bishop of Georgia is (must be) now tangible and manifest to all. Caviling is cheap. Hyper-criticism is a source of weakness. It is the glory of the Church that she is "Ecclesia" and not a sect. Differences of method and opinion in non-fundamentals characterize an "Ecclesia." All loyal Churchmen are united upon one central and ultimate object. It must be now manifest to all that, if Churchmen of the Diocese will drop minor issues and coöperate earnestly and loyally with its Diocesan, he will attain the object of all our labor—the salvation of men through the upbuilding of the Church of God.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM M. WALTON,
Archdeacon of Atlanta.

(See page 26).

The Missions at present served in the Archdeaconry of Augusta are Christ Church, Augusta; S. Michael's, Waynesboro; The Heavenly Rest, Grovetown; and the Mission of the Redeemer, Bayvale. In these Missions there have been held, during the past year, 218 services; 8 infants and 3 adults have received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism; 7 have been confirmed, and the Holy Communion has been celebrated 43 times. The offerings have amounted to $275.74.

These results have been accomplished by the faithful and untiring efforts of the Rev. W. W. Kimball, supplemented by such occasional services as I have been able to render apart from my parochial duties.

I am thankful to be able to state that by the earnest efforts of the faithful women, the debt upon the church building at Waynesboro has been reduced, and that it will be entirely extinguished by another year.

I have also held regular services at S. Mary's Mission during the past winter, and was impressed by the earnestness and zeal of this congregation. A beautiful Communion service of solid silver was presented to this Mission by the Rev. J. J. Harrison, and I take this occasion to acknowledge his thoughtful and kindly liberality.

Land and money have been secured and contributions promised toward the erection of a church building in the rapidly-growing suburb of Woodlawn in this city, and by another year this work will be organized and placed upon a permanent basis.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
S. B. CARPENTER, Archdeacon of Augusta.

Memorial to the Rev. Wm. Eston Eppes.

Beloved in life and mourned in his departure, may truthfully be said of the saintly Presbyter who so long was numbered among our vineyard laborers. Unsparingly Mr. Eppes gave himself to the Master's work, and his Christ-like affection for the poor, his numberless deeds of unnoticed charity, his calm, sweet humility, his spiritual fervor, will not perish, because transmitted to others whom he has influenced. His long life was peculiarly a life of service. Contact with many people won him a lasting place in many hearts; and, best of all, we believe he has richly won the Master's approving smile.

The Committee recommends the adoption of these resolutions :

First, That a page in the Journal be inscribed with the principal data of the Rev. Mr. Eppes' life.

Second, That a copy of the sympathetic and most appropriate remarks of the Bishop in his Address, and also a copy of these resolutions, be forwarded to Mrs. Eppes, as the assurance to her and the bereaved family of this Convention's sincere sorrow.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL J. PINKERTON,
R. M. W. BLACK,
EDWARD S. ELLIOTT.

Have had charge of these Missions most of the past year in connection with my own work at S. Jude's, Brunswick, where I am, during this same time, assisted by Rev. R. W. Anderson. I find it impossible to make an accurate report owing to a discrepancy between the parish register and the last parochial report. This report, however, is based on the last one in the Journal. I hope to have the register corrected during the next few months. Last month I opened a new station on Cumberland Island, among the residents there, and am glad to say the people wish this station to be made a permanent one. It is a promising field for aggressive work. There are two other new fields where work will be begun at the earliest opportunity. It has been impossible to open these two points under existing conditions.

Rev. Messrs. Perry, Anderson and Dodge have done occasional duty at Camden since last report.

The Mission has received from the Bishop cruets for the altar service here needed; also from Miss Ellen King, of Washington, D. C., new Bibles and Hymnals, four new surplices, and a set of silk stoles.

The ladies and children of Satilla Bluff and vicinity, besides raising $100.00 for charity, have put a new chancel and altar in Lower Mills Chapel; also, stained and varnished the seats, put a handsome new organ in St. Clement's, and are now laying plans for new work, delightfully unconscious of how much they have accomplished, so quietly have they worked.

Personal Reports.

FITZGERALD, GA., April 29, 1896.

MY DEAR BISHOP:—In response to your request I send the following report of my work at Fitzgerald.

About the middle of last August, or soon thereafter, I called your attention to the large immigration about to take place from the Northwest into Irwin County. By your direction in September following, I visited the present site of Fitzgerald and its vicinity. On Sunday, September 15th, I preached twice in the old Methodist Church at Swan, the same building in which I am now holding services. During this visit I met Mr. P. H. Fitzgerald, of Indianapolis, Ind., the founder of this colony. I asked him for a Church site in his proposed town and received a favorable promise with an assurance that I would be helped.

On the 27th of January I returned to Fitzgerald after an absence of nearly nineteen weeks. I found the town booming. The price of the present Church lot was $200.00, but if bought for a Church lot it could be had for half price, that is, $100.00. After waiting for nearly two months I interviewed Mr. Fitzgerald and by his influence got the lot for $20.00.

Our resources and prospects are as follows:

1. A gift of 2,000 feet of lumber which we place upon the lot at a cost of $1.30.
2. A gift of 2,600 shingles placed on the grounds.
3. The lot bought and paid for.
4. Sixteen thousand four hundred shingles costing, delivered, $28.70 not yet paid for.
5. Four hundred and forty dollars assured for the purpose of building.

We have in prospect also a promise of a large amount of dressed lumber, and promises of help from many in the way of labor; $3.50 in nails, and about $20.00 more in money.

I think we may safely count upon having fifty confirmed persons here by the middle of October next, and after that time a rapid increase. We have two candidates for baptism and one for confirmation. I think there is a fair prospect for more to be confirmed.

We have enrolled the names of thirty-three scholars for the Sunday School. Besides myself there are three teachers. We have a choir and an organist who meet to practice once a week.

My official acts have been: One marriage, one burial, one celebration of the Holy Communion, twenty services and nineteen sermons. Offerings, $15.33, appropriated to the support of the Missionary. Expenses have amounted to $3.94.

From the beginning I have regarded this as an important point, and one that the Church should occupy and hold.

In proof of my faith in it I have come here in large part self-appointed and without assurance of salary or support I have struggled and am still struggling to "hold the fort." Encouraged by your sympathy and timely aid I have, by dint of perseverance with God's blessing, gained no little vantage ground. Through you, as our Bishop, I appeal to the Diocese at large. Brethren of the Clergy and Laity, desert not a brother who, in the audacity of faith, has thrown himself alone and unsupported into the breach trusting that you, at last seeing the prize as he sees it, would come to the rescue. Let not my efforts fail at the brink of success and on the very verge of victory for want of your support. In my belief Fitzgerald will put on fresh strength in the fall, and our Church may easily be made the leading Church of this vigorous town of such recent, but magical growth. In time this city may be made the centre from which to work a vast Missionary field including three or more other towns.

I am, yours faithfully,

J. W. TURNER.

Mr. Turner also reports the following:

At Hawkinsville, one baptism; at Cochran, two baptisms; at Dublin, one service and sermon; at McRae, one service and sermon, one confirmed person and offerings, $1.00; at Helena, one confirmed person; at Eastman, one service and sermon, and offerings, $5.05; at Sandersville, two services and sermons, and offerings, $3.75.

The Rt. Rev. C. K. Nelson, D. D.:

MY DEAR BISHOP:—In last December I resigned my charge of Zion Church, Talbotton, having served that congregation for nearly twenty-eight years. Since then, I have had a very severe attack of sickness and have scarcely been able to attend to anything. I am sorry that I will not be able to attend the meeting of our Convention next Wednesday, in Augusta. I am, yours very respectfully,

E. DENNISTON.

The Rev. J. H. H. Brown respectfully reports that since his withdrawal from the work at Waycross, his health has been such as to preclude his taking a permanent charge. Nor is it likely that he will be able to do so for some time to come. Whilst in Washington, D. C., he said divine service and preached six times.

APPENDIX IV.

Decree, Fulton Superior Court, Respecting S. Philip's Church.

DELANE KINLOCH NELSON, BISHOP, TRUSTEE, ETC., VS. THE RECTOR, WARDENS AND VESTRYMEN OF S. PHILIP'S PARISH, et al.

The following is a brief outline of this litigation, as it appears from the pleadings, evidence and agreed statement of facts :

On April the 13th, 1847, Samuel Mitchell conveyed a part of the lot commonly known as the S. Philip's Church lot to Stephen Elliott, Jr., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Division of Georgia, as trustee, for the use of such church in said Division (Diocese?). On June the 16th, 1847, L. P. Grant conveyed to Stephen Elliott, Jr., certain land adjoining that conveyed by Mitchell, as above stated. Stephen Elliott, Jr., afterward executed a disclaimer of title to the land conveyed to him by Grant, except as Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia, "in trust for the use and benefit of the Parish of S. Philip, in the city of Atlanta." This disclaimer is not dated, but was recorded on November the 8th, 1866. The Parish is alleged to have been organized in 1847. The Diocese of Georgia was incorporated in May, 1877, by the Superior Court of Chatham county. In 1859, Richard Peters and others were incorporated as the "Wardens and Vestry of S. Philip's Church, in Atlanta, Georgia," for the term of fourteen years. In 1881, R. C. Foute and ten others were incorporated as the "Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish, of Atlanta, Georgia." On May the 9th, 1882, Rt. Rev. John W. Beckwith, Bishop of Georgia, as trustee, filed his bill against the last named corporation, "The Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish, of Atlanta, Georgia," and others. He alleged, in brief, that the conveyance had been made to his predecessor in office, as above stated; that the Parish constituted a part of the Diocese, and its communicants were component parts of the Church in said Diocese, and as such had been permitted to occupy both of said lots under one inclosure; that the defendant corporation was erecting a church edifice on that part of the land obtained from Mitchell; that the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen, before they became incorporated, and before they had begun to erect the edifice, requested him to agree to a sale of a part of the lot, or to an encumbrance upon the whole of it, for the purpose of raising money to be used in building said edifice, which request he refused upon the ground that in the near future the Church would probably need the use of all of both of the lots, according to the trusts declared in the deeds conveying them, and upon the ground that the Parish ought not to be encumbered with a debt; that this request was repeated, and again refused; that after the construction of the edifice had been begun, he notified the contractors thereof, in writing, that neither the building committee nor the Vestry had authority to encumber the property ; that he, as trustee, held the title, and that he gave them notice so that no lien might be created in favor of any one for work done or to be done under contract with any person other than himself as trustee ; that on the same day he notified the Vestry that he had served such notice ; that the charter was obtained in October, 1881 ; that in December, 1881, he received from a committee of the Vestry a copy of certain resolutions of that body proposing, with the consent of the trustee, to mortgage the church lot for the sum of $15,000.00, an amount estimated to be necessary to complete the church edifice ; that he refused this request for reasons set out at length in his written reply ; that, having taken legal advice, the defendant corporation determined that it owned the lots and had title to them, and that the corporation had the right to sell or encumber, either or both, at pleasure ; that accordingly the corporation adopted a resolution in May, 1882, appointing a committee to prepare and issue bonds of the corporation to the amount of $10,000.00, authorizing the committee to pledge the property of said Parish for the payment thereof ; that it was the intention to proceed at once, under the authority of the resolution, to issue said bonds, and to mortgage both of the lots to secure the payment thereof ; that this would endanger the trust estate created by the deeds, and cast a cloud upon his title. He prayed injunction, etc.

It is unnecessary to set out the answer in detail, further than to state that it set up that for certain reasons therein detailed the defendant corporation was the real owner of the lots ; that defendants had been advised that the corporation had full power and right to sell or mortgage the property, to-wit, the lot donated by Bishop Elliott, provided the same was done in the interest and for the use of the Parish ; that defendants claim the right to encumber or sell any of said lots only for the use of said Parish and for the purposes of the original donations, that the completion of the new church was being delayed ; that about $22,000.00 had been expended ; that with the expenditure of $7,000.00 more the church could be finished ; that the income from pew rents would be increased, and, with the liberality of its members, would enable the Parish to pay the debt proposed to be created ; that there were about two acres in the lot, and that a part of it might be sold and leave enough for the church ; that the improvements were mainly, if not all, on the Mitchell lot, and a great part of the other lot vacant, and could be sold without injury to the church. Defendants prayed that if the court should hold that the legal title to any of the property was in complainant as trustee for the Parish, he be required and directed, by proper conveyance, to pass the title out of himself into the corporation, to hold for the use of the Parish for the purposes intended by the original donors.

The presiding judge refused the injunction, and the complainant excepted.

In the Supreme Court the judgment of the court below was reversed, the judgment of the Supreme Court being based on questions of law. The justice rendering the decision said : " There are no issues as to the facts between these parties, and hence no review here as to the abuse of discretion in the judgment of the chancellor below in refusing the injunction ; but the questions presented are questions of law upon the facts admitted."

It was held in that decision that there was a charitable trust ; that if a gift is made for a public charitable purpose, it is immaterial that the trustee is uncertain or incapable of taking, or that the objects of the charity are uncertain and indefinite ; that it will, nevertheless, be sustained ; that the courts look with special favor upon such trusts ; that an alienation of the legal title by the trustee of a charitable trust will be considered per se as a breach of his trust ; that it is his duty to preserve the trust property and act favorably to the trust interest ; and if he sells the trust property he must be prepared to show that the transaction was beneficial to the charity ; and in the absence of such proof the sale will be treated as a breach of trust ; that charitable trusts are not within the statute of uses, so as to merge the legal title into the equitable estate, but are continuing executory trusts ; that the creation of the incorporation did not divest the title from the Bishop and vest it in them.

The judgment of the Supreme Court having been entered in the Superior Court, the defendants were enjoined accordingly.

The case seems to have laid dormant for some years. Bishop Beckwith died, and the present complainant, Bishop Nelson, succeeded him, and was, by consent, made a party to the litigation. On March the 9th, 1895, the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish filed an amended answer in the nature of a cross-bill. They alleged, in brief, that the Parish was indebted to various persons and corporations in the aggregate amount of about $17,000.00 or $18,000.00 for principal and interest, which was evidenced as follows :

(a) " By certain bonds issued by said S. Philip's Parish, dated July, 1882, amounting to $10,000.00, and of which there is still due four thousand and three hundred dollars ($4,300.00), besides interest ; and all of which was used in the payment of debts contracted for the new church and chapel.

(b) " Certain other bonds issued in the year 1886, amounting to five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), with interest at 8 per centum per annum for about eight years ; all of which was used for the Parish in the payment of accumulated floating debt.

(c) " By note due Mrs. Benjamin Conley for two thousand dollars ($2,000.00), also used in payment of accumulated floating debt."

There were two other items, but by subsequent amendment they were alleged to have been paid off. The cross-bill further alleged that at a meeting of the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen on the 18th of December, 1894, certain resolutions were unanimously adopted authorizing, empowering and directing Bishop Nelson, as trustee, to sell or place a mortgage on that part of the land deeded by Grant to Stephen Elliott, Jr., and adjoining the property on which the church was erected. The defendants prayed for a decree authorizing the Bishop to mortgage the lot as above stated for the sum of $18,000.00, "the money derived therefrom to be used to pay off the indebtedness aforesaid, and for other purposes." It was alleged that the amount of the mortgage should be about $18,000.00 in order that a sufficient amount might be realized to pay off all the outstanding indebtedness of the Parish and the costs and expenses and charges incident to the giving of the mortgage and raising the money, and that if any balance should remain after the sale of the bonds it should be paid into the treasury of S Philip's Parish. By further amendment it was alleged that the purchase money for the property sought to be mortgaged was paid by the Parish; that a corporation had been created in 1859 for a period of fourteen years, as already stated, and that the present corporation, incorporated in 1881, was but a continuation of the original corporation, which, it is alleged, was the original cestui que trust in the trust created by the disclaimer of Stephen Elliott, Jr.

To this cross-bill the present complainant answered.

Some of the matters alleged in the cross-bill were admitted. He admitted that the debts set out above were those sought to be paid. He did not admit the amount which the cross-bill alleged was necessary to be borrowed for that purpose, on which it should run, as the cross-bill alleged, but did admit the passage of the resolution alleged in the cross-bill. His answer then proceeds as follows: "Further answering said cross-bill, the said plaintiff saith: First, that as the Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia, in which is included the Parish of S. Philip's Church, he is desirous, and wishes to do all in his power, to oblige the Rector, Vestry and Wardens of S. Philip's Parish, and to enable them to meet their just obligations, and that he is especially anxious to aid them to discharge, by every legitimate means, the obligations to the holders of the bonds and of the notes set forth in sub-sections (a), (b), (c) and (d), in the third paragraph of said cross-bill; and whatever may be hereafter said in this answer to said cross-bill, the plaintiff, trustee as aforesaid, desires to be expressly understood as simply setting forth what he supposes to be the obligations and trusts under which he holds the title to the property sought to be encumbered, in order that the court may pass upon his powers in the premises, and instruct him as to his legal rights and duties.

"This plaintiff saith that the property sought to be encumbered is the same property conveyed by Lemuel P. Grant to Stephen Elliott, Jr., then Bishop of Georgia, by deed dated June the 16th, 1847; that by deed of disclaimer, not dated but duly recorded on November the 8th, 1866, the said Stephen Elliott, Jr., disclaimed title to these lots except as Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia, in trust for the use and benefit of the Parish of S. Philip's, in Atlanta, by such deed debarring his heirs and declaring said property to be rightfully in his successor or successors in office as Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia, upon the trust and for the use and benefit hereinbefore set forth.

"This plaintiff saith that in the year 1847 a Parish was organized under the name of S. Philip's Church, the articles of association acknowledging and acceding to the doctrine, discipline, worship, and the Constitution and Canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, and to the Constitution and Canons of the same Church in the Diocese of Georgia.

" That at the time of the execution of said deed by the said Grant, and of the said deed of disclaimer by the said Stephen Elliott, Jr., the Parish of S. Philip's was not an incorporated body, but a mere unincorporated Parish, constituting a part of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Georgia.

" That subsequently an incorporation was made of the Rector, Wardens and Vestry of S. Philip's Parish at Atlanta, as set forth in the pleadings heretofore filed in this cause ; that it has been held by the Supreme Court of Georgia in this cause that the incorporation of said Parish in no wise changed the title to said premises so held in trust by the Bishop of Georgia.

" That the plaintiff is the successor of the said Stephen Elliott, Jr., and the present Bishop of Georgia, and as such the trustee holding said property under the original trusts created by the said deed of said Grant and said disclaimer of said Stephen Elliott, Jr.

" This plaintiff submits to the Court, and asks his direction whether or not, by mortgaging said property, he would violate the trust committed to him, and in contemplation by the donor of said property, which is that the same should be held for the use of the congregation who may at all times constitute S. Philip's Parish, whether now or in the future, and thus afford a permanent religious foundation, while the mortgaging of said property would expose the same to danger of sale and to the consequent diversion of said property from religious uses.

" This plaintiff further submits to the Court that the debts for which it is proposed to mortgage said property were debts incurred by the corporate body known as the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish, Atlanta, Georgia.

" That the same were not created by this plaintiff, nor by any agent of his, and plaintiff, therefore, submits that same are not properly debts of the said trust estate, and are not debts which this plaintiff has the power, as trustee as aforesaid, to charge against the said trust estate, but the same are debts contracted by the corporate body aforesaid, and that only the estates belonging to such corporate body are in law chargeable with the payment of said debts, and that the action of this plaintiff, should he undertake to mortgage said property, would be the use of said trust property for the payment of debts which were not properly debts of the trust estate.

" Plaintiff shows that this is particularly true of the items set forth in items (b), (c) and (d), of paragraph 3, of said cross-bill, the same having been incurred purely upon the faith and credit of the corporate body known as the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish subsequent to the decision of the Supreme Court of Georgia in this case, adjudging that the title to said property had not passed to said corporate body, but remained in the Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia, as trustee thereof."

In conjunction with the pleadings and certain documents (deeds, etc.), an agreed statement of facts was made, and the case was submitted to the presiding Judge by consent, without a jury.

The agreed facts submitted were as follows :

1. "That on the 10th day of June, 1847, Lemuel P. Grant did execute and deliver to Stephen Elliott, Jr., who was then the Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Georgia, in consideration of $250.00 paid by exchange of lots, a certain warranty deed to the following described tract or lot of land, to-wit :

All that lot or parcel of land deeded by L. P. Grant to Stephen Elliott, Jr., on the 16th June, 1847, and recorded in Book I, page 395, in the Clerk's office of the Superior Court of Fulton county, on November 8th, 1866, and originally known and described as lots Nos. 33 and 34, in the town of Atlanta, being a portion of land lot No. 52, in the Fourteenth District of originally Henry, afterward DeKalb, and now Fulton county, and which property is situated on the corner of Capitol avenue and Piedmont avenue, adjoining the property upon which S. Philip's Church is erected, containing — acres, more or less.

2. "That on the 6th day of October, 1866, Stephen Elliott, Jr., executed a disclaimer to said described lot or parcel of land, disclaiming all right and title to the above-mentioned lots of land Nos. 33 and 34 as owner in my own right, but only as Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia, in trust and use for the benefit of the Parish of S. Philip, in the City of Atlanta. And I hereby debar my heirs and assigns from all right, title and claim to the said lots Nos. 33 and 34, declaiming the same to be rightfully vested in my successor or successors in office as Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia.

3. "That Richard Peters and others and their successors were incorporated as the Wardens and Vestry of S. Philip's Church in Atlanta, in the year 1859 for the term of fourteen years, and R. C. Foute and ten others were afterwards incorporated in the year 1881, as the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish, Atlanta, Ga., for the term of twenty years, both of which said charters were granted by the Superior Court of Fulton County.

4. "That said the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish is indebted in the amount and for the purpose stated and set forth in the answer and amended answer of the respondent in this cause.

5. "That the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen did, on the 18th day of December, 1894, regularly and duly pass resolutions as set out in the answer of the respondents, at a regular meeting held at that time, and the said Bishop Cleland Kinloch Nelson was present at said meeting and presided over the same and did not dissent to said resolution."

This is not an entirely exhaustive statement of the pleadings and evidence, but is sufficient to show the present state of the litigation and the questions raised for my adjudication.

It will be seen that, while the answer of the present Bishop to the cross bill is framed in an exceedingly amicable and courteous manner, and that it is evidently his desire to be as obliging as his sense of duty will permit, nevertheless he presents for adjudication the questions controlling the case, and it devolves upon the presiding Judge, under the submission to him, to determine them. This is not a consent decree, but a case left for the decision of the Judge, and although submitted in a spirit of kindness and christian courtesy on both sides, the questions involved in the litigation are raised and must be decided, and it is my duty to do so.

It seems to me that the decision rendered in this case by the Supreme Court in 69 Ga., 564, nearly, if not entirely, determines the principles which must control in this decision. As already stated, that decision was not based on any question of disputed facts or any discretionary ruling of a chancellor, but was placed squarely upon the law applicable to the undisputed facts. The pleadings show conclusively that the then Bishop and trustee not only did not consent to the creation of a debt which would be an encumbrance upon the property, but strenuously objected, refused to adopt or recognize the debt as being a trust debt, and brought this action to prevent such an encumbrance. The Supreme Court as matter of law sustained the position taken by him, and the injunction was granted. After this bill was filed, according to the admitted allegations of the present cross-bill, to-wit, under date of July, 1882, bonds were issued. It is not stated in totidem verbis that these were the very bonds involved in the bill, and as to which the injunction was granted to prevent them from being secured by encumbering the property; but judging from their date as compared with the dates, amounts and resolutions set out in the pleadings, and the purpose for which it was alleged they were issued, they should seem to be the same, or if not identical, substantially so, and for the same purpose. The balance of these bonds not yet paid forms one of the items which it is now sought to pay by a new issue secured by mortgage. When the trustee refused to agree to the issue of bonds as a trust debt, and the Supreme Court held that encumbrance of the trust estate should be enjoined, as matter of law, and, nevertheless, bonds were issued by the corporation known as the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen, how shall the Court now hold that the trustee shall encumber the estate to pay them? Those who took them were bound to take notice that they were not a trust charge and took subject to that fact. There is no allegation to the contrary, and what is the hardship of their looking for payment to the corporation they credited?

If this were a proceeding by creditors, who showed that they had, without notice of dissent, furnished necessities for the preservation or benefit of the trust estate, or perhaps advanced money on bonds to build a church, which was shown to be necessary and proper for the trust, a strong appeal to equitable jurisdiction would be made; but for the Rector, Wardens and Vestry to build or complete a church edifice on a lot the title to which the Supreme Court has held is vested in the Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia as its trustee, to issue bonds pending a proceeding to enjoin encumbering any of the property held by the Bishop as trustee ; and long after injunction granted, to ask that the Bishop's successor encumber the adjacent property (held by him as trustee for the benefit of the parish) to pay off these bonds, does not make the same case. True, the Bishop is trustee both for the Diocese and the parish, but the two trusts are quite distinct.

The payment of debts is one of the profoundest duties, and a desire to do so commendable. But here a debt seems to have been created not by the trustee, but against his will and protest, to build on the Diocesan trust lot by the corporation of the parish officials, though doubtless they acted as they deemed best. The legal objection set up has never been withdrawn. A desire to use "legitimate means" to help, followed by reasons showing why this is not legitimate, does not obviate the difficulty. If every debt created by the corporation is to be secured by the trustee it becomes practically an executed trust.

Another item comprises certain other bonds alleged to have been issued in 1886, amounting to $5,000.00 principal, besides interest, and alleged to have been used for the parish in payment of the accumulated floating debt. These are admitted to be a debt of the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen, in the agreed statement of facts. Certainly there is nothing to show them to be a trust debt. They were issued also after the decision of the Supreme Court in this case. The third item consists of a note of $2,000.00 alleged also to have been used in payment of accumulated floating debt. A like remark will apply to this item. The answer to the cross-bill says these were debts of the corporation, the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Philip's Parish. There is nothing whatever to indicate that they were debts created by, assented to, or adopted by the trustee unless his presence at a meeting of the body when the resolutions of 1894 were adopted, may be so construed.

In the decision in this case by the Supreme Court already referred to, the Justice announcing it made use of the following language : "An alienation of the legal title by the holder or trustee will be considered per se as a breach of his trust. It is his duty to preserve the trust property, act favorably to the trust interest, and if he sells the trust property, he must be prepared to show the transaction was beneficial to the charity, and in the absence of such proof the sale will be treated as a breach of trust and be set aside."

This trustee comes before the Court, sets out the facts alleged in his answer above quoted, and calls on the Court to decide if he will not be violating his trust by making the encumbrance prayed for. It does not appear that he created the debts or assented to their creation, or ever has assented to them, or that he is able to say now to the Court that it is a proper charge against the trust estate ; nor does he say so. It is not shown to the Court by evidence or by statement of the trustee that "the transaction was (or will be) beneficial to the charity," nor the necessity therefor. True, some of it went into the building but it was over the protest of the trustee as already discussed. He did not seem to consider it a proper expenditure or a necessary one. As to the other items, the only indication on this subject is the allegation that S. Philip's Parish is indebted in these amounts, which were used in payment "of accumulated floating debts." Floating debts of a corporation are not necessarily proper charges to be allowed against realty held in trust by the Bishop for the parish. If this made out a prima facie case to subject the trust or allow it to be subjected, the trustee would practically be at an end, as a trust estate.

The decision in 5 Wallace, 169, cited in the brief of counsel for complainant, contains a statement to the effect that while a sale of property held on a charitable trust may be permitted, the Court is always careful to see that the proceeds are reinvested in other property suitable for the trust, and that no diversion of the fund takes place.

It is alleged by counsel for defendants filing the cross-bill, that the present corporation of the Rector, Wardens and Vestry of S. Philip's Parish is in effect the same, as, or a continuation of, the corporation created in 1859, for fourteen years, whereby the Wardens and Vestry of S. Philip's Church, in Atlanta were incorporated. I am unable to see how the new incorporation can take any right in this litigation by reason of the defunct corporation which was created years ago and expired long since. Indeed, it might be doubted whether the incorporation of Wardens and Vestrymen, or Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen is the exact equivalent of the parish as a whole, so as to affect in any way a trust in the Bishop for the benefit of the parish. At any rate, if the incorporation of these officials was equivalent to an incorporation of the parish, the decision of the Supreme Court already cited holds that the title of the trustee was not divested, nor did the property become that of the corporation. However worthy may have been the purposes of the corporation, or of the members composing it in creating these debts, and however excellent and honorable such members may be, I find it impossible to hold that these are debts properly chargeable against the trust estate, under the pleadings and agreed facts submitted to me. If they are not debts of the trust estate, or properly chargeable against it, how can a Court decree that the trustee shall pay them by encumbering his trust? Nor do I think that the presence of the Bishop at the meeting of the corporation at which the resolutions of 1894 were passed, and his not dissenting thereto, is alone sufficient to change these debts already created by the corporation into a debt against the trust estate.

It is the judgment and decree of this Court that the Bishop (under the pleadings and facts before me) is not authorized to make the mortgage as prayed for in the cross-bill.

The decree, therefore, is that the prayer of the cross-bill be denied, and that on the main-bill the injunction be made perpetual, and that complainant recover of defendants the sum of $—— cost for use of the officers of the Court.

APPENDIX I.

Address of the Bishop.

COMMEMORATION.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord. Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them." Rev. xiv., 13.

A mere formal announcement would seem out of place in referring to the decease on July 20, 1896, of the Right Reverend Arthur Cleveland Coxe, D. D., L.L. D., late Bishop of Western New York. So distinguished a character was he, not only in the deliberative assemblies of the Church but among the great men of this country, that his loss is common to us all. Learned in council, skilful in debate, his presence was felt wherever he might be. He was a man of most attractive personality, sharp as a scimeter in his rebuke and correction of sin and vice. While esteemed and revered in his own Diocese his fame could not be confined. Learned as an historian, powerful in controversy, but gentle and affectionate as a mother in dealing with the ignorant and penitent. He was a man mighty in the Scriptures whose meaning he was intensely interested to convey in their purity and simplicity. The Church owes him an immense debt of gratitude for his service in an American translation of The Fathers. The mourning of the Church over this great Prelate was like that of one who mourneth for his mother.

Within the past year the Church at large more, even, than the Diocese, has felt a keen deprivation in the removal of the Rev. Robert South Barrett, D. D., sometime Dean of the Cathedral. He succumbed on the 12th of September, 1896, to a lingering and dispiriting illness. He was a man of whom I have repeatedly said with the utmost candor that he was possessed of more virtues and fewer vices than any man I have ever known. His vocation seems to have been the preaching of the Word, in which he was most successful. His last lines written to me are worth quoting in full. I give you but the conclusion : " You may tell my friends that I am happy ; that I think of them constantly night and day ; that I am praying for them this blessed Passion-tide, that we may all be very near Him who died for our sins and rose again for our justification. Oh, may we all meet again some sweet day to be forever with the Lord.

With love for you and yours, and with earnest prayers for your dear Diocese, I am,

Yours most affectionately in the Lord,

ROBERT SOUTH BARRETT."

In the death of the Rev. Francis A. Shoup, D. D., better known as General Shoup, on September 4, 1896, Sewanee lost one of her best and most valuable friends ; the South, a loyal and patriotic son and the Church, a Priest of rich learning, beautiful spirit, noble character and high attainments.

In the death of Judge William W. Montgomery, on Saturday, the 9th of January, this year, a loss was experienced which deserves more than passing notice. A marked characteristic in our deliberations was his uniform Christian courtesy. I love best to think of him as an affectionate and considerate friend. It will be a propriety which this Convention will readily perceive to prepare a suitable memorial of him. There are those among you who can speak far better than I can of his general learning, his high position at the bar, the force of his arguments and the honor and nobility which characterized all his actions. To me it is sufficient to think of him as one who lived the life of the righteous and died the death of the righteous.

Let us pray.

ADDRESS.

Beloved in the Lord :

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you.

On behalf of the Church in Macon, I welcome you to this session in one of our most important centers, where by a continuous record of earnest and self-denying service of the clergy and the practical appreciation of the devout laity, both past and present, our blest communion has exhibited vigor in growth and permanency in fruitage. At the outset of our meeting we pray that our presence here may stimulate and encourage our co-workers, and that all we, on our part, may be mutually refreshed and benefitted by brotherly counsel taken in a spirit of sincere devotion to the cause of Christ our Master, and controlled by Divine charity.

I deprecate the manifestation of inconsiderateness, of any partial or selfish views, and of any tone, manner or word that may be construed into lack of brotherly kindness. Let us waive every preference and every opinion which will not tally with a profound sense of our high obligations, and full realization of the difficult but honorable task of imparting the blessings of our heritage to the people of this great commonwealth.

In the debate which is inevitable and strictly proper to the review of our Diocesan laws, pray let us understand that our committee has in view no radical changes from the mode of Diocesan government in the past, and that when its work accomplished exceeds a much needed re-arrangement for convenience of reference, and continuity of subjects logically connected, the purpose involved is facility, justice and adaptation of method to developed needs.

It is not, I urge you to remember, a proper reception of the report of any committee of this body, to assume as a premise that such committee is charged with revolutionary intent. If a new law appears let it be examined calmly and dispassionately. We are bound to accept the assurance of those who draft it of the object aimed at, and if it be adjudged right, modify the language to accomplish the end in the manner agreeable to sound reason and prudence, most in keeping with the apostolic injunction "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others." Phil. ii., 4.

THE STATE OF THE CHURCH.

It is to be hoped that we are not misled by the frequent expression of our advance into false views of the condition of the Diocese. The hearty and generous co-operation of the clergy with the Bishop, the harmony existing in our Parishes and Missions, the willing disposition to accept direction and correction from him upon whom devolves the oversight of the whole, an increasing appreciation of the Church, her ministry, sacraments and ordinances, and a consequent willingness to spend and be spent, in which our clergy not only point the way but lead it, increase of reverent services, a steady aim toward that quarter which we are commissioned to keep ever before our people ; studious abstinence from political alliances, temporary expedients, and exciting, often grotesque, methods of enrolling adherents, utterly out of accord with the dignity, simplicity and, above all, the purity of the Christian religion—these are the causes contributory to a very encouraging, if not wholly satisfactory, condition of this field, to which coming because of the need and the plain urgency of the call, I now find to be closely interwoven into my sincere affections, and its welfare the supreme motive under God of my every thought and action.

We trust and desire never to see such a state of prosperity as will affect our present peace and harmony, the resultant of tasks, so immense as to leave no leisure for mischief, and of a self-consecration on the part of our clergy nowhere excelled.

I must be frank with you to confess that the thought which oppresses me is my inability to fulfill one-half of that which I see could be done to advantage by three men, if each one were a true missionary. I am perfectly assured of the value of a Bishop's visit wherever he can set foot and gather a congregation about him, as is always the case, the pick of the intelligence and capacity of the town ; but stations already established pre-occupy our time and attention. It is certain, too, that the Bishop's visit is an influence for good even in the oldest and strongest of our Parishes. He is desired at meetings of Arch-deaconries and Deaneries and gladly contributes his quota to make these meetings interesting and helpful. But one of two courses is unavoidable ; if we cannot have increased episcopal supervision, either to increase the intervals between visits (which results in decrease of interest) or to subdivide the work, which includes larger outlay ; for at present we have 55½ per cent. more points for administration than were listed at the beginning of my episcopate, none of which, in my judgment, would it be right or safe to neglect. This proposition involves three horns instead of the usual two. It may be that your committee can both lighten and enlighten the matter, bearing in mind that my complaint is not that I work too much but that I cannot do more.

Our Diocese is certainly to be felicitated upon the increased efficiency of administration of our Parishes and Missions, especially in the local features. To the earnestness and zeal of the laity, as well as the wisdom and godliness of the clergy, is to be ascribed the success hitherto.

Your Diocesan must, however, bring to your notice the additions to his labor because of his inability to secure proper and sufficient co-operation in Diocesan affairs. We do not charge apathy and indifference, but some want of energy and promptness in matters where delay is not only dangerous but disastrous.

We never call boards or committees together but for sufficient cause. A quorum is a right which you should not deny us. Inevitable absence should in all cases be immediately reported to the convener; yet, again and again we have not only been deprived of a quorum, but not one word has been written or verbally communicated to save hours of waiting for delinquents who never came.

Let us stop this. Pray order no committees and pray accept no position on committees unless you really mean to come when called, to go when sent, and to inform us promptly with reasons when you can do neither. I would rather work single-handed than to be hampered by a lot of committees which do nothing, however good may be their intentions. There are times when I cannot act alone, and too frequently the Boards of the Diocese do absolutely nothing but clog the wheels of progress.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

So long as the larger part of the State is virgin soil for the propagation of the Church, we cannot dismiss the responsibility of the strong to bear the infirmities of the weak, and home missions in the Diocese will demand a large share of our attention. If the minds of our strongest parishes (clergy and people) are open to conviction the evidences are not far to seek that their gifts have been well applied. It is not necessary to remind you of the depression which we have seen each year I have been with you. What has been done in such times is a most conservative basis for an estimate of progress under ordinary conditions. When we further reflect upon our recovery from physical disasters of flood and fire, the multiplication of and continuous ministration in new churches, and the advance in self-help of our Missions, we may justly urge our plea for additional help to do our work. To make this plainer review for a moment a few facts.

Within the past year, Augusta, Savannah, Macon, Columbus and Atlanta have all supported their local Missions, varying in number from one to eight. The number of Missions in the Diocese sustained and administered has increased from 72 to 113; the local receipts from Missions aggregate $1,661.03.

The groups about Dalton ($314.00), Greensboro ($150.00), Gainesville ($185.00), Tallapoosa ($60.00), Atlanta ($300.00), Hawkinsville ($150.00), Cordele ($200.00) and Waycross ($200.00), contribute the full proportion of the stipends of the clergy. But the Diocese at large is giving for the extension of the work, $3,675.00, against $5,300.00, in 1891, so we are really administering 55½ per cent. more churches at a reduced cost to the contributing Parishes of $1,625.00 per annum.

When, therefore, we ask for larger contributions we do so upon merit and not upon faith. We ask you to weigh our claims by the worth of our work and to sustain our hands where conquest for Christ is limited only by lack of material support. We should have means not only for immediate use, but to gradually make an endowment which will enable us at least to carry our Missions over the dull season of the year, instead of each year laying a heavy tax on the missionaries, vexing the Treasurer and piling care on the Bishop. I am not oblivious to an item in our report which would naturally be selected for criticism; the numerical decrease in Churches reported from 28 to 26 in number. I beg you to bear in mind that this diminution is apparent and not real, and is the result of placing in their proper category of organized Missions, six or more Churches which regularly received more money for their support than was locally contributed. We have changed their position from Parishes to Missions, and altered the conditions by requiring them to give more than they receive, to their evident advantage and ours. But fifty organized Missions developing self-help are greatly preferable in every way to a corresponding number of limping Parishes, specially as many of them are nearer to the reality of a Parish than some which passed for such in previous years. Our effort is directed to this end that every such Mission shall do its best to pay for its ministration as well as its inferior current expenses. Our belief is so strong as to be a conviction that neither man nor family, Church nor Diocese, is worth time or labor which does not manifest a disposition and develop an ability to support itself. Admitting occasional exceptions, a pensioner is an invalid, a pensioned Church an invalid, and a Church pensioned from its birth is likely to be a cripple during the whole of its existence, unless some force be applied which can make it get up and walk. We do not encourage this spiritual hysteria, and the result of our practice is beginning to show practical fruits.

A complete survey of our Missions shows far greater growth than can be estimated upon the single basis of contributions for the support of the clergy. In the Archdeaconry of Albany, Grace Church, Waycross, has finished paying for its rectory and now pledges $550.00 per annum and house; Christ Church, Valdosta, has erected store buildings which in a short time will increase the income at this point from $30.00 per annum to $150.00. Cordele has raised locally, and in the vicinity, $400.00 for the new church, and pledges $312.00 per annum. Fitzgerald and associate Missions have contributed in land, material and money $600.00 within the past year, and will pledge about $200.

In the Archdeaconry of Atlanta, payment has been completed at West Point, about $400.00; Newnan, $300.00; LaGrange, $200.00; East Point, about $800.00, and at other points various sums, aggregating not less than $2,500.00, besides, the pledges for ministration have more than doubled at Dalton, will be made $180.00 at Washington, and amount to $550.00 in the Cathedral Missions.

In the Archdeaconry of Augusta, Waynesboro and Grovetown each contribute something (a large sum for the membership) for ministration.

In the Archdeaconry of Macon, pledges for a building at Dublin have reached nearly $1,000.00, and at Sparta, about $200.00 for the building already erected. Some contributions have been made at Ft. Valley for the little church there, and a lot has been given at Marshallville.

In the Archdeaconry of Savannah, Holy Trinity, Pineora has completed its payments and contributed to the support of the minister.

Camden County Missions have increased their pledge. The people of S. Mark's, Ogeechee, have contributed not less than $100.00 for local needs.

The Church of the Good Shepherd, Thomasville, has added to its plant a school house worth $1,500.00, and many other items of improvement may be noted in every part of the Diocese.

The acquisitions of land and buildings, amounting to many thousand dollars, will appear elsewhere.

PROFFERED VACATION.

As this Convention has twice already expressed its cordial assent to my contemplated absence from the Diocese, I feel that I need not further burden you with requests. I am anticipating much benefit from intercourse with my brethren in the Episcopate in the Lambeth Conference, at historic Canterbury, and still more in connection with a celebration at Glastonbury, which name connects us with native British Christianity of the earliest ages. I trust my interest may redound to your good.

As I am already sufficiently apprised of the various systems in England and on the continent to know that they are inapplicable to America and Americans, I give my pledge to the registered opponents of the Cathedral that I shall not devote the larger part of my time to imbibing foreign notions, or in study how to subvert the Diocesan system in favor of local aggrandizement, centralized wealth and a princely Episcopal establishment, toward which existing conditions do not greatly contribute, and which to imitate, my native and acquired modesty forbids. I feel that I may be safely trusted not to transport a complete cathedral across the water to Georgia. I hereby request that from date of May 25th the Standing Committee of the Diocese will assume the duties and powers of the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese until further notice from me.

GENERAL MISSIONS.

While no effort may be spared to enable your Diocesan to fulfill his weighty responsibility as chief missionary, and to remove from him any share in the burden of raising the funds for the support of our missionaries, we ought not to lose sight of the fact that the household of faith for which we are bound to provide, is not contained within Diocesan bounds any more than to parish lines. It is my most fervent desire that our membership of the Missionary Society of the Church, which we attain by our new birth in Holy Baptism, should find proper recognition in a reasonable proportion of our offerings for the established and prospective missions of the Church, abroad or wherever the trustees of these gifts may direct.

To some of us it is quite apparent that the law of the tithe has never been repealed, and that it is as much more binding under the Christian than under the Mosaic dispensation, as we are inheritors of better things than those which were promised to Abraham. I am persuaded that neither the clergy nor the laity can claim exemption from the operation of this principle re-enforced by the gospel.

It is applicable as well to parish as to diocesan income, and I fail to perceive how, as a Diocese, we can imagine we are living aright unless out of the aggregate incomes of the Parishes we pay into the Missions' treasury at least one-tenth of our receipts. I know there are Dioceses, as there are Churches and individuals, which do less, but I, for one, should not want to have their consciences or the lack of them, least of all in the day of final reckoning. The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society is the creature of our highest legislative and deliberative assembly, the General Convention. Acting under resolutions of this body, sitting as the Board of Missions, we are requested in an urgent appeal to realize our share in the general obligation and to assess ourselves equitably for the purpose of securing a definite annual income for the propagation of the gospel. It is a reasonable request. The duty is just and apparent. I am convinced that we can make a satisfactory reply. I find no reason why every Church, Chapel and Mission station should not appropriate one-tenth of its income for this purpose as the minimum of its self-imposed charge. I think we ought to do it—the weakest with the strongest. I further believe with all my heart that the more any Church does for objects outside of itself the easier is its way of self-support; and I see not how we can ever expect the outpouring of the abundant blessings of the Almighty as long as we are careless about paying his rent charge and taxes upon His own property. You may not hold my view and you never will until you practice tithing, then you will lose sight of the obligation in the conviction which will come to you when tithing that this is a practical scheme with promises attached which never fail of fulfilment. I never yet met a man who tithed his income habitually that he did not confess that he was literally better off for it; and such, I doubt not, will be the experience of Parish and Diocese following the same rule. Let but the Rectors and their vestries, the Missionaries and their committees take the step and follow it up ; they will be surprised at the ease with which the additional sum can be raised, when faith in the promise and work under the influence of that faith combine upon the obvious duty.

I should glory in making reply to the Board of Missions that every Church in the Diocese will hold itself bound for one-tenth of its annual income to be appropriated to this cause ; and I should go forth to my Diocesan work with the perfect satisfaction of seeing with my own eyes the fruits of this policy.

COUNSEL TO THE CLERGY.

It is not because I consider the meeting of our Convention the best time, but because it is the only occasion when our clergy are assembled in any considerable number, that I select this time for delivering some words of pastoral counsel, which are unheeded in the informal presentation of these things in THE CHURCH IN GEORGIA.

1. It is my desire that closer attention be given to the use of the liberty and elasticity in the services under the law of the Church. Morning Prayer, when followed by the Holy Communion, may be shortened by beginning with the sentences, "The Lord be with you" and response, the Lord's Prayer, and end after the prayer for the President with "The grace of our Lord." On week days the omissions permitted are the exhortation and all that follows the second permanent collect except "The Grace," which must be said. At Evening Prayer on Sundays the exhortation may be omitted and the service may end with the second permanent collect and "The Grace," but the omissions are not compulsory; and I am firmly of the opinion that the Church does not intend that the latter most instructive prayers be omitted at both services on Sunday, and thus deprive us of some of the most needed intercessions.

On week-days the liberty is greater. Beginning with a sentence and the Lord's Prayer we may end after the second collect with any appropriate prayers.

2. I do earnestly beg the clergy to announce the Epistle as the rubric directs and not interpolate any Sunday or anything else. The order is perfectly explicit ; "The Epistle is written in the —— chapter of —— beginning at the —— verse," and "Here endeth the Epistle." If this selection be from any other part of the Bible than the Epistles, the Church yields to the express prejudice of the Westminster divines by causing it to be announced, "The portion of Scripture appointed for the Epistle is written in the —— chapter of —— beginning at the —— verse," and "Here endeth the Epistle," is the proper conclusion in both cases.

3. It would be a great help to the laity if the clergy would say "Amen" where they are told to do so, and omit saying it where they are not told to do it, as, for instance, to omit to say it after confirmation by the Bishop, at the end of the service and the like. It may seem a small thing but it vitiates an intention and a clear liturgical principle; on the other hand it is very discouraging to the Bishop that the clergymen with him should mumble the responses and the amens, instead of taking this occasion to lead the people by themselves responding audibly throughout.

4. There is one distressing habit to which I wish to refer for the last time. I have spoken of it, written of it as a violation of the Church's intention and as an act of irreverence to which I shall not, if I am the celebrant of the Holy Communion, any longer submit. I refer to the evil custom of a large part of the congregation leaving the Church during the Communion Office, at various intervals, as may seem good to them. Some depart "before the plates are passed," some during the exhortation, others during the absolution, others during the singing of the hymn, others as soon as they have received, others, yet, before the final prayers and blessing; a small number "depart with the blessing" and these alone obey and let the Priest obey the Church's order. I shall not enter into any discussion of theories on the subject; the law of the rubric is enough for me. Omission means prohibition in the view of some people not of us, but omission of intimation or slightest suggestion, that anyone is permitted to depart until the time specified in the rubric is not permission to depart; omission never is and never can be construed into a command. I do not wish to compel any to remain through the celebration who cannot or will not do so ex animo; but I do wish, and shall insist, that if people begin the service with me they must stay to the end. I know of nothing more distracting than the habit referred to. I request that the clergy will allow me to celebrate the Holy Communion at an hour when those who are present at the beginning of the Divine Office will continue to the end. If I am desired to celebrate at 11 A. M. with Morning Prayer, I shall preach the sermon after Morning Prayer and let all who will not complete the Office of the Holy Communion go out during the singing of the Introit, and recommend this practice to the clergy who are subjected to this annoyance. I, myself, have been so much pained by the scurrying of people urgent to depart, that I can no longer endure this abuse, and crave the aid of my reverend brethren to prevent it by any legitimate means. The plan which I recommend to obviate the objectionable habit has been tried in Christ Church, Savannah, Christ Church, Macon and in the Cathedral, with the expressed approval of many and to the great comfort and peace of devout communicants. The example is supplied in the Ordinal and in no way conflicts with any rubric or liturgical principle, as the preaching of a sermon is not confined to the Office of the Holy Communion, and may follow Morning Prayer with as perfect propriety as Evening Prayer.

WORSHIP.

One of the distinctive marks of the offices of the Book of Common Prayer is that they realize the ideal of the Saviour's prophecy and injunction that the worshippers of the Father shall worship Him in spirit and in truth. Throughout Christendom there are no forms which so carefully preserve the proper attitude of all engaged therein, and secure the rights of the people, absolutely inhibiting the minister from being the mouthpiece and sufficient spokesman of a silent and inactive congregation. He may not, if he would, deprive the people of their participation in the sacrifice of the altar, nor debar them from a personal, real and vocal interest in every office. Neither may the people, under the express command of the Church, lawfully deprive or debar the Priest or Minister of his privileges, but they, the people, constantly and unlawfully do this very thing:

1. By denying their presence at appointed services, according to preference, fancy, mood, humor or whim.
2. By not audibly, heartily and unitedly taking up their responses, notably in not giving their unqualified and full endorsement to the action of the Minister in the "Amen," without which the prayers and thanksgivings are not complete:

3. By nullifying worship through the postures assumed in prayer—sitting up with hand up to forehead, sprawling on the seat, laying the head on the forward bench, and doing anything and everything except obeying the law of the Church, which bids them kneel down upon their knees.

I warn you, beloved laymen, that many of you are living in habitual disregard of features of worship which are obligatory, indispensable and that do contribute in the largest degree to the perfection of our most spiritual offices, and that you degrade those things which you have sworn to uphold, thereby shearing the Church of some of Her most glorious distinctions. For what can so truly exalt Him in the eyes of men, and dignify ourselves in His all-seeing eye, as humility of body and soul, a service offered with reverence and godly fear, and worship in the beauty of holiness.

May we hope that these negligences of indevotion will immediately disappear, and that you will be as careful to comply with the simple directions for you as you are to exact (as you otherwise cannot even attempt to do) obedience of your clergy to the letter as well as the spirit of the laws in red.

And I charge you, beloved clergymen, to leave no excuse of this disregard of things important by the lack of provision, or by any derangement of furniture that may conduce to this bad end. Least of all will you by your own slovenly performances, giving color to the quotation (the reverse of the Scriptural expression) "like Priest, like people."

DIVORCE.

Owing to its bearing upon the most vital relations of society, and the fearful havoc created by loose and inconsistent laws, the subject of divorce is, rightly, most prominent among sociological problems, and our ecclesiastical settlement of the question for ourselves as Churchmen and Christians, is taxing all thoughtful minds. There is enough in print to afford every man the means of studying the issue; and I shall not enter into a disquisition upon the subject. But as our general canon in its last section is utterly unsatisfactory and will certainly be sharply debated in our next General Convention, it is not untimely for me to announce my position and to ask our clergy to define theirs very closely.

1. There is no law compelling us to marry divorced people, therefore, there is no danger to us in refusing to do so.

2. The clergy are not free to act independently in the premises but are required to refer to the Ordinary (i. e.), the Bishop of the Diocese.

3. My convictions are clear that there are causes for the separation of man and woman who have been married, but that none of these causes carry with them or imply the right of a second union on the part of either the man or the woman.

4. My conclusions are that divorce a mensa et a thoro, does not give release a vinculo; that wilful severance of the tie by the infidelity of either does not give liberty to the other party to contract a new union. Our marriage service is consonant with the blessed Gospel; our canon is not. It is quite possible by means of a canon which can be enacted in two days to contravene the law of the marriage service that cannot be altered in less than three years. There ought to be no dissension as to which law is the higher; "Those whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder," is the law of the service. The innocent party in divorce for adultery may marry again is the permission of the canon, requiring reference to the Bishop. I give my assent to no such proposition. In addition to the opposition between the marriage service (permanent) and canon (easily changeable), a judicial opinion in favor of a supposed innocent party is utterly impracticable. There is no way by which a Bishop can determine which party, if either, is innocent, nor whether the cause is such as the canon admits as proper for divorce, and justification of the Bishop's verdict for a second union.

With these complications it is proper for me to remind my reverend brethren that they are not competent to marry anyone who has been divorced, without first securing the Bishop's opinion; and I notify them in advance that as I am not empowered to annul a marriage, I shall certainly not accord permission to marry anyone whose former marriage has been denied (not annulled) by a court having no more rightful power or authority in the eyes of God in these premises than I, myself, as Bishop of the Church of God, possess.

DIOCESAN LEGISLATION.

That we have need of amendments and some new features in our Diocesan law is not so apparent to anyone, probably, as to the man who is called upon to direct all the machinery in a very complex plant, to increase power, to minimize friction, to avoid waste, and also realizing that he, as much as any man is under law, prefers not to assume privileges nor to rely too much upon precedents, but to act under recognized and accepted rights.

As our authority has been called into question to enter the theoretical bounds of a Parish without the permission of the Rector or Vestry, it is important that the first Section of the Canon on Missions should be more explicit. The general Canon on intrusion does not, in my opinion, affect the liberty of the Diocesan to prospect for and establish Missions in any territory which is actually unprovided with the ministrations of the Church, whether such locality be within city limits or within those vast confines which are now the boundaries of some of our Parishes.

If the point of intrusion on my part be sustained, then I have been guilty in a multitude of instances; for I have not only outlined but built up many Missions within the territorial limits of every Parish in the Diocese, and unless the objection be sustained by a law clearer than any we now have I propose to continue this course to the end of my Episcopate.

A new Canon will be presented by the Committee on Revision which is designed to obviate long lapses in parochial ministration. We have suffered severely in places by a policy of retrenchment or by dalliance, which for many months together has deprived the Church's children of their rightful food, the counsel of the clergy, and has necessitated that the little ones be baptized and the deceased buried by strangers, while the people are scattering and our position weakening every day, and yet the Chief Shepherd has no power to supply the lack, even though he should have the means. The proposed Canon seems to me admirably adapted to meet the issue which has arisen more than once in my Episcopate.

It does no injustice to any one, but only seeks to make it sure that a mercenary or careless Vestry cannot, of its own sweet will, close the Church, fund its beggarly receipts, discourage the people, and play into the hands of adversaries by announcing that until further notice there will be no service in the Episcopal Church ; while the Bishop must stand meekly by with folded hands and suffer his people to be literally driven away from their own spiritual home.

It is none too soon to put a stop to this disastrous proceeding, and to make it beyond the power of a Vestry, either upon resignation or long vacation of a Rector, thus to obstruct progress and to turn back for years, it may be, the labors and sacrifices of the past.

The sweet and congenial association here and on the St. Lawrence river rapidly charmed away the debility caused by the daily work through the hot weather, and rapidly restored me to vigor and energy. In South Bethlehem I saw one of my great dreams of former years fast coming into reality—the construction of a large, well-appointed and handsome parish building, to be fully equipped for all the parochial organizations, which for years have been means of good to the town. The thought came to me how reasonable and practical a work it would be to erect a Church House in connection with the Cathedral, with suitable offices, meeting rooms, and some spare rooms for assistant and visiting Clergy. A modest and unpretentious building would serve us in lieu of the substantial and costly Church Houses in New York and Philadelphia.

Barrett, D.D., the well known and revered Priest of the Diocese, and for eight years Dean of S. Luke's Cathedral, Atlanta. At Evening Prayer Archdeacon Walton presented two for confirmation, and I preached upon "The Basis of the Church's Claims upon the Attention and Adherence of English-speaking People." The night was bitterly cold, but we had a fair and very attentive congregation of intelligent people.

The Church was well filled by an attentive and reverent congregation, and there were sixteen communicants in addition to eleven who previously received at an earlier hour, at the hands of the Rector, the Rev. J. F. Milbank. The development of strength and interest here is perfectly manifest in every way. The indications are that within a year we shall have here a self-supporting parish, affording the Rector a house and a respectable living.

We essayed to reach Blackshear for a service in the afternoon, going by private conveyance, but we were grateful to be able to return in safety with our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Toomer, after being swamped in nearly six feet of water in the over-flowing of the Satilla river. APPENDIX II.

Convention Reports.

Report of the Standing Committee.

MACON, GA., May 5, 1897.

To the Seventy-fifth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Georgia :

The Standing Committee of the Diocese reports as follows: It was organized May 8, 1896, by the election of Rev. C. C. Williams, D.D., as its President, and Mr. Z. D. Harrison as its Secretary.

On May 9, 1896, it recommended Francis Willis Ambler and Francis Hopkinson Craighill for "entrance on a course of preparation for the Holy Ministry."

On December 14, 1896, Godfrey R. Jackson was recommended for dispensation from Latin and Greek languages; and John W. Carter for admission as a candidate for Holy Orders.

A communication was received from the Bishop informing the Committee that Francis H. Craighill and Francis W. Ambler had been admitted on July 27, 1896, as candidates for the Holy Order of Priesthood.

At the request of the Diocese of Western New York the Committee gave its consent to the election of the Right Reverend William David Walker, S.T.D., LL.D., Missionary Bishop of North Dakota to the Bishopric of Western New York.

At the request of Right Reverend J. Williams, Bishop of Connecticut and Presiding Bishop, the Committee gave its consent to the consecration of Rev. James Dow Morrison, D.D., LL.D., Rector of St. John's Church, Ogdensburg, in the Diocese of Albany, as Bishop of the Missionary District of Duluth.

A communication was received from the Bishop requesting the advice of the Committee in reference to the place of meeting of this Convention. After consideration the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That in view of the great losses sustained by the Parish of St. Andrew and the whole population of Darien by the recent storm on our coast, the Standing Committee believes that it would be wise and considerate to change the place of meeting of the next Diocesan Convention.

to Macon, and it advises the Bishop to exercise his constitutional privilege and accept the invitation of Christ Church, Macon, and that he so inform the Diocese, provided, of course, that such action should first meet with the assent of the Rector and Vestry of S. Andrew's Church, Darien."

On February 26, 1897, Mr. Clarence Sylvester Wood was recommended for ordination as a Deacon, and at the request of Mr. Wood, who became a candidate May 16, 1894, the Committee consented that the term of his candidacy be shortened, provided the reasons therefor should, in the opinion of the Bishop, be sufficient to authorize the same.

Respectfully submitted,

CHY. C. WILLIAMS, President.

Z. D. HARRISON, Secretary.

This cause having come on to be heard by consent of all parties at the first term of court, and there being no issue of fact for a jury to pass upon, and after considering the pleadings in said cause, it is considered, ordered, adjudged and decreed,

FIRST.

That the prayer of said petition for a sale of the rectory property at Frederica, fully described in said petition, at and for the sum of $1,500. unto Anson G. P. Dodge, Jr., be granted, and that the Corporation, "The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Georgia," defendant, do make, execute and deliver, joined in by "The Church Wardens and Vestrymen of the Episcopal Church," at Frederica, called "Christ Church" defendant, covering the premises fully described and mentioned in the said petition, and in the second prayer in the eleventh paragraph thereof.

SECOND.

That the $1,500.00 purchase money shall be paid over unto the said defendant "The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Georgia" to be by it invested in such way as in its discretion may seem best, and to hold the same in perpetual trust so that the annual income thereof shall be paid over to the Rector of the Episcopal Church at Frederica called "Christ Church" towards his support and maintenance; and, inasmuch as the said Christ Church, at Frederica, is now a part of the Diocese of Georgia, under the Constitution and Canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church, it is further decreed that in the event another Diocese of the Episcopal Church should be created in Georgia, whereby the said Christ Church should be annexed to and become a part of said new Diocese, then the Corporation which shall have charge of the affairs of such new Diocese in the same manner as "The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Georgia," shall become the successor in trust of the Corporation, "The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Georgia," defendant therein.

THIRD.

Inasmuch as the said plaintiff has voluntarily offered to pay the costs of this proceeding, let a judgment for the sum of $—— be entered in favor of the officers of court as full of all costs of every character herein incurred.

J. L. SWEAT,
Judge S. C. B. C.

This 18th day of January, 1897.

Pursuant to the foregoing decree, the Rev. Mr. Dodge paid to the Corporation $1,500.00 on the 18th day of March, 1897. Whereupon the deed required by said decree, was made and delivered by the Corporation to the said Dodge. For the amount so paid, the Corporation now holds the certificate of deposit for that amount issued by the Exchange Bank of Atlanta.

Semi-annual reports of the Finance Committee have been filed and recorded on the minutes of the Corporation as required by its By-Laws.

In relation to the loans to the Board of Missions and to the Diocese, resolutions are appended, the adoption of which is recommended.

CLELAND KINLOCH NELSON, President.

Z. D. HARRISON, Secretary.

Resolved, That the Treasurer of the Diocese be directed to pay the balance of the loan, to-wit: $420.69, made by the Corporation to the Diocese to pay the assessments for street improvement on the lot of the Mission of the Redeemer, Atlanta, with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date of said loan, by making partial payments thereon, whenever practicable to do so, having due regard for the proper administration of his office.

Resolved, That the Board of Missions be requested to cause to be paid the balance due, to-wit: $790.00 on loan made to it by the Corporation, at the earliest day practicable, by making such partial payments thereon, from time to time as the condition of its treasury may permit.

Report of the Committee on the Corporation.

To the Seventy-fifth Annual Convention of the Diocese of Georgia:

The Committee on the Corporation respectfully begs leave to report:

That they have examined the report of the Officers of the Corporation submitted to them and find the same correct.

The investments named therein are, to the best of their information, based upon desirable improved real estate in the city of Atlanta upon a basis of not more than half the value of the property, and the improvements are all covered by insurance transferred to the Corporation.

The committee recommend the adoption of the resolutions contained in said report.

In relation to the sum of $1,500.00 paid to the Corporation by the Rev. A. G. P. Dodge, Jr., for the rectory property of the church at Frederica under a decree of the Glynn Superior Court, this committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

"C." Resolved, That the Board of Officers of the Corporation "be charged with the custody and administration of said fund, according to the terms of said trust, with which the same is encumbered.

Your committee desire to call your attention to the general disregard of the Canonical collection ordered to be taken for the Permanent Fund for the support of the Episcopate on the first Sunday in Lent. The entire amount forwarded on account of this fund, for the past year, was only $61.00, from three or four Parishes.

It is exceedingly desirable that this fund should be increased as rapidly as possible, and your committee trust that due consideration may be given to this important matter.

The committee recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

"D." Resolved, That the Convention approves and assents to the proposition of the Bishop of the Diocese, as trustee of certain property situate in the city of Atlanta, to erect upon said property rentable houses; the income derived therefrom to be appropriated to the support of the Cathedral, provided the same can be legally done, without violation of the provisions of the trust, and that the Diocese incur no liability in connection therewith, other than must necessarily be laid upon the property herein referred to.

"E." Resolved, That the Convention approve the conclusion of the General Chapter of the Cathedral, that it is inexpedient to incorporate the Cathedral organization.

Respectfully submitted,

REV. S. B. CARPENTER,
REV. J. N. MCCORMICK,
U. B. HARROLD,
DR. H. C. WHITE,

Report of the Board of Missions.

(See page 27.)

MACON, GA., May 4th, 1897.

The schedule of appointments as made at Augusta, based on pledges, has been adhered to, as far as practicable.

Rev. W. W. Kimball, having resigned the charge of Christ Church, Augusta, the board has been able to effect an arrangement with the clergy of Augusta to maintain and administer the local missions.

Under this arrangement the Rev. Hunter Davidson has very generously supplied services at Christ Church, Augusta, and occasionally at Bayvale, and the Rev. S. B. Carpenter, in addition to his work as Rector at Atonement, has administered to the churches at Grovetown and Waynesboro, and is opening a new mission in Woodlawn, besides assisting in the general oversight of the city missions of Augusta.

The Rev. C. C. Williams, D. D., has fostered and encouraged the plan, enabling us to make it successful for many months past, therefore the five largest cities in the Diocese have wholly sustained their local missions among white people.

Your committee is happy to be able to report a seasonable fulfillment of pledges of all the missions. It would call special attention to the improvement in the condition of finance at Waycross, Fitzgerald, Cordele, East Point and Tallapoosa. The mission churches at Hawkinsville and Dalton have met their obligations with greater promptness than for many years heretofore.

Many of the congregations of the missions have completed the payments on their churches, resulting in an unusual number of consecrations.

Our Missions gave last year $1,661.03; Parishes, $3,284.92; individuals, $365.56. Total, $5,311.48.

The Board finds itself still short, as follows: Stipends to missionaries, $598.32; loans, the Bishop $445.00, the Corporation $790.00. Total, $1,833.32. Of this amount $790.00 was brought over from the years 1895 and 1896.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. TREZEVANT, Secretary.

Report of the Committee on Missions.

(See page 42.)

This committee begs leave to say that "it finds plenty to report," possibly nothing new, but the necessity of insisting strongly upon that which is old.

Documents which have been before us are four:

- (1.) Bishop's address on Diocesan Missions.
- (2.) Bishop's address on General Missions.

(3.) Report of Board of Missions.

(4.) Report of Treasurer of Diocesan Missions.

From these documents it is certain that the Diocese can congratulate itself upon two facts, without any possibility of gainsaying :

(1.) An increase in the number of missionary stations to the extent of 55½ per cent.

(2.) An increase in the ability of the missionary stations to assist themselves and to contribute to missionary funds. This is a noteworthy fact, and one that will grow stronger from year to year.

If there be those who first must see results before they give, the most doubting Thomas will find satisfactory results distributed in every Arch-deaconry.

The financial support of the missionary work of the Diocese has not kept pace with the spiritual results. There has been no increase for several years in the amount contributed for Diocesan Missions. There also stares us in the face at the present moment the ugly fact of a debt of about $1,500.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

All must concur in the opinion that it is of the utmost importance that new missions should be established as rapidly as the funds pledged for this purpose warrant, and that they should be established at such places as there is the best prospect of such missions becoming self-supporting. That our Bishop and the Board of Missions have had this in mind, is evidenced by a portion of the Bishop's report, which, condensed, is as follows :

Number of missions in the Diocese, sustained and administered, have increased from 72 to 113. The local receipts from missions are increasing.

The Bishop shows that, although there have been 55½ per cent. more missions maintained the past fiscal year than during the previous, yet this has been done at a reduced cost to contributing Parishes of $1,625.00. There is so much merit in this that Parishes are urged to increase, if practicable, their appropriations for this object.

If sufficient increase is made, a portion can be set aside yearly, as a permanent fund, and such a fund once commenced, would doubtless increase in greater proportions year by year, and as it grew, so would the mission work be placed on a firmer foundation.

GENERAL MISSIONS.

Judging from the appropriations from the Parishes of the Diocese as a whole during the past year, your committee cannot but feel that there is a lack of interest not in keeping with the true advance of the Church in matters pertaining to solid and aggressive growth. There seems to be a singular non-recognition of Christian obligation about giving. General Missions are sadly neglected. The disproportion between the amount received from the General Board and the amount appropriated from the Diocese thereto, points to the fact that we are not doing our share of that work which expresses the life of the Church.

If the laity are slow in contributing to the needs of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary work, it is generally attributable to the lack of interest on the part of the clergy. In many Parishes the question is never touched upon from the pulpit, and wherever this is the case, you will find the collections for General Missions small and infrequent.

Your committee would also suggest that the matter of organizing branches of the Woman's Auxiliary in all Parishes and missionary stations be earnestly advocated as a means whereby the missionary operations of the Church be kept before it intelligently and enthusiastically.

Whether we adopt the suggestion of the Bishop about tithing the income of each Parish; whether we adopt some other method for the increase of missionary appropriations in general, the truth cannot be lost sight of that delinquency is written upon the face of much parochial effort made to extend the Kingdom. Until, therefore, the Diocese comes to recognize that the various Parishes within its bounds should contribute more systematically and liberally towards the general missionary work of the Church, we will not and cannot realize that increased usefulness which, as a Diocesan Church, ought to be our ultimate goal.

MACON, GA., May 1st, 1897.

Most of the notes above mentioned are secured by real estate, the interest being paid with almost universal regularity. The amount of the deficit for the year (about $30.00) is not material in itself, but it shows how very little margin we have to run on. The deficit will be more than covered when all interest due is collected. The Treasurer has to report that only eleven Churches of the Diocese have sent me their Whitsunday collections, and if they would all respond it would be a great assistance, and enable us to act with a little more freedom. The Treasurer feels very much indebted to Mr. George R. DeSaussure for his continued watchful care over our Atlanta interests.

Respectfully submitted,

Another year has been added to the history of the Appleton Church Home, and we feel that it has been a year of success.

The building itself has been improved by additions which have been both ornamental and convenient.

For the past year the number of children has far exceeded the number for which in funds the monthly allowance provides. By some changes made in the dormitory, we have sleeping accommodations for thirty children; but to take that number, the monthly stipend must be increased. The present number is twenty-eight; within the last year four girls have left the Home, while seven have been received.

The Home is still under obligations to Dr. Charles H. Hall and his estimable son, Dr. Kenan Hall for the continuance of their valuable services; also to Drs. Wright and Johnson (dentists) for services kindly rendered; to the Macon Water Company for furnishing water to the Home free of charge; to Mr. Alexander Blair for kindly presenting the plans for the portico, and to Capt. J. W. Wilcox for superintending the building of the same; to the proprietors of the Macon Telegraph for their valuable paper. It is through this medium we wish to offer to each and all our thanks, and to testify our appreciation of their kindness.

The Appleton Church Home Aid Society continues its most substantial assistance. It is through the aid of that Society that many of the improvements in the Home have been made, and to it we wish to acknowledge in most grateful terms the high appreciation and esteem with which it is regarded, and trust it may long continue the good work it has so freely done for many years.

The Woman's Auxiliary has rendered substantial assistance to the Home during the past year. The Branch of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Augusta, made a handsome donation of bed linen.

The Branches of S. Luke's Church, Atlanta, and S. James' Church, Marietta, each have made generous contributions of ready-made clothing, which are so acceptable and do much to lighten the work of the Home. To them we offer our sincere thanks.

Four memorial cots have been placed in the Infirmary, three in memory of Mrs. J. L. Cook, and one, of little Logan Findlay.

With the exception of the rear fence, the building and premises are in good repair, but there a new fence is sadly needed.

At present the inmates of the Home number thirty-one, two Deaconesses, one Teacher and twenty-eight children.

SISTER KATHARINE.

Twenty-two Parishes and two Missions have contributed since last Convention, $477.22, against $538.04 contributed last year. Our payments to the University during the Convention year have been $71.29 less than last year, and we now owe $71.63 for the current year, whereas last year we owed only 37 cents for the then current year. But the amount of apportionments now unpaid, if paid, would be more than sufficient to meet the obligation not only of this year but of the three years last past. It is to be hoped that enough will be collected before August 1st to bring us out square for three years at any rate. Thirteen Parishes have paid their full apportionment, eight of these being among the weaker Parishes in the Diocese.

The present plan has worked so well that it is hoped that the Rectors and Vestries will continue to support it and make it a permanent feature in the administration of the Diocese.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK F. REESE,
Clerical Trustee.

Report of the Committee on the University of the South.

The committee respectfully report as follows :

Twenty-two Parishes and two Missions have contributed since the Convention, $477.22 as against $538.04 contributed last year. Our payments to the University during the Convention year have been $71.29 than last year, and we now owe $71.63 for the current year, whereas, year we owed only 37 cents for the then current year. But the amount of apportionments now un-paid would be, if paid, more than sufficient to meet the obligation, not only of this year, but of the three years past. It is to be hoped that enough will be collected before August to bring us out square for this year at any rate.

Thirteen Parishes have paid their full apportionment ; eight of these are among the weaker Parishes in the Diocese.

The present plan has worked so well that it is hoped the Rectors and Vestries will continue to support it, and make it a permanent feature in the administration of the Diocese.

Our committee also calls attention to the able and efficient manner in which the Clerical Trustee has fulfilled his duties.

We recommend the adoption of the following resolutions :

Resolved, 1st, That the Clerical Trustee of the University of the South, be, and he is, hereby authorized to apportion among the Parishes $175.77 now due to the University from the Diocese, or so much thereof as may remain unpaid on August 1, 1897, together with the $500.00 added for the coming year.

2d, That the amounts apportioned to the Parishes shall be such a percentage on the basis used for the assessments for the support of the Episcopate, as shall yield the amount required.

3d, That the Rectors and Vestries be, and they are, hereby requested to assume the apportionments upon their respective Parishes, payable on or before May 1st, 1898.

Your committee estimate the following amounts as necessary to be provided on account of Convention expenses: Printing Journal, $400; Secretary and Assistant, $125; Incidental expenses, $150. Total, $675.

The Treasurer of the Diocese reports a balance on hand to the credit of this fund of $1,087.59.

Convention expenses are met by assessments upon the Parishes, as provided by Canon XVIII., Section 2, the specific sum of 15 cents for each white communicate being annually assessed.

Recommendation 3. Your committee recommend that 750 copies of the Journal of this Convention be printed under direction of the Secretary.

Recommendation 4. Your committee recommend that $100 be paid to the Secretary and $25 to the Assistant Secretary for their services at this Convention.

Your committee respectfully urge upon all the Parishes strict compliance with Canon XVIII., Section 1, requiring quarterly payments, in advance, of their assessments for the support of the Episcopate.

ATLANTA, GA., May 4th, 1897.

*To Right Rev. C. K. Nelson, Bishop of Georgia,Gentlemen of the Convention :DEAR SIRS :

I regret that your Registrar cannot report much progress in the securing of data for the perpetuation of the history of Missions, their formation and final growth into self-sustaining Churches. This data, however, has been kept of record by the Bishop, through the Church in Georgia—edited by himself—files of which are on record.

The property of the Diocese, in the care of the Registrar, is in good order and careful keeping. Your Registrar has failed to secure one volume of the General Convention Reports necessary to complete a full set for this Diocese, but he has the agreement of the Secretary of the General Convention to supply said missing number as soon as practicable, thus completing the requirements of the Convention as to exchange of Reports asked for. All of which is respectfully submitted, WM. N. HAWKS, *Registrar.Report of the General Chapter of the Cathedral.

MACON, GA., May 5th, 1897.

The General Chapter of the Cathedral reports to the Convention that in its opinion the incorporation of the General Chapter is unnecessary in view of the present condition of the titles to the property.

2. Also, that at a meeting of the General Chapter, held in Atlanta, on April 2d, 1897, the following resolutions were adopted :

Resolved, That the General Chapter, being informed by the Trustee of the Cathedral property, of the proposed plan for the producing of an income for the Cathedral by mortgaging a portion of said property for building rentable houses, hereby assents to the desirability of such plan, and advises the Trustee to proceed so soon as proper authority is secured.

Resolved, That, in its Annual Report to the Diocesan Convention, the General Chapter recommend the passage of a special resolution of the Convention in accord with the above resolution, assenting to the mortgaging of said property.

C. K. NELSON, *President.*H. L. PARRY, Secretary.

The Committee on the State of the Church has found its labors in the preparation of this report greatly facilitated by the orderly classification and methodical treatment of the subject matter of the Bishop's address. Indeed, in all that relates directly to the state of the Church in the Diocese the tabulated statements of facts, and the clear and concise summary of official labors and their results, would seem to render the office of this committee, if not superfluous, simply editorial. So full and comprehensive is the volume of information and so unmistakeable the steps needed to secure the increased efficiency of the Church in the prosecution of missionary labors in the Diocese, that the object of this committee has been, in the main, to present an abbreviated statement of these facts with the existing conditions in the mission field, together with such recommendations as the situation would seem to suggest.

The Bishop felicitates the Diocese upon the encouraging auspices attending its interests, yet lifts a warning voice against a misleading optimism calculated to cool her ardor and relax her energies.

While the last year indicates a very pronounced advance along the line of missionary enterprise, the field is broad and the measure of present attainment, compared with the possibilities of the situation, is such as should incite the Church to redoubled activity. In view of the fact that the expansion of the Church in the last five years has resulted in a fifty per cent. increase in the field of occupation, the Bishop represents himself as between two horns of a dilemma, impalement upon one of which seems inevitable. To quote his own words: "If we cannot have increased Episcopal supervision, one of two courses is unavoidable—either to increase the intervals between visits, which must result in a decrease of interest, or to sub-divide the work, which includes a larger outlay, for at present we have fifty-three and one-half per cent. more points for administration than were listed at the beginning of our Episcopate, none of which, in my judgment, would it be right or safe to neglect."

The plain inference from this language would seem to be that to escape embarrassment and loss in Diocesan interests, the Church should entertain the design for an early increase in Episcopal supervision.

It does not fall within the province of this committee to recommend action; it would respectfully suggest the propriety, in view of material advantage to the Church, and in the light of example, notably that of the Diocese of Florida, of a consideration of the possibility and wisdom of steps looking to an early division of the Diocese of Georgia, either by the erection of a new Diocese or of a Missionary jurisdiction.

The American Church has, beyond question, committed itself to the policy of increasing the efficiency of the Episcopate by the division and sub-division of the wide territory included in many of our States, and the question naturally arises in our minds, if the Church in Florida can afford thus to divide, may it not be within the bounds of prudence and in the line of progressive policy for this larger and far more populous and prosperous Diocese to face courageously the claim which the highest interests of the Church seemingly makes for an early division of her broad domain?

Evidence appears of the largely increased claims upon the time and energies of the Bishop, in the increased mileage of travel--about 30,000 miles the past year; in the number of visits to congregations, 96; and in the confirmations holden, 79. The aggregate number of those presented for confirmation within the year, is 506, of whom 211 were men, and 295 were women. Other evidence of substantial progress, moving our hearts to profound gratitude, appears in the acquirement of Church property, in the consecration of eleven new Churches, and the opening of four not consecrated, besides the speedy restoration of those demolished or injured by the cyclone.

One of the most encouraging signs of progress is the fact alluded to by the Bishop, that the Churches at five of the leading cities of the Diocese are now sustaining, without assistance from the Board of Missions, local and adjacent missions.

This is but the natural and reasonable result of the expansive force of Church enterprise in populous centers. Local pride and zeal are thus engaged, and without diminishing interest in the missions of the Diocese at large.

We regret the necessity for one word not in the line of encouragement. But facts are facts and must be recognized, although they may be discouraging facts.

As you already know, the Board of Missions is face to face with the painful fact of a deficit of nearly two thousand dollars, about one thousand of which has accrued within the past year. This humiliating situation is the inevitable result of the failure of a number of those who made pledges to this Convention, to redeem them. Instances are not lacking of parishes and stations renewing pledges from year to year, without honoring those already made. To say nothing of the moral aspect of such a case, its material consequences must necessarily prove disastrous. No pledge of support to this cause should be made without the most reasonable prospect of its redemption, for failure means the jeopardizing of the living interests of the Church, and painful and humiliating embarrassment of the Bishop and the Board of Missions.

It is gratifying to note that the Appleton Church Home continues its uniform course of beneficent ministrations, and that from year to year, instead of declining, the property has become substantially improved. But the Church should bear in mind that the Beckwith Memorial Chapel remains incomplete and that the shadow of a debt of six hundred dollars rests upon the Infirmary—a memorial to Sister Margaret. The institution of which the Diocese may justly be proud deserves a more general and generous recognition by the Church.

In the last year but three parishes responded to the Convention's call for a devotion of the Whitsunday offering to its support. Your committee would urgently press the more general observance of this provision by the parishes of the Diocese. Is it reasonable or just to disregard and neglect so generally a recommendation of the Convention, which is in the nature of a self-imposed obligation ?

It may be well to state in this connection that a proposition is under consideration by the Trustees of the Weston Bequest Fund, whereby the amount of this trust will be reinvested in a manner to contribute more efficiently to Christian education than hitherto in connection with the Elliot school.

May not the time have arrived in the growth of the Church, for a movement to be made by this Diocese in its own strength, or by co-operation with an adjoining Diocese, to provide an institution of such force and comprehensiveness for the Christian education of the women of the Church as shall commend itself at once to the confidence and the generous patronage of our own people and of the unaffiliated public at large ?

We must all recognize the fact that no auxiliary instrumentality within the power of the Church is so conducive to her substantial progress, so calculated to foster churchly instincts and to nurture spiritual tastes and habits of devotion as a well organized and fully equipped Church school. There is a consecrating and formative power in it which the leading religious bodies about us have not been slow to recognize and improve—often to the disparagement and practical disadvantage of the Church.

Although your committee has no data upon which to base its reference to the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions and its efforts in the Diocese, we deem it but fit and proper to recognize its presence and active co-operation in the promotion of the interests of missions.

This organization has grown to become a most efficient, vitalizing agency in the bosom of the American Church, and is worthy of all praise and encouragement.

H. O. JUDD, Chairman.

MAY 6, 1897.

The activity in this field has continued without abatement during the year just past. The Archdeacon, however, has not confined his attention to the limits of his own Archdeaconry, but has labored in any portion of the State where his assistance might be productive of good. The Church services have been steadily sustained in all accessible missions, either by the clerical or lay force available in the field. The Rev. Messrs. Schubert (Priest) and Hoke (Deacon), have, for a time, acted as assistants on the Archdeaconry staff and have given effective aid.

The Cathedral missions in, and adjacent to Atlanta, under the energetic administration of Rev. Allard Barnwell, continue to be independent, are progressing well, and some have notably improved. (See his Report elsewhere.)

We referred in our report of 1896 to the disaster at Washington, Ga., in the loss of its church by fire. At the time of that report the church was ready for consecration. A month later it was consecrated free from debt. Not content with the new church, of which the people of the town of Washington are justly proud, a new Rectory is now being rapidly pushed to completion, and will shortly be ready for use.

The building at Toccoa, incomplete at the time of our last Convention, has been finished without debt, and furnished in excellent taste. Notable additions to furniture of church are a handsome brass Altar Cross (memorial to Rev. W. E. Eppes), and a marble Font (memorial to Rev. Thomas J. Pond). Although there are only six regular communicants resident at this place, we have organized here the largest mission Sunday School in the Archdeaconry, and congregations at clerical services are most gratifying. Since the consecration of the building, about six months ago, it has been doing a vigorous work, and is regularly opened for service (from Atlanta) on each Lord's Day.

Dalton (still enjoying the luxury of an old church and a new church at the same time), Kingston, Adairsville, and Calhoun, have for some time been detached from the Archdeaconry charge and have had a local rector.

The long delayed building at Sparta is now on the road to completion, although the pecuniary difficulties in the way of its erection at first appeared insuperable. Although attached as a Mission to the parochial charge at Milledgeville, this place has been made (for building purposes alone) a temporary charge of the Archdeaconry of Atlanta.

The Missions at Fort Valley and Dublin, although under the charge of the Rector at Hawkinsville, were, late in the year, similarly transferred to the Archdeaconry of Atlanta. At Fort Valley the financial difficulty was pronounced, and, for certain local reasons, denominational opposition encountered. We have here undertaken to build a church in sections. The section to be used now is approaching completion, and we hope within a few months to worship at Fort Valley in our own edifice.

At Dublin the Archdeacon secured quite a mass meeting of representative citizens, and a general interest has been aroused among all denominations. Subscriptions to a considerable amount are on our books, and our builder writes that he is about to place his mill orders for a substantial edifice.

The Archdeacon has also visited Marshallville and officiated for a large congregation. This point is immediately south of Fort Valley and will be a promising field in the near future.

West Point, having determined that the site originally selected was a mistake, has, by permission of the Bishop, changed its church location. We have pulled down the entire building, moved it a quarter of a mile and rebuilt more substantially than before. Costs have been paid and the building is free from encumbrance of debt.

At Elberton a centrally located lot has been purchased. Time and opportunity have not admitted of further work at this point.

The Mission at East Point has distinguished itself by the beauty and completeness of its interior furnishing. The people at this point have set an example to the Diocese by the zeal, energy and ability with which they have prosecuted their Church work.

Mr. Henry M. Weathers, carpenter and contractor, a zealous and unselfish Churchman, is trying the experiment of working without profit, and on a bare living stipend, in order that he may help advance the building interests of the Church.

Considering the general financial condition of the country, these small Missions have done fairly well in a pecuniary way. They have raised and expended during the year just past seventeen hundred and fifty-nine dollars and fifty-one cents. This amount has been paid into the Mission Fund of the Diocese, in part, and the balance has been expended in securing furniture for the various Mission Chapels and in defraying minor expenses. To this may be added $800 now in hand for Washington Rectory, $300 lately expended at West Point, $550 in money and material at Sparta, and $700 at Dublin approximate for present use. Total, $4,169.57. Mrs. Black's report increases this to $6,581.94. The pledge to the Bishop of the Diocese has been more than paid.

Surrounded as these Chapels are by large, comparatively powerful and well organized denominational bodies, established and rooted for generations, it is hard for the Church people of the various localities to realize that they are, proportionately, progressing more actively than those by whom they are surrounded. Ministers can be obtained for these fields as soon as the financial condition of the Diocese admits of a support. But it will be difficult to locate them permanently, as it requires more faith and courage than that vouchsafed to the average Clergyman, to labor in these isolated fields, surrounded by such religious competition, and yet believe in the ultimate success of the work.

So profound is our faith in the methods and principles of our Apostolic Christianity that we believe the time will come, in the not far-distant future, when the Church in Georgia will receive her full reward for present labor. We are largely "plowing" now. But in due season "We shall reap if we faint not." Respectfully submitted,

WM. M. WALTON,
Archdeacon of Atlanta.

Report of the Archdeacon of Augusta.

(See pages 27.)

In June last, Rev. Mr. Kimball, the valued and earnest Missionary of this Archdeaconry, removed to the Diocese of Easton. In July, by the direction of the Bishop, the Clergy of Augusta assumed the care of all the Missions within the limits of Augusta and Summerville. The Rev. Mr. Davidson undertook the care of Christ Church Mission and Bayvale, until other arrangements could be made, and the former Mission has prospered under his energetic administration.

Inasmuch as the congregation has almost entirely removed from Bayvale, regular services at this place, have for the present been discontinued.

The Missions at Waynesboro and Grovetown, have been served by the Archdeacon of Augusta, as often as the constantly increasing duties of his Parish of the Atonement would permit. Throughout the year every service held at these points has been attended by a reverent, attentive, and numerous congregation, and the hope is expressed that more frequent services, and more direct pastoral care may be provided. Monthly services have been held and the Holy Communion celebrated, at each place.

The offerings at Waynesboro have been $159.79, and the entire cost of maintaining this Mission has been for the past year, $7.75. The offerings at Grovetown were $110.98, and the cost of maintenance for the past year was $2.00. It is worth of note that these Missions out of their poverty have contributed to every branch of the Church's mission work, both Diocesan and general.

Through the generous gift of a communicant of St. Paul's Parish, Augusta, a very desirable lot has been secured in the suburb of Woodlawn, Augusta. The plans of a Mission building have been accepted, and it will probably be ready for use before the end of another month. Twelve families have been interested in this Mission, and a Sunday School has been provided for. No formal organization has been made as yet, but the prospects for establishing a self-supporting Parish at this point are excellent. The active interest of the Rector and parishioners of St. Paul's Parish, Augusta, have made this important work possible, and insured its success. Respectfully submitted,

S. B. CARPENTER, Archdeacon of Augusta.

Your committee, while appreciating the importance of the Sunday School and the need of some more satisfactory methods of definite and systematic instruction of the children of the Church, yet feel that there are many difficulties in the way of practical co-operation with the committees from other Dioceses, whose meeting place is at such a distance.

We would, however, here express our conviction that the Church Catechism should be the basis of instruction in all Sunday Schools of the Church; and would also urge upon those in charge of this important department, the faithful observance of the spirit of the Rubric and Canon relating thereto.

Respectfully submitted,

CHAS. T. A. PISE,
C. LUCIEN JONES,

Report of Committee on Memorials to Deceased Members.

The Committee on Memorials of deceased members beg leave to present memorials of the Rev. R. S. Barrett and Judge W. W. Montgomery, and recommend the adoption of the following resolution :

Resolved, That the memorials of the late Rev. R. S. Barrett and Judge W. W. Montgomery, be printed in the Journal, and that in each case a separate page be set apart in the Journal and inscribed as noted in the report of the committee,

A. P. G. DODGE, Jr., Chairman,
FRANK H. MILLER,
W. A. HANSELL.

THE REV. ROBERT SOUTH BARRETT

was in many ways remarkable among the Clergy of this Diocese. His fine physique and noble face would attract attention in any body of men, and they were but an index of his character.

Educated for the profession of Civil Engineering, he had the advantage shared by too few of his brethren of a thorough business education. He was a man of affairs, and thus able to understand and reach business men. Of the deepest piety and consecration, he was also possessed in an eminent degree with the personal magnetism which drew the young men around him and made them his personal friends. To him they felt gladly able to open their inmost hearts, sure of a loving reception and of wise counsel in their various times of need.

Mr. Barrett was a man of the broadest charity, not only in the narrower sense of the giving of his substance, but in his respect for and his treatment of those whose views differed from his own. At the same time he was himself as firm as a rock in adhering to what he thought was right, whether in faith or conduct.

Strong man as he was, his faith was that of a trusting little child, knowing himself always safe in the hands of Him to whose service he had fully consecrated every attribute of his noble nature. Intellectually a giant among men, single sermons often contained gems that would have made interesting a score of those of other men ; notable among these was his sermon the "Soul," which many think the most remarkable of all his discourses ; it will never be forgotten by those whose privilege it was to listen to its delivery, as the wonderful word-painting fell from his lips, his very soul afire, kindled by his love to God and his fellow-men, and his desire to break to them the bread of Eternal life.

Robert South Barrett was a great man, because a truly good man. His works were known far and wide, not only in this Diocese, but throughout the Church in our land. His special gift of arousing the sluggish and lifting up the fallen among his brethren was everywhere crowned with great success. Many, we believe, will be the stars in his crown of rejoicing at the day of final victory.

A prince and great man has fallen in Israel ! We grieve for ourselves but rejoice for him in his joy unspeakable and full of glory.

JUDGE WILLIAM WATTS MONTGOMERY for more than twenty years has been a conspicuous figure both in the General Conventions of the Church and the Conventions of this Diocese, being at the time of his death a member of one of its most important committees—the Committee on the Revision of Constitution and Canons.

The gifts which won him distinction and renown as a lawyer and Judge of our highest State tribunal, found glad and cordial recognition at the hands of the Church. Whenever he spoke to any question before the Convention he commanded the attention and respect of all who heard him. When assigned the charge of any duty, it was his joy and pleasure to see it well and promptly performed.

We do not invade the sanctity of his home to speak in detail of his manliness, his loyalty to friends, his marital devotion and consistent Christian conduct; but in his professional career and judicial record he belongs to the people as well as to his family and the Church.

Born a Georgian, his whole life has shown a consistent devotion to the interests and welfare of this State, and in the observance and enforcement of her laws; as a citizen, Solicitor General and Judge, he has earned the respect and admiration of the entire community.

Proud to honor him, the State as well as the Church says "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

This Convention puts upon record here its recognition of these distinguished services, and its deep sense of the loss which has come to the Church in Georgia by his death. None who knew him failed to give him love and honor in life; none but regret his absence from our councils, now when he has been called by the Master to receive the reward of faithful service and hearty devotion. May many of our younger members be led by his grand example to follow in his footsteps.

On September 29, 1892, S. Jude's was blown from its pillars, and seemed to be ruined; but through the generous aid of friends who responded quickly to the Bishop's appeal, the Church was entirely restored at a cost of about $275.00.

NEPTUNE BOWEN, Vestry-Warden.

A beautiful Church with about three hundred sittings was erected at Burrough's, on the F. W. & W. Railroad, during the months of August and September, that point being more convenient to the people, and well suited for consolidating the work by having only one Chapel instead of two, as was the case up to that time. The new Chapel was blown down in the cyclone of September 29, just two days before the time appointed for its consecration. It was soon rebuilt, and we had our first service in it on Christmas day. It was duly consecrated on Monday, April 26.

Owing to the poverty of the people I find it impracticable to take up the collections called for by resolutions and Canon. The Woman's Society, out of their hard earnings, contributed $9.70 of the sum reported for "Church Extension," and $14.50 of "other receipts."

The Church at Hawkinsville has thoroughly awakened to the activities of Church life. Here is a very efficient and zealous Guild of the ladies, who have collected the sum of $200.00, to be expended in improving the Church, by carpeting it, putting in new stained glass windows, and a Memorial Chancel Window ; putting in new pews, and other needed repairs and improvements. A new Rectory may be looked for in the coming year, the rectory fund now amounting to $477.00. The venerable Churchman, Judge John Henry, has had the Church beautifully painted on the outside at an expense of $80.00, and it presents a very fine appearance in its new spring dress.

There is a very active and well equipped Sunday School, to the library of which large additions have recently been made. Everything now looks hopeful for a bright future, and great praise is due to the little band of members who have so zealously and efficiently set to work to make their Church an influential factor in the community. There is also an active branch of the Woman's Auxiliary.

Personal Reports.

SUMMERVILLE (near Augusta), GA., May 3, 1897.

Rt. Rev. C. Kinloch Nelson, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia :

DEAR BISHOP NELSON—I have to state to you and the Convention that, although retired from any definite charge, I have, as usual, officiated in the various services of the Church during the past year, when and wherever circumstances invited me to do so. During four months of last summer and fall I did missionary work at the several places where I happened to be sojourning, preaching and otherwise officiating on nearly every Sunday. For the past winter, and this spring so far, I have been confined to my house, and thus prevented from taking any part in the work of the ministry. It may be gratifying to my old friends in several parts of the Diocese to learn that I am slowly, but I hope surely, recovering from the severe injury I received by a fall early in January last.

Wishing for yourself and the members of the Convention, soon to be in session in Macon, abundant satisfaction in yours labors, with most harmonious and inspiring association one with another, I have the honor to be,

Very sincerely and truly,

OPELIKA, ALA., April 29th, 1897.

MY DEAR BISHOP.—I have no special report to make. From a severe attack of sickness last year, which almost proved fatal, I am slowly recovering; but I do not think it would be prudent yet for me to undertake any laborious missionary work. I have, however, performed some ministerial acts. I regret that I will not be able to attend the meeting of our Convention in Macon next week.

E. DENNISTON.

HOLLY HILL, FLA., May 27th, 1897.

The Right Rev. C. K. Nelson, D.D., Bishop of Georgia :

RIGHT REV. AND DEAR SIR.—Since my last communication, I beg to report that I have officiated regularly in mission work, under the direction of the Bishop of Southern Florida.

With highest respect, Rt. Rev. and Dear Sir,

Faithfully and Obediently,

Your brother and servant in Christ,

H. B. STUART-MARTIN, Priest.

REPORT OF BISHOP ELLIOTT SCHOOL.

The Bishop Elliott Day School for Girls began its fourth year Monday, September 7, 1896, with eight pupils.

Number now present, May 1, nine.

The school year will end May 28. The present report is to May 1.

School expenses, $8.98.

School receipts, $17.50.

Notwithstanding the fact that a half hour daily is spent on instruction in the Prayer Book and Church History, parents have expressed their pleasure at the rapid progress made also in secular studies by their children.

The general average this year, in both conduct and lessons, has been much higher than in previous years.

It is to be hoped that the school has existed long enough now to demonstrate to the Church that it may be made a power for good in the Diocese of Georgia, if only properly supported.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY FRANCES, S. H. R.

Proposed Constitution.

[NOTE.—The Articles marked thus * were finally adopted by this Convention, but, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the same, (see page 33), are suspended from operation until the adoption of the Constitution as a whole. The other Articles will require to be acted upon for final adoption by the next Convention.—SECRETARY.]

ARTICLE I.

The Church in the Diocese of Georgia, as a constituent part of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, accedes to, recognizes and adopts the Constitution and Canons of that Church, and acknowledges the authority thereof.

*ARTICLE II.

A Convention of this Church shall be held annually at such time and place as the previous Convention may have appointed; Provided, however, that no Convention shall be open for the transaction of business unless there be present at least five clergymen, and delegates from five congregations. In case of an epidemic, or for other sufficient cause, the Ecclesiastical Authority may change the time and place; and in case no Convention is formed, the standing officers of the last Convention shall hold their respective offices until their successors shall be appointed.

The Ecclesiastical Authority shall have power, when it appears requisite for the good of the Church, to call a special Convention by circular letter to all members of the Convention. There shall not be less than fifteen days' notice previous to the day appointed, and such meeting shall be holden where the authority calling it shall determine, and at such special Convention no other business shall be transacted than that stated in the notice calling the Convention.

ARTICLE III.

The Convention shall be composed of clergymen and laymen. Every clergyman in good standing, canonically resident in the Diocese, either regularly settled and continuously exercising clerical functions in any Parish, or who shall have been for six months last past performing missionary duties under the direction of the Ecclesiastical Authority of this Diocese, shall be entitled to the privileges of a member of the Convention; and every duly recognized minister of this Church, canonically residing for six months last past within the Diocese, being engaged in literary instruction, or disabled by reason of age or infirmity from exercising clerical functions, shall be entitled to all the privileges of a member of the Convention with the exception of a right to vote; Provided, That no clergymen entitled to vote, shall, by reason of age or infirmity, lose that privilege. Every self-supporting congregation in union with this Convention shall be entitled to three lay delegates, communicants of the Church, to be chosen from its body by the Wardens and Vestrymen thereof. The Cathedral Church shall be entitled to three lay delegates, communicants of the Church, to be chosen by the congregation thereof. Every Organized Mission shall be entitled to one such delegate, elected by the congregation thereof.

*ARTICLE IV.

Every Convention shall be opened with the celebration of the Holy Communion and a sermon delivered by the Bishop, or by a preacher appointed by the Ecclesiastical Authority. The Bishop shall preside in the Convention. In case of the absence of the Bishop, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Convention shall elect a President pro tempore from among the clergy. The Convention shall elect annually a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Chancellor and a Registrar, and such other officers as may be necessary, who shall continue in office until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

ARTICLE V.

New Parishes may be admitted into union with the Convention by a majority of its votes; Provided, That they shall have laid before the Convention written evidence, subscribed by the Wardens, that they accede to the Constitution and Canons of this Church, are regularly organized by the election of two Wardens and any number of Vestrymen, at discretion, not exceeding eight, and present evidence satisfactory to the Convention of their ability to maintain the worship of the Church and to support its Rector.

ARTICLE VI.

The Convention shall deliberate and act as one body, unless a vote by Orders be required by one clergyman and two laymen, in which case each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote, the lay delegates of each congregation jointly to one vote, and the lay delegate from each Organized Mission to one-third of a vote; and a majority of each Order shall be necessary to a decision.

*ARTICLE VII.

A Standing Committee shall be chosen at each annual meeting of the Convention, to consist of three clerical and three lay members, of the time and place of whose meetings due notice, in writing, shall be given to all members at least one week before the time of such meeting; Provided, however, That by unanimous consent a meeting may, at any time, be held without such notice. Four members shall constitute a quorum. The Standing Committee shall meet as soon as practicable after their election, and choose a President and Secretary from their own number; and it shall be the duty of the President to call a meeting of the committee, whenever he shall be requested to do so, by any three members of the committee. Vacancies in this committee, caused by death, resignation or otherwise, shall be supplied by the suffrages of the members remaining.

*ARTICLE VIII.

The Convention shall triennially, at the session immediately preceding the meeting of the General Convention, elect four clergymen of this Diocese, and four laymen, who shall be communicants of the Church, resident in this Diocese, as Deputies to the General Convention. Such Deputies shall be furnished with a certificate of their election, signed by the Secretary of the Convention. The deputies so elected shall be authorized to represent the Diocese in that or any special Convention till their successors are chosen. The Convention shall, at the same time and in the same manner, elect four clergymen and four laymen, with like qualifications, as alternates.

*ARTICLE IX.

The election of a Bishop of this Diocese shall be made at an annual Convention, or at a special meeting of the same, called for that purpose at least sixty days before the time of its meeting, the object being stated by notice in writing, and sent by the Secretary of the Standing Committee to all members of the Convention. The election shall be by concurrent vote by ballot of the clergy and laity, a majority of each Order being necessary to an election.

ARTICLE X.

*ARTICLE XI.

Whenever any Parish shall be without a Rector for twelve months, or shall for one year fail to elect a vestry, unless the reasons for these failures are satisfactory to the Bishop, he shall report the fact to the Convention, and if, at the next succeeding Convention, such Parish shall not be in charge of a duly elected Rector, its union with the Convention may, by resolution, be terminated, and the Parish be remitted to the condition of an Organized Mission.

ARTICLE XII.

A proposition for amending this Constitution shall be introduced in writing and acted on by the Convention, and, if adopted by the Convention at which proposed, the same shall be presented to the next regular Convention; and, if adopted at that Convention, the Constitution shall stand amended as adopted by the two said Conventions.

Constitution of the Diocese of Georgia.

ARTICLE I.

The Church in this Diocese, as a constituent part of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, accedes to, recognizes and adopts the General Constitution of that Church, and acknowledges its authority accordingly.

ARTICLE IV.

Every Clergyman in good standing, regularly settled and continuously exercising clerical functions in any existing Parish, or who shall have been for six months last past performing missionary duties under the direction of the Ecclesiastical Authority of this Diocese, shall be entitled to the privileges of a member of the Convention; and every duly recognized Minister of this Church canonically residing for six months last past within the Diocese, being engaged in the business of literary instruction, or disabled by reason of age or infirmity from exercising clerical functions, shall be entitled to all the privileges of a member of the Convention, with the exception of a right to vote; Provided, That no Clergyman entitled to vote shall by reason of age or infirmity lose that privilege. ARTICLE V.

New Parishes may be admitted into union with this Convention by a majority of votes ; Provided, That they shall have laid before the Convention written evidence, subscribed by the Wardens, that they accede to the Constitution and Canons of this Church, and are regularly organized by the election of two Wardens and any number of Vestrymen, at discretion, not exceeding eight.

ARTICLE VI.

The Convention shall deliberate and act as one body, unless when a member shall call for a division on any question, in which case each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote and the lay delegates of each congregation jointly to one vote, and a majority of both Orders shall be necessary to a decision.

ARTICLE VII.

The Bishop of the Diocese shall be ex-officio President of the Convention. In case there is no Bishop, or in his absence, a presiding officer shall be elected from the clerical members present.

ARTICLE VIII.

At the Annual Convention a Secretary and Treasurer shall be chosen, to hold their respective offices until their successors are appointed. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive, or cause to be received, at each Annual Convention, the assessments upon the Parishes in the Diocese for defraying the incidental expenses of the Convention and the support of the Episcopate ; and also to pay the Bishop, quarterly in advance, the amount of salary pledged to him by this Convention, making a faithful return of all such acts in his annual report to the Convention.

ARTICLE IX.

A Standing Committee shall be chosen at each annual meeting of this Convention, to consist of three clerical and three lay members, of the time and place of whose meetings due notice, in writing, shall be given to all members at least one week before the time of such meeting ; Provided, however, That by unanimous consent a meeting may at any time be held without such notice. DIFFERENCES ARISING BETWEEN CLERGYMEN AND VESTRYMEN.

SECTION 1. In case of controversy between any Rector or Assistant Minister of any Church or Parish, and the Vestry of such Church or Parish, which cannot be settled by themselves, the parties, or either of them, may make application to the Bishop of the Diocese, who shall thereupon make a list of all the Presbyters residing in the Diocese, and entitled to seats in the Convention, and also a list of all lay delegates, communicants of the Church, elected to the Convention of the Diocese next preceding the appeal to the Bishop. He shall then summon the said Rector or Assistant, and some member of the Vestry, a communicant of the Church, to attend, and the said list shall be reduced to three Clergymen and three Laymen by the Rector or Assistant and the other party striking off names alternately, the Rector commencing. Should either party omit or decline to exercise the privilege, the Bishop shall strike off the names instead of the party so omitting or declining.

SEC. 2. The Presbyters and Laymen thus selected or designated shall be summoned by the Bishop to attend at some convenient time and place to consider such controversy.

SEC. 3. If it shall appear to the Bishop and a majority of such Presbyters and Laymen thus summoned that there is no hope of a favorable termination of such controversy, and that a dissolution of the connection between such Rector or Assistant Minister and Congregation is necessary to restore the peace of the Church and promote its prosperity, the Bishop and such Presbyters and Laymen shall recommend such Minister to relinquish his connection with the Church on such conditions as may appear to them proper and reasonable.

SEC. 4. If any Rector or Assistant Minister shall refuse to comply with the recommendations of the Bishop, Presbyters and Laymen, the Bishop and Presbyters may proceed, according to the Canons of the Church, to suspend him from the exercise of any ministerial functions within the Diocese until he shall retract his refusal; or, if the Vestry shall refuse to comply with such recommendations, they shall not be allowed representation in the Diocesan Convention until they shall have retracted their refusal.

CANON XII.

INSTITUTING THE MODE OF TRYING PRESBYTERS AND DEACONS.

SECTION 1. Whenever the Standing Committee shall receive reliable and trustworthy information that a Clergyman of this Diocese has committed an offense within the offenses enumerated in Canon I., Section 5, and Canon II., Section 1, Title II., of the Digest of Canons of the General Convention, it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee to investigate as to the truth of such information pursuant to Title II., Canon I., Section 5, and Title II., Canon II., Section 2, of the Digest of Canons of the General Convention.

If, after investigation, it appears that reasonable grounds exist for believing that such information is true, they shall present the charge to the Bishop in the following form :

" To the Right Reverend A B, Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia :

" The Standing Committee of this Diocese respectfully present that C. D. has been accused upon reliable and trustworthy information, [here recite the mode, manner, charge or charges] and the committee are of the opinion that there are sufficient grounds for presenting the said C. D. for trial, agreeable to the Canon in such cases made and provided." [Signed by the Standing Committee.]

The offense of which the accused is alleged to be guilty shall be specified with reasonable certainty as to the time, place and circumstances, and shall be held and deemed sufficiently correct when it states the offense so plainly that its nature may be easily understood. No presentment shall be entertained in any case for an offense alleged to have been committed more than three years before the date of the presentment.

SEC. 2. Upon the receipt of the foregoing presentment, the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop, the clerical members of the Standing Committee, if he or they shall find that the facts charged do not constitute an offense, he or they may dismiss it in whole or in part ; but if he or they, acting as aforesaid, shall deem it expedient to proceed with the trial of the case, the said Bishop or said clerical members of the Standing Committee, in the event there be no Bishop, shall make, or cause to be made, a list of all Presbyters residing in the Diocese, and entitled to seats in the Convention, excepting the accused person, the accuser and the clerical members of the Standing Committee. He or they shall then summon the accused and the President of the Standing Committee to attend, at a time and place to be named in the summons, for the purpose of reducing the said list to five, the President of the Standing Committee and the accused striking off the names alternately, the President of the Standing Committee having the first strike. Service of the said summons and of all notices or citations in the progress of the proceedings shall be pursuant to Title II., Canon I., Section 3, of the Digest of Canons of the General Convention.

Should the accused fail to attend, or omit or decline to exercise the privilege, the Bishop shall strike off the names in his stead, and shall then summon the five Presbyters whose names remain on the list, and thus selected, to meet at some time not exceeding ninety (90) days, at some place within the county where the accused shall reside or officiate for the time being; and the said Presbyters, or a majority of their number, shall sit as Court for the trial of the accused, shall have power to adjourn from time to time, and, upon good cause shown by either side, from place to place, but always within the Diocese, and to render judgment whether the accused is guilty or not guilty as charged.

SEC. 3. The Bishop, or if there be none, the clerical members of the Standing Committee, shall forthwith furnish to the Standing Committee and the accused a list of the Presbyters summoned to constitute the Court, with a notice of the time and place of the meeting of the Court. The Standing Committee shall, at least sixty (60) days before the trial, furnish the accused with a copy of the presentment, notice of the time and place of trial, together with a list of witnesses who may then be known to the Standing Committee.

The said committee shall also appoint a Church Advocate, who shall be a communicant of the Church in good standing, and of the profession of the law, who shall conduct the prosecution, and the accused may employ counsel with the like qualifications, the certificate of his or their Rector to be presented as the evidence of his or their qualification.

SEC. 4. As soon as practicable after their appointment the members of the Court shall assemble and choose a President from their own number, and a Secretary, either from their own number or otherwise, as to them shall seem fit, and make such rules as are, in their judgment, necessary for the conduct of said trial.

They shall also be authorized to employ a stenographer. The Court shall also appoint a lay adviser, who shall be a communicant of the Church, and of the profession of the law; such adviser may be present at all proceedings of the Court, but shall have no vote in any case whatever. It shall be his duty to give in person to the Court an opinion on any question not theological, upon which the Court or any of the members thereof, or either party, shall desire an opinion. If a dispute shall arise whether any question be, or be not, theological, it shall be decided by the Court by a majority of votes.

The laws of Georgia, so far as they relate to the law of evidence, shall be, as far as practicable, the rule by which the Court shall be governed and these laws shall also be the rule of decision as to the competency of witnesses, save and except the accused shall, at his own request, but not otherwise, be a competent witness; his failure to make such request shall not create any presumption against him, but if offered in his own behalf, he shall be subject to cross-examination like other witnesses. The trial shall be conducted according to the practice in the Courts of Georgia, as far as practicable.

SEC. 5. It is hereby declared to be the duty of all the members of the Church to attend and give evidence, when duly summoned to do so, in any ecclesiastical trial or investigation under authority of this Church; but in case there is ground to suppose that the attendance of any witness on the trial cannot be obtained, it shall be lawful for either party to apply to the Court, if in session, and if not, to any member thereof, who shall thereupon appoint a commissioner to take the deposition of such witness, and such party so desiring to take the deposition shall give to the opposite party ten days' notice of the time and place of taking such deposition, accompanying such notice with the interrogatories to be propounded to the witness. Whereupon it shall be lawful for the other party, within six days after such notice, to propound cross-interrogatories, and such interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, if any be propounded, shall be sent to the commissioner, who shall thereupon proceed to take the testimony of such witness, under oath or affirmation, and transmit it under seal to the Court; but no deposition shall be read at the trial, unless the Court have reasonable assurance that the attendance of the witness cannot be procured, or unless both parties consent that it may be read.

The oath to be administered to each witness, orally or before his examination by interrogatories, shall be: "I do solemnly call God to witness that the evidence I am about to give shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God." At the option of the Court, or a majority of its members, or of the commissioner, any witness may be permitted to affirm, such affirmation being of a solemn nature and regarded as equivalent to the oath.

SEC. 6. Before pleading to the merits, all exceptions to the personnel of the Court, to the venue of the trial, or the presentment, or any charge, specification or count thereof, or plea in abatement, shall be presented, urged and determined by the Court before proceeding to hear the case on the merits. Should the accused neglect or refuse to appear, or to answer in person or by counsel, in accordance with the notice served on him, as aforesaid, except for some reasonable cause to be allowed by the Court, they shall proceed to announce him in contumacy, and notify him that sentence of suspension or degradation will be pronounced against him by the Court at the expiration of three months, unless within that time he tender himself ready, and accordingly appear and take his trial on the presentment. But if the accused shall not tender himself before the expiration of the said three months, sentence of suspension or degradation from the ministry may be recommended by the Court to be pronounced against him by the Bishop.

If on or during the trial, the accused shall confess the truth of the charges as stated in the presentment, the Court may dispense with hearing further evidence and proceed to render judgment; but if he shall appear and proceed to trial on the presentment, the Court shall adjudge him guilty or not guilty, according to the evidence. If he be found guilty, the Court shall declare to the Bishop to what ecclesiastical censure he ought, in their judgment, to be subjected.

SEC. 7. The Secretary shall keep a record of all the proceedings, which shall contain a copy of the presentment, specifications, notice to the accused and his answer, with the evidence, both oral and written, and the final judgment of the Court. An attested copy of this record, made out by the Secretary or the stenographer, and certified to by the Secretary, shall be forthwith at the conclusion of the trial delivered to the Bishop, who shall, in the consideration thereof, be authorized to appoint a lay adviser with the same authority and the same duty as that put upon the lay adviser of the Court, and obtain from him when advisable an opinion on all matters not theological. The Bishop shall also have the same authority in passing upon all motions for a new trial.

If the judgment of the Court be not guilty, the Bishop shall give his certificate of acquittal to the accused, embracing a copy of the presentment and specifications, and the accused shall not be subject to a second trial on the same charge. If the Court shall adjudge him guilty on one or more points at issue, the Bishop shall pronounce such canonical sentence as shall appear to him to be proper, provided the penalty shall not be greater than that expressed in the judgment of the Court. Before pronouncing any sentence the Bishop shall summon the accused and any two or more Clergymen to meet him, at such time as in his opinion may be most convenient, in some Church to be designated by him, which shall for that purpose be open at the time to all persons who choose to attend, and the sentence shall then and there be publicly pronounced by the Bishop; but no sentence shall be pronounced until the expiration of twenty days from the adjournment of the Court, nor shall the penalty be greater than that expressed in the judgment of the Court.

At any time within fourteen days after notice of the judgment of the Court to the accused, he may make application to the Bishop for another hearing. This application must set forth the exceptions he takes to the proceedings or finding of the Court, both of law and of fact, and no other matter shall be considered or passed upon under the application for new trial by either party, except such as bear upon the points to which the exceptions had been or are therein taken, provided always, that new evidence discovered since the trial may be considered on such motion for a new trial, when such new evidence shall be presented in the form of affidavits, as required by the laws of Georgia and practice thereunder. If the Bishop thereafter disapproves the judgment, he shall order a new trial, stating his grounds for such decision, or he may approve the judgment, and in that case within thirty days thereafter, proceed to such ecclesiastical censure as the case may, in his judgment, require, whether it be admonition, suspension, or degradation from the ministry.

If the Bishop shall order a new trial, the same shall be had as before prescribed, save and except that the names of the Presbyters selected for the first trial shall be omitted from the list of Presbyters, from whom the new Court shall be stricken.

SEC. 8. The Bishop may, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, suspend any Clergyman against whom proceedings are instituted under this Canon from the exercise of his official duties pending the trial. If a Clergyman of this Diocese, while under suspension after trial and sentence, shall repeat the offense for which he is suspended, he shall be presented and tried for the offense committed during such suspension just as if no such suspension existed.

SEC. 9. Every summons, notice or citation mentioned in these proceedings may be served by delivery of a written notice to the person to be summoned, notified or cited, by a person duly appointed in writing by the Bishop, the Standing Committee, or the Court, as the case may require. Should the accused absent himself from the Diocese, so that he cannot be served personally, then the Bishop, upon notice thereof, may suspend him, at discretion, from the ministry until he returns to the Diocese or accepts service elsewhere.

SEC. 10. The expense incurred in trying a Clergyman under this Canon shall be paid by the Treasurer of the Diocese out of the Convention Fund, and "prorated" amongst the Parishes as part of the Convention expenses.

CANON XIII.

DORMANT PARISHES.

SECTION 1. Whenever any Parish shall be without a Rector for twelve months, or shall for one year fail to elect a Vestry, or make the report required by Canon XV., Title I., of the General Convention, unless the reasons for these failures are satisfactory to the Bishop, he shall report the fact to the Convention, and if the Parish shall not by the next Annual Convention, be in charge of a duly elected Rector, or be revived, its union with the Convention shall cease; and it shall be regarded as an Organized Mission, with the sanction or by the direction of the Bishop, and it shall not be restored until it shall comply with the conditions prescribed in this Canon and Canons II. and IV. of the Diocese.

SEC. 2. Whenever the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen, or if there be no Rector, the Wardens and Vestrymen, of an existing Parish shall unite in a petition to the Bishop, asking that such Parish be remitted to the position of an organized Mission, stating fully the grounds of said petition; the Bishop may, in his discretion, grant or refuse said petition; and his action thereon, shall be recorded with said petition on the minutes of said Parish, and by him reported to the next Convention.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the Bishop to take the necessary steps to preserve the property of such Parishes for the benefit of the Church.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

An Archdeacon shall have no authority in any Parish or Organized Mission, nor shall he assume any prerogatives but such as are accorded him by the courtesy of the Clergy in charge of Parishes and Organized Missions, or such as are committed to him in writing by the Bishop. An Archdeacon shall be amenable to the Bishop in all his acts and appointments, and shall not take charge of any Parish, cure or station, but by written permission of the Bishop.

SEC. 6. All Missionaries shall make a quarterly report of their work and the status of their Missions to the Archdeacon of their respective districts, to be forwarded promptly to the Bishop, with the Archdeacon's summary of the same, for the publication of which, under the Bishop's direction, $50.00 per annum shall be applied out of the treasury of Diocesan Missions.

SEC. 7. The Convention shall annually elect a Treasurer of Missions. The Bishop, the Treasurer of Diocesan Missions, ex-officio, and three Clergymen and three Laymen (the latter of whom may not be members of the Convention), who shall be elected at each Annual Convention, shall constitute the Board of Missions for the Diocese, of which the Bishop shall be ex-officio chairman. Said Board, with the approval of the Bishop, may prescribe any rule for its government, or adopt any measure to promote its efficiency, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Canons of the Church. The Board of Missions shall, as soon as may be practicable, provide for the distribution among the Missionary stations and feeble Parishes of the amount appropriated by the Convention, and shall hold quarterly meetings at times to be fixed at its first meeting and such other meetings as may be ordered by the Bishop.

SEC. 8. At each Annual Convention the Missionary work of the Diocese shall be considered on the morning of the second day's session, when the reports of the Archdeacons and the Treasurer shall be read, and addresses may be made by the Bishop, the Archdeacons and other Missionaries and Clergymen or Laymen, to be appointed therefor by the Bishop, upon the Missionary work of the Diocese. And the Convention shall then make an appropriation to carry on the Missionary work within the Diocese during the ensuing year, making special provision for the salaries of the Archdeacons, and hear from the Parishes the sums pledged for the object of Diocesan Missions. Should it be impracticable to make the appropriation and apportionment on the second morning of the session, the matter shall be resumed and continued on each successive morning of the session until finally concluded.

SEC. 9. No organized Parish shall receive any aid from the Missions, treasury except on written application of the Wardens and Vestry thereof, approved by the Bishop, and on condition that the Rector of such Parish will perform such Missionary work outside of the Parish, proportionate to the aid received, as may be prescribed by the Bishop. The offerings and gifts of the several Parishes and Missions shall be transmitted monthly to the Treasurer of Missions.

SEC. 10. All offerings received at unorganized Missions, which are aided by the Board of Missions, shall be forwarded to the Treasurer of Missions by the Archdeacon or Missionary in charge.

SEC. 11. All Clergy receiving stipends from the Treasurer of Missions shall include in their quarterly reports the amount of salary paid by the Parish or Mission which they serve, and the Treasurer of Missions shall not be obliged to remit their stipends until this statement is presented.

SEC. 12. The Board of Missions, with the consent and approval of the Bishop, shall appoint in each of the Archdeacons of the Diocese a Committee on Diocesan Missions, to be composed of one Clergyman and two Laymen. It shall be the duty of said Committee to deliver at least one address, semi-annually, in each Parish of their respective Archdeacons on the subject of Diocesan Missions, and generally to aid the Missionary work of the Diocese, under the counsel of the Board of Missions.

CANON V.—THE ELECTION OF A BISHOP.

SECTION 1. When the Episcopate of the Diocese becomes vacant, by death or otherwise, the Standing Committee shall meet within ten days and take such order as in their judgment the best interests of the Diocese require. If it be more than sixty days before the meeting of the Annual Convention, they may call a special Convention; if eight months, they shall call one.

SEC. 2. The tellers shall count the votes and report the result to the President, who shall announce it. The roll of the Parishes shall then be called by the Secretary, and as each Parish is called it shall deposit its vote with the tellers, and the votes shall be counted and announced as ordered for the Clergy. If the same person shall receive the concurrent vote of both orders, he shall be declared duly elected. If the Lay vote be for a different person than the one elected by the Clergy, the Clergy shall proceed to ballot as before, and if they elect the same person chosen by the Laity, he shall be declared duly elected. If no person receive a majority of votes in both orders, they shall continue to ballot as above ordered until an election is made. Immediately after an election the Convention shall proceed to sign the Canonical Testimonial.

ADDRESS.

Beloved Brethren of the Clergy and Laity :

Three-quarters of a century of Diocesan Church-life is just passed, and we enter to-day upon the remaining quarter.

There are some things in history which astonish us. One is the boldness of faith of those nine men who in S. Paul's Church, Augusta, in 1823, ventured to organize a Diocese, and in fullest confidence of the truth of their cause and the need for concerted action, sent forth that stirring appeal to the "members of our Zion," scattered over this great Commonwealth, to rally, to unite in the laudable effort to extend the principles of our branch of the Apostolic Church and to obstruct the drift of Churchmen to the folds of the denominations around.

This was years after the planting of the Gospel in the coast cities. Sectarians of various kinds had entered in and possessed the land, and by this time were strongly entrenched among the inhabitants of the new republic, and at the date mentioned, while they, under their simple methods of evangelization, were working in well articulated organizations, the Church had not yet made her influence felt through the length and breadth of this Commonwealth.

To many of you the tale is a familiar one, of distrust in the home-Church from which we had our origin; the denial of proper oversight until, almost by force, we secured it a little before this century opened; the opposition of the average American mind after the Revolution to anything having affiliations with England; the inevitable prejudice of dissenting bodies against historic Christendom, whether Papal or Anglican, the perpetuation of the sometimes ignorant, sometimes malicious falsehoods as to our beginning, which even to this day we are forced to combat; the too aristocratic bearing of many of our clergy and people, with some indifference to the vulgar and the illiterate who teemed along our shores in the early days—these were some of the discouragements and difficulties, real and obvious, which the first Convention of the Diocese of Georgia felt, appreciated and manfully set itself to meet and overcome.

The situation, with certain national and a few local changes, is bettered indeed, but very far from being completely and radically altered. The external disposition is somewhat modified, it has not disappeared. We still hear the old gibe and the prejudice of the eighteenth century has given place to the proscription of the nineteenth. Couched in forms of familiar thought the query is, "What business have you Episcopalians here at all? Have we not occupied all the territory? And what right have you to come in at this late date and interfere with our work?" Our answer to these questions is simple and direct—"We deplore our apathy, we appreciate your zeal, we applaud the good and blessed service you have done ; but we have a distinct testimony to bear to Apostolic Truth and Order, Sacramental gifts to bestow ; a specific interpretation of the Scriptures to perpetuate and a Divine code of ethics to be taught without subtractions or additions, and the Unity of a visible, national Church to promote ; a combination not presented in this broad land otherwise than in the Church which we represent to you." This answer is easily learned and is not soon forgotten.

The effect of our policy and our measures is telling year by year, wherever this explanation is accompanied with zeal and charity. The Church is growing in the affections and the esteem of the people of Georgia. Gloomy forebodings have ceased from this hemisphere of our duty. For the rest we are not comfortably certain. Had we the proportionate faith of our predecessors of 1823, and more of their spirit of sacrifice, our annual statements would be surprisingly greater. It is a vice which still clings to a multitude of professed Churchmen that they love the Church because it is the best, they love their minister because he is theirs, but selfishly, with no burning zeal for the propagation of the Truth, no industry to extend its benefits, no enthusiasm for its missions, no care for other than local, immediate selfish interests, and love is exhausted in the perpetual effort to adorn and enrich the local habitation, with no thought of the great privileges we have to carry to others and the large number to whom they will be a revelation. The fewness of the helpers and the smallness of their help combine to make the outlook discouraging. There has not been these many years any considerable increase in the gifts to the fund for the support of widows and orphans of the clergy. But for the blessing of health among our clergy we should not have the means to keep more than one pensioner at a time. The Appleton Church Home appeals for a petty sum to complete its chapel, the only building which commemorates my venerated predecessor, and has not secured $600.00 in four years. The Permanent Fund for the support of the Episcopate has no accretions to speak of. The annual gifts for the extension of the work which we call Diocesan Missions have increased a paltry $300.00 in six years.

The truth is, my brethren, we are living almost exclusively upon the accumulations of our predecessors, to which we add little in interest and almost nothing in principal. We have not their faith ; we do not show their works. And now with their experience before us, with blessings and increase of which they did but dream, the provision of sufficient Episcopal supervision is a problem, and why ? Chiefly because we have no requisite faith in God and ourselves. The Diocese might as easily support five Bishops now as it could one when Elliot was elected. " Yes, but we had his personal influence to help and encourage." Exactly, and with more Bishops you could have it again. There is not the man living or dead who could be an Elliott to all the churches and missions of the present time. By reason of the vast territory and the innumerable demands, the beneficial effects of that close personal contact of those early days is put out of the question.

Such personal interest applied in each of at least four of our cities at the present time would make itself felt again as it did in Savannah. Let us not lightly pass by the report of the committee which deals with this subject.

THE STATE OF THE DIOCESE.

Turning from the consideration of things which were or ought to be, to things which are, you will, I trust, find encouragement in the reports on the condition of the Diocese.

For the first time in my Episcopacy every parish is filled and every mission has regular ministrations. Better than this, we have never to my knowledge had a stronger or more earnest body of clergy than at the present time.

Better yet, as far as I can learn, the Diocese was never more harmonious and united, with so little friction or dissension of any sort, general or local and particular. I am proud to feel that I have a band of intelligent, godly, faithful and loyal brethren in my clergy ; men whom I love, and who I sincerely believe love me ; men who are endeavoring to present the Church and the Gospel lovingly, fully and honestly, with peace and contentment in their parishes, honored and respected in their several communities and making a stand for truth and right which will inevitably bear good and abundant fruit unto holiness. Our mother parish in Savannah will be found to have restored her losses by fire a year ago. S. John's, Savannah, S. Paul's, Augusta, are strengthening their stakes in the cohesion of a large constituency of devoted Churchmen. Christ Church, Macon, may fairly be regarded as our banner parish in the details of work at home and abroad. Trinity, Columbus, has a splendid plant and in spite of great depression is admirably administering its finances. S. Mark's, Brunswick, courageously sustains herself amid a series of adversities sufficient to swamp a less faithful and zealous parish. S. Paul's, Macon, has taken on new strength. The Good Shepherd, Augusta, after a destructive fire, is once more completely rebuilt, and refurnished with many added attractions. The parishes in Athens and Rome will soon occupy beautiful new churches not excelled in the Diocese. Albany, S. Paul's, is in a more vigorous condition than we have ever known it. Atlanta, so long the field of internecine strife, presents an aspect of energetic and harmonious Church life unparalleled by any group of churches in any city of the Union. The Church of the Atonement, Augusta, is for the first time in years out of debt, with a surplus in the treasury for improvements, and contributes the equivalent of $200.00 to Diocesan Missions. S. Paul's, Savannah, is a Church of whose year's record we must all be justly proud and its condition shows factors of permanent success. S. James', Marietta, is well nigh a model parish, accepting and fulfilling its complete quota of duties; and many other smaller parishes and churches give evidences of healthy life. Better than this, the spiritual tone of the parishes is, in my judgment, improved. Greater frequency of sacramental benefits, heartier and more reverent services, attention to the minutiae of parish details, an increase in the body of effective workers and devoted worshippers are marks which admit of no dispute as to their meaning. We are not yet perfect, but we are going on toward perfection in loyal obedience, oneness of aim, dissipation of causes of controversy and reduction of the elements of Diocesan weakness. The outlook, therefore, is very hopeful indeed.

THE ARCHDIACONAL SYSTEM.

Six years' trial of this feature of our Missionary Canon enables us to say whether or not it has been effective. The name or title is a very small matter to us except in conveying an idea of functions and methods implied. We discern clearly great failure in the system because it has not been fully worked. The single instance in which an Archdeacon has been in actual and continuous discharge of the mixed and multifold duties of his office, is a signal success. Compelled by the circumstances of the Diocese to be in great part a general missionary, actually administering to the needs of fifteen or twenty stations, he has been simply invaluable in those directions which alone afford abundant occupation for such an officer. The securing of sites at a minimum, often at no cost to the Diocese, the organization of missions, the solicitation of funds for building, the supervision of local committees, the erection of churches, the opening and keeping of parish registers, the regulation of unskilled and quite embryonic vestries, the systematizing of gifts and offerings for self-support, the stimulating of self-help, the allaying of petty and vexatious differences reversely proportioned to the size and importance of the mission, the scrutinizing of guilds and societies, choirs and Sunday schools, besides a large amount of pastoral work, visiting, preparing candidates and officiating in vacant places, and the prompt movements at the beck and call of the Diocesan, have developed a position which is no sinecure, have justified the title in its every aspect, and illumined it as an institution suited to the needs of the American Church.

The purpose of the Canon having been realized, and its spirit tested, it is quite time that we should obey our own law and make special provision for the Archdeacons, whether, as is the case, or not, the income from their fields warrant a special outlay. We have been greatly assisted by the Archdeacons who are likewise Parish priests, who up to the limit of their possibilities have achieved excellent results, but the more completely untrammelled by parochial duties just so much more effective will the Archdeacon be. My intention then is, with your co-operation, to develop the strength of our Canon by the employment of so many Archdeacons detached from Parish work, as may be practicable with our resources. At the same time for the greater convenience of association, it seems to me wise to set off Brunswick, with the parishes and missions around about as a separate district.

It is a circumstance controlled by local affiliations in some cases and distance in others that there is great disparity in the number of clergy and lay-workers in the different Archdeaconries. I am nevertheless impressed with the view that more numerous meetings in each would be of advantage. I have found it impracticable to provide frequently for such occasions or to outline a practical scheme for the few who come together. I shall welcome suggestions on this subject from members of the Convention and request the Committee on Missions to devise means for more regular and effective meetings of the clergy and laity in the several districts. It may be that I have failed to discover attractive interests sufficient to bring together those whose aims and methods would be improved by intercourse. My opinion is that congregationalism is responsible for the failure.

THE LAMBETH CONFERENCE.

Since our last meeting I have enjoyed the great pleasure and benefit of a trip to England and France, and have had the privilege of attendance at and a share in the deliberations of the Fourth Pan-Anglican Conference of Bishops at the Archbishop's Palace of Lambeth.

Did time permit I should gladly do as I have done on a few occasions, review the proceedings of that representative body of English-speaking Bishops.

The questions considered affect the Church and the world in vital aspects, and were eminently ad tempora, as for example, the organization of the Anglican Communion, Communities within the Church, the critical study of the Holy Scriptures, Foreign Missions, the Reformation movements on the Continent of Europe and elsewhere, Church Unity, Arbitration, Sociology, Adaptation of the Book of Common Prayer, besides two which specially concern the Church of England.

The results published in a very small pamphlet seem scarcely commensurate with the time and labor required in the Conference sitting for three weeks. But when you regard them as the consensus of one hundred and ninety-six Bishops of the Church of God, acting under the most solemn sense of their grave responsibilities for every word, tone and gesture, and if you knew the careful and prayerful deliberation and the earnest debate by which they were wrought out, you would probably feel, as I do, that the utterances of that body carry with them a weight and value not equalled by any acts of the Church since the Fifth century.

The unanimity with which the authority of the Christian Scriptures is maintained ; the splendid appeal to civilized nations to submit their disputes to arbitration and not to brute and mechanical force ; the emphatic stand upon the original and necessary basis of Church unity, coupled with loving messages to all who differ from us ; the earnest insistence upon consideration, justice and brotherly kindness in dealing with individual problems—these and many other features of the Conference are achievements which elicit our gratitude and our lawful pride in the men who gathered there. The topics of a " Central Consultative Body," and " A Tribunal of Reference," have had much more than their proper share of current notice. It was most natural and reasonable that the Colonial Episcopate should seek both ; it is, in our judgment, much to be desired that a thoroughly representative central body should be formed to counsel upon great inter-ecclesiastical or catholic interests and needs, not to legislate, for it could not have or assume any power, nor to command, for such a body would be without authority. If any of your minds were disquieted, I aver that a Tribunal of Reference, composed of English divines, was not for a moment contemplated by us, nor did one of the American Bishops advocate the formation of any such body. An Anglican Papacy is quite as distant from the thoughts of the American Episcopate as a Greek, a Russian or a Roman Papacy. Such an idea was absolutely and unequivocally denied and repelled with perfect candor and in words of inimitable wisdom.

Blessed as was the intercourse with our brethren, gracious as was their hospitality, and complimentary as they were of our thought and speech, I feel quite sure that from these meetings, which, I pray God, may weld together in irrefragable unity of heart and mind the American Church and people with England's Church and people, every American Bishop returned home more loyal and devoted than ever before to our National Church, her position and her principles ; and more than ever content with her trials and her privileges, and glowing with the contemplation of her prospective conquests by virtue of truth, zeal and righteousness.

DIOCESAN MISSIONS.

At our last Convention I set before you an array of facts substantiated by carefully drawn statistics, to show that the multiplication of small churches has not, as alleged, been a source of weakness to the Diocese. I insist that the administration of many more missions at an increased cost to the self-supporting parishes of but $300.00 per year, is a record for our sixth year of which we may justly be proud, and a proper stimulus to greater endeavors. I believe that an accurate computation will show that the aggregate local offerings of the missions the past year for the support of the clergy ministering to them largely exceeds the sum contributed from the parishes, and that the number confirmed in mission-stations is larger in proportion to the outlay than in the parishes.

It is gratifying to note that in many instances the organic growth has been marked and positive, and that some of the committees or mission-vestries manage their business in a manner which would do credit to larger and more complete organizations. Through our mission-stations we are not only winning adherents but making good earnest Christians, and developing men and women of whom even now there are many who, in capable and loving service, are the peers of the noblest Churchmen among us.

In our unabated efforts to instil the principle of self-help we have found most satisfactory response. While our scale of ministrations is not nor ever can be absolutely exact, we do preserve a ratio between offerings and board appropriations, except in a few instances in which we must be content with a hopeful outlook. Very few new stations have been essayed, not because there is no new territory to acquire, nor because of lack of encouragement or indifference to the distinctive testimony which the Church has to bear, but because the extreme limit of elasticity of our financial ability has been reached. Churches have been erected at certain places where for years we have been living on charity and courtesy, very grateful and pleasant to the indolent, but absolutely incompatible with strength or permanence.

We have not yet brought into play all the forces possible for pushing vigorously the interests of Diocesan missions. I submit a plan which has been tried most successfully in the Diocese of Chicago, resulting not only in a very large increase of gifts and offerings, but in the acquiring of missionary information at first hand and the dissemination thereof through the parishes. The reaction from the plan is equally as valuable as the direct method. I hereby make an appeal to every rector of a parish in the Diocese to give me one Sunday in the course of the entire year, his duties for that day to be by me assigned in certain mission-stations. I desire, also, that he have the assistance of one layman, the necessary expense to be borne by the Treasurer of Missions. I sincerely trust that not one will decline compliance with this request.

For the reason that the Missions of the Diocese are about ninety per cent. of my care, and involve a large portion of my time and attention, I feel that no apology is needed for repeatedly urging upon all our people attention to this department of our duty and privilege. The fact that the pledged offerings of parishes for aggressive or missionary work of the Diocese have decreased in seven years from $4,744.40 to $2,793.37, is not satisfactorily explained by the business depression and the losses in which some of our people have shared. With few exceptions the contributing parishes have raised and expended on local improvements and additions, upon which we congratulate them most sincerely, larger sums than in the years preceding this current decade. In other instances old debts have been greatly reduced, and the parochial reports will not indicate such adversity as would properly affect their gifts for the extension of the Church in the Diocese of Georgia. We fear it is an opinion widely prevalent, of which we have had more than an intimation, that the missions of the Diocese are an incubus; that we have more churches than we can look after; that they require too much of an outlay. What is the proof of this? Are Diocesan missions a source of weakness? This is a proper as it is a very serious question, and should be thoroughly discussed. If it be true, some of the authorities of the Diocese are making a great mistake. If not, they whose position is disproven should meet the logic by suitable acts.

I do not hesitate to state that our missions are a source of strength and not of weakness. If you will take the trouble to study carefully the statistics of 1891 and compare them with those of 1898, there will be some surprises. The number of stations (supported by the Diocese out of funds contributed by parishes, not the churches which are partly self-supporting, nor parochial missions) was in 1891 twenty-seven. The missionaries varied from thirteen to fifteen, to whom was paid in salaries the sum of $3,129.96. The local receipts from the missions themselves for the stipends of the clergy ministering to them amounted to less than $700.00 for the entire Diocese. The parishes meanwhile contributed $4,744.40, and there was at the end of the year an unexpended balance of $1,614.44.

There are at this time Mission stations of the same order and class, forty-six, partly or wholly supported by the Board, with nine missionaries, whose aggregate salaries are $5,150.00. The local receipts for ministration passing through the Treasurer's hands, amounted the past year to $2,254.91, with additions locally contributed for the same purpose, of $1,110.09, a total of $3,365.00, besides houses worth $380.00. The payment of pledges from the Churches amounted, as indicated above, to $2,793.37 and no surplus.

Now excluding all those parishes, which are partly self-supporting, and all parochial missions, also those supported by invested funds and societies, with a reduced income from the Diocese of $1,946.00, we are administering nineteen more missions, sustaining six fewer clergy and are paying $2,020 more in salaries.

How did we accomplish it? By the effort which supplies the fact that the Missions under the Board contributed to their own support last year more than was given for that purpose by the Diocese, by $946.63; but $600.00 of the Board's pledge was to partly self-supporting Churches, so that the amount given by the Board to its Missions strictly was but $2,198.37. The Missions contributed $3,745.00; hence their offerings for their own support exceeded the appropriations by $1,546.63. Let it be observed that these statistics do not include the contributions to local missions which are, in Atlanta $600.00, about fifty per cent. of the cost; Augusta about $300.00; Macon about $400; Savannah, possibly, $200.00; Marietta $400.00, and Columbus $500.00—a sum total of $2,400.00, which conveys the ministra-tions of the Church to fifteen Missions for which the Board is not at all responsible. We have also left out of our consideration the payments for parochial missions by Christ Church, Frederica ; missions sustained by invested funds, such as S. Jude and S. Athanasius, Brunswick, and Camden county in part, nor have I included the entire work among the colored population of the Diocese, both in Church ministrations and parochial schools, all of which are conducted upon an appropriation of $4,100.00 per annum.

From these remarks it will appear what a very small contribution the parishes of the Diocese really make toward this vast mission field, and it is further evident that the Missions under the Board bear by far the larger part of their own cost of ministration. Where then does the Diocese lose or where is it weakened ? We assert knowingly that money is collected which the Diocese could not possibly reap in any other way. At the same time it must be borne in mind that many of these stations have erected churches of which they have borne from fifty to ninety per cent. of the cost ; while the Diocese is richer by the whole amount of the value of the buildings and lands thus added. It is further to the credit of the Missions that in all cases they have borne their own current expenses, with the exception of insurance in some instances, and a few other payments made by myself out of the Bishop's Advance Guard—a new fund raised by the children, and from the Church Extension Fund, a new and most necessary support supplied by the offering made once a year upon the occasion of the Bishop's visit. There is then no failure or weakness in the Missions on their financial side which we can detect, and our policy of requiring self-help to the utmost of their ability has worked out to our very great satisfaction.

When we come to compare spiritual results, reduction to figures cannot be depended upon, but basal statistics are worth something. The percentage of increase in the number of communicants in the missions is well sustained with parishes fully equipped and constantly served. We cannot expect gains where we have no church or other tokens of permanency. A building of our own is essential to vital growth, if of a fair size and pleasing appearance so much the better. The two notable characteristics of all our buildings are that they are indexical and identical. They are a testimony to a certain faith and clearly adapted to a particular form of worship. They are never mistaken for anything but churches.

MISSIONS AND SUPPLY.

The centralization of population which is everywhere proceeding brings people from the country to the village, from villages to towns, thence to cities. The increase in the constituency of our city churches is directly and visibly in large part the fruit of mission work in the towns and villages which are among the largest sources of supply. Here is a strong argument for the liberality of the city churches in strengthening the small mission churches which are their cradles and nurseries. The ratio of confirmations in the missions and parishes is a speaking item. In 1891, 16 to 294; in 1892, 84 to 105, more than one-half; in 1896, 153 to 308, about one-half; in 1897, 133 to 373, and in 1898, 83 to 334, a falling off, be it observed, in the ratio, very largely accounted for by the drift cityward, which would be furthermore evident if we would examine the residence of the communicants.

I think I have said enough to indicate the justice and reasonableness of the claim of the Board of Missions for greater generosity on the part of the parishes. Massachusetts complains because she has only $15,000.00 to spend upon eighteen towns of four thousand population, and seventeen other towns where the missions are very weak—a total of thirty-five, while we get less than $3,000.00 in the Diocese, and are carrying partly or entirely one hundred and three weak parishes and missions upon a sum total of just about $15,000.00.

I desire, in conclusion, to utter a word of the highest commendation of our Treasurer of Missions for his efficiency and untiring zeal in his efforts to meet the payment of all salaries promptly. He has done this almost completely to the first day of May, besides having paid off about $500.00 of back debts.

SOME REMINDERS.

My intercourse with the clergy of this Diocese has so thoroughly convinced me both of their loyalty to the standards and requirements of the Church, as well as their amenability to the counsel and advice of their Diocesan, that I do not find it necessary at this time to deliver any lengthy charge bearing upon their duties. The high sense of honor which prevails among them enables me to hope and expect that a few simple reminders will be accepted and cordially embraced in their practice. They are canonical offenses, it is true, but whatever omissions there are, must, I am sure, be attributed solely to oversight in the multitude of the responsibilities with which they are charged, for I have failed to find any wilfulness among you.

1. Let me urge upon you, my reverend brethren, the importance, never more imperative than in our day and generation, of a liberal interpretation of the duty of Parochial Instruction. (Title I., Canon XVIII., Section 3 [1].) Pray do not narrow down to sermons and occasional visits to the Sunday School the scope of the Church's order and your vow to be diligent in instruction, but provide "stated catechetical lectures and instructions," "inform the youth and others in the Doctrine, Constitution, History and Liturgy of the Church." If you lack suggestions or material for sermons find it here. But further, you shall also "diligently instruct all in your cures concerning the missionary work of the Church at home and abroad [mark the language] and offer suitable opportunities [not give an annual notice] for contributions from time to time for the maintenance of that work." Do, I beg you, read the Canon again and pray over it, study it, and apply it.

2 I once more urge attention to our Parish Registers. I have positively suffered misery from neglect of Section 5, of Canon XVIII. On three occasions in my Episcopate clergy have vacated some of our largest parishes without leaving behind them a list of families and individuals (see sub-section 3), worse yet, without a communicants' list that was worth a fig. One such had on his list an Hebrew belonging to the Synagogue; another a number of people who had never been confirmed, and not nearly all who were entitled to the Sacrament; a third no list at all. There are Registers in this Diocese which point a finger of scorn at the carelessness of priests who have left whole blocks of surnames among the baptized and confirmed with never a Christian name to be found. Be ye warned by the carelessness of some who have preceded you.

3. I reiterate the absolutely binding nature of the Church's rubrics concerning kneeling. You must insist upon your people kneeling down upon their knees, and see that the pews are so set that they can obey the law.

4. You are required to repress light and unseemly music. You have the law of the Church back of you in limiting the sources of your hymns and anthems. All our choirs have not yet been taught this. Please read to them the law (page ix., P. B.,) and enforce it. Six times within the past year I have been compelled to endure music which savored of the comic opera, with words which might have been composed in worship of Pan, Eostre or Osiris. I detest a scene, but I simply cannot permit a similar occurrence in my presence without a protest which will be recognized as condemnatory. If you are not skilled in these things kindly submit your voluntaries to me in advance of the service in which I am expected to take part, for sanction the abuse referred to I shall not any longer by my silent acquiescence. I am convinced without a word of assent that you will apply the remedy as speedily as possible.

5. One word more. I request of the clergy, especially in the missions, to give more dignity to the Sacrament of Holy Baptism by administering it in the presence of a congregation, as it is eminently a public act; next in giving prominence to the Font as a necessary and suggestive piece of Church furniture, and lastly, keeping it as well as the Altar from any improper uses, such as a flower stand, book-rack, or, as I recently found one, a depositary for the unused leaflets and collection envelopes, music lists and scraps. The Font should never, under any circumstances, be filled with flowers or any otherwise encumbered for its use, and the Altar should have nothing upon it but the complement of the ancient order—a book-rest, two candlesticks, a sufficient number of vessels and covers for the proper celebration of the Holy Communion and the Alms-Bason, with the alms or offerings in it. We heartily discountenance a custom too frequently observed in England as well as in this country of making the Altar a shelf to show off communion plate (totally unnecessary), brass, gilt and other ornaments and chattels. Cross and vases should be set on a retable or gradine, and the work of decoration should end before the profusion makes it impracticable for the officiant to do all that the rubric requires.

THE BUSINESS OF THE CONVENTION.

I shall briefly refer to the matters which will at the conclusion of this service claim our attention.

1. The Constitution, fully debated at our last session, will be put upon its final passage. It has had time and thought. I trust we shall have no obstructions to its speedy enactment.

2. The revision of the Canons and Rules of Order has been on our hands for three years. Your committee deserves to have its work passed upon, and our Diocesan laws should not be left in a state of flux. We commend the few changes to your attention and considerate action. Surely we do not want to spend half our time tinkering at canons.

3. Our delegation to the General Convention is to be elected. Great subjects will be brought into our legislation ; amendments to the Constitution, the Canons on Marriage and Divorce, on Provinces, on an Appellate Court, the use of the Book of Common Prayer. The selection of men to weigh, to debate and determine the propositions now before us should be prayerfully and carefully made. Some of the issues are vital and far-reaching, and require for their proper consideration clear heads, pure minds and studious investigation of abuses here sought to be remedied.

4. Very near ought to be to the heart of every one of us our responsibility to the Great Head of the Church for the extension of the Gospel in this great mission field of Georgia, with the loathsome immoralities, its perverted justice, its prevailing disregard of the value of human life, its degradation of manhood and womanhood in the infamous, leprous convict camps, its contentment with contorted views of religion and a propaganda of sectism, its gleeful delight in pulpit buffoonery and rasping raillery, mingled with disjointed quotations of Scripture profanely hurled out in vulgar appeals to the emotions and sensations, which demand the most cautious and prayerful treatment as spiritual diseases.

Where is there to be found a greater need for the sobering introspection of the real Gospel ? Where more than here the demands for dignity in worship, caution in condemnation, definiteness of aim and consistency of life, which the Church impresses upon the reason and conscience of mankind by her thorough, orderly, complete system of teaching all the fundamental verities and accessory graces of the religion of Jesus Christ?

An hour and a half (as last year) devoted to the cause of missions is short shrift of our deficiencies and scant courtesy to him who, in thought and planning, in travel and deprivation, bears the heaviest part of the burden; who must be blind indeed if he does not see the utter necessity, and deaf if he does not hear the cry for the true Bread, and dumb if he does not on this and every possible occasion let out his voice, shrill and clear, bidding Christ's chosen to come up to the help of the Lord against the mighty.

5. The division of the Diocese is a subsidiary question—the main issue being how to do the most and the best possible for us. It is a question surrounded with sentiment, but should not be settled by sentimentalism. I see no reason why, from every point of view, the subject may not be debated calmly, dispassionately, accurately. Let us simply ascertain whether we ought to divide, whether we can divide, and how, if so, it is best to divide for the independent strength and future progress of the two Dioceses created out of this, which is first in area and population and fourth in size of territory entrusted to one Bishop.

I shall be loath, when it becomes necessary, to sever any ties formed in my Episcopate, but I shall not allow any false pride, self-interest or private preference to prevail over my settled convictions of duty and ability.

Within the year past I have paid fifty-seven visits for confirmation, confirming four hundred and seventeen people. I have held two hundred and fifty services with seventy-five celebrations of the Holy Communion, and preached one hundred and forty-five times. I have made ninety-six separate visits to churches and missions, to seventy-three different points. I have baptized four children and two adults, have married two couples, buried three people, laid one corner-stone, consecrated one church, attended forty meetings, mailed one thousand three hundred and fifty letters and traveled twenty-two thousand miles. This record covers a space of really eight months, as I was absent from the Diocese from May 23d to October 1st, 1897.

And now, beloved brethren, let us pledge ourselves anew in the Sacrament of Love and Goodness to do whatever He bids us with all our might, and in mutual affection one toward another.

This report was read to the Board of Missions, and the undersigned, as Auditing Committee, have examined all vouchers and found the same correct.

H. O. JUDD,

A. G. P. DODGE, Jr.

Report of the Board of Missions.

SAVANNAH, GA., May 18, 1898.

The Board of Missions has, during the year just closed, held three meetings. At the last meeting, held May 17, 1898, at St. John's Church, Savannah, the annual report of the Treasurer of Diocesan Missions was presented, read to the Board and duly audited by a committee appointed for that purpose, who found the report clear and explicit, quite satisfactory, and the vouchers and accounts attached correct.

During the year, the Treasurer has paid on the debt to the Corporation $240.00, reducing that debt to $550.

The balance May 1, 1897, was.....	$ 112 62
Received from Parishes.....	3,107 00
Received from Mission Stations.....	2,315 55
Received from Offerings.....	660 77
Received from the Woman's Auxiliary.....	63 37

showing an increase from Mission stations which is very gratifying.

The amount from Parishes is nearly $2,000.00 less than in the year 1891, the amount from Mission stations about $2,000.00 more than in 1891.

The Board earnestly pleads that the parishes will increase their pledges and payments to at least the sum given in 1891, i. e., $4,744.00—say, practically, $5,000.00. The Mission stations, we feel, can be counted on giving $3,000.00 to $3,500.00, thereby enabling the Board to more thoroughly push the mission work in the Diocese.

The missionaries have all been paid up to April 1st, and many to May 1st, leaving still due about three-fourths of a month's stipend, which we hope will be paid by arrearages of this past year.

The Board heard read that portion of the Bishop's Annual Address on Missions, and especially asks to call your close attention to the same, and to make that portion of the Bishop's Address a part of their report.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. TREZEVANT, Secretary.

Your committee first of all would express gratification for and congratulate the Diocese on the satisfactory results evident in the Missionary work of the Diocese and the aggressive labors of the Bishop.

In the matter of offerings for this important work, while it is gratifying to note the increase in offerings from the Missionary stations of the Diocese, it is painfully noticeable that offerings from the self-supporting parishes have fallen off.

In regard to the appeal made in the Bishop's address for the assistance of the Rectors of parishes in presenting the cause of Missions, the Convention has already passed a resolution of commendation, and urged its immediate adoption. This committee would simply add their earnest plea that this appeal receive a prompt and general response. We feel convinced that what is most needed on the part of the people, in order to induce them to support more generously this Missionary work, is definite information. This cannot be imparted by printed reports, nor conveyed to the congregations by the delegates returning from the annual Convention, nor yet can it be presented with sufficient force and effect by the Rectors and Missionaries in their own fields of labor. If the Rectors of parishes can be induced to respond to the Bishop's appeal to give each a Sunday, let them go to the Mission stations as he shall designate and speak as special representatives of the cause of missions. Whenever practicable a layman should accompany the clergyman, and speak on the same question. At this service pledges could be made and collections taken up, the object being to obtain some offering from every baptized member of the Church. The more systematically this plan can be carried out, the better.

These recommendations evidently embody the suggestions contained in the Bishop's Address to the Convention, and also the essential features of the plan so successfully pursued in the Diocese of Chicago, referred to by the Bishop.

Respectfully submitted,

The work of the Home is a work of nurture and education. It is of necessity, therefore, a slow work. Little can be known of results from yearly reports taken separately. Only from a review of a period of years can the full fruits of the labor be known.

Let us, as we stand at the close of a quarter of a century of the Home's existence, look back and we shall be able to realize more fully what is being done, by what has been accomplished.

The Home was opened in 1870, under Sister Margaret, of lamented memory, with four little girls. Since that time one hundred and twenty-five children have found shelter under its roof.

As the children, received between the ages of three and ten, are kept until eighteen, many of them are consequently cared for from twelve to fifteen years, thus limiting the number of inmates for the sake of perfecting their training.

Of the number received, twenty-eight are now in the Home. Of the ninety-seven who have gone out into the world, thirty-five are known to have married, and of these the majority have done well. Of the remainder a large percentage are employed in some capacity whereby they are earning an honest livelihood. Some have died, and a small proportion have drifted out of our sight. The girls who have been reared in the Home have, as far as we have knowledge, generally proved devoted Churchwomen, and we are aware of only a single instance of a former inmate leaving the Church for one of the denominations.

We are still indebted to the Appleton Church Home Aid Society for its continued assistance, which materially lightens the weight of responsibility of the Home management, by opportune relief in times of pressure. May they long continue to flourish in their helpful labors.

From several branches of the Woman's Auxiliary, St. Paul's, Augusta, St. Luke's, Atlanta, St. James', Marietta, and St. Mark's, Brunswick, we have received contributions of ready-made clothes, and canned goods. Individual donations have been received both at Thanksgiving and at Christmas, for all of which we wish to express our deep sense of gratitude.

Dr. C. H. Hall and his estimable son, Dr. Kenan Hall, are unremitting in their services, now measured by many years. The professional services of Drs. Wright and Johnson (dentists), call for grateful recognition, as also the generous consideration of the Macon Water Company, who furnish the Home with water free of charge; and that of the proprietors of the Macon Telegraph for the donation of their valuable paper. Mrs.

Wells, by her continuance of instruction in vocal culture, has proved herself among those whose zeal does not early grow cold.

To Mr. Macdonald, Passenger Agent of the Georgia Southern & Florida Railroad, are we indebted for a most charming picnic, transportation free, to Beech Haven.

The children, from time to time, have been the recipients of other short but most agreeable outings, for which are all duly grateful.

The library has had some additions made to it, which we appreciate highly. The books Mr. Appleton gave to the Home when it was first opened have been faithfully used, but passing through children's hands for twenty-five years they show, more or less, the marks of service.

The health of the Home has been good, taken as a whole. Two children have been received this year, and two girls have gone out to earn their own support. The present number of inmates is thirty-one.

Your Trustee is gratified to be able to report that for two years last past he has been able to pay the full quota of the Diocese to the University. He begs to express his appreciation of the kindness of the clergy and the vestries of the Diocese, in so cordially sustaining him in his efforts to make these payments. The amount of money yet due for the current year is sufficient to make it almost certain that the full quota will be paid again this year. Those parishes which have not yet paid are especially urged to do so, in order that this most desirable end may be attained.

Your Trustee respectfully asks that resolutions similar to those adopted last year be passed at this Convention, as found on page 41 of the Journal, 1897. Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK F. REESE.

Report of the Committee on the University of the South.

(See page 45.)

The Committee on the University of the South beg to remind the Churchmen of Georgia of the urgent claims which this institution makes upon us. Founded in apostolic faith and zeal to be the chief center of religious education in our Southern Dioceses, and maintained through troublous times with much self-sacrifice, it ought to be dear to the heart of every Southern Churchman. Upon its growth and prosperity depends, in a large degree, the welfare of the Diocese of Georgia, because we are dependent upon it for the training, not only of our most intelligent laity but also of our candidates for Holy Orders. Unless its beneficent work is continued and enlarged we shall inevitably suffer at both these points.

Our contributions to the University are devoted entirely to the support of the Theological Department, in which our candidates for Orders are trained, without expense to the Diocese, and whose work is dependent upon contributions from our Southern Dioceses.

We would urge upon every parish and mission in the Diocese the duty of making an annual appropriation for the support of the great work. Within the past year twenty-two parishes and one organized mission have made contributions through the clerical trustee for the University of the South. We plead for a contribution from every parish and every mission within the coming year. We urge the vestries to include this item in their plans of parochial finance, and to see that it is paid. This is peculiarly a layman's work.

The report of the clerical trustee shows that within the past year our parishes and missions have contributed the sum of $510.02, as against $477.22, contributed last year, being an increase of $32.80 over last year's amount. We now owe $56.64 for the current year, whereas, at this time last year we owed $71.63. There has been paid in to the trustee since May 1st, $15.36, and there are apportionments now due and unpaid amounting to $173.98. If these are paid in between now and the first of August they will be amply sufficient to meet all our obligations to the University up to that date, amounting to $162.41.

We urge the prompt attention of the parishes which have not paid their full apportionments to this matter, and recommend the adoption of the following resolutions :

Resolved, That the Clerical Trustee of the University of the South be, and he is hereby, authorized to apportion among the parishes the $162.41 now due to the University from this Diocese, or so much thereof as may remain unpaid on August 1st, 1898, together with the $500.00 asked for, for the coming year.

2d. That the amount apportioned to the parishes shall be such a percentage on the basis used for the assessments for the support of the Episcopate as shall yield the required amount.

3d. That the Rectors and Vestries be, and they are hereby, requested to assume the apportionments upon their parishes, payable on or before May 1, 1899.

Reports which reach us from the University at Sewanee indicate that its condition and prospects are excellent. The number of students is steadily increasing, and the work which is being done by both professors and students is of the best character.

The loan of $30,000.00 and the gift of the materials for the erection of a new dormitory, made by the Society for the Promotion of the Interests of Church Colleges and Schools, will soon provide the University with a beautiful and commodious place of residence for its younger students. We believe that this will greatly increase the attractiveness of the University to parents who are seeking a safe place for the education of their sons, and largely multiply its powers of usefulness. We, therefore, commend this institution to the love and support of the Churchmen of Georgia, in the firm belief that every dollar which they may spend upon it will bring blessings a hundred fold upon our own Diocese and upon the Church at large.

Report of the Board of Trustees of the Weston School Fund.

The Trustees of the Weston School Fund beg leave to report.

Following the example set at a number of institutions in the country it is proposed to open in the city of Milledgeville a Church Hall for girls, to be known as the Bishop Elliott Hall. We desire at the outset to make provision for the board and lodging of from twenty to thirty girls, whose education will be received in the Georgia Normal and Industrial School, an institution which now numbers upwards of four hundred pupils, and every year declines a large number of applications for want of room. This institution is amply provided with a full corps of competent teachers in all departments, and is well equipped with apparatus, objects for art teaching, implements for industrial work and technical training, a good working library, and other requisites for a large and thorough literary and industrial school. Each year finds an increasing number of Church girls in residence, whom to bring together in family life with refining surroundings and influences is the object of this venture. Besides which, other girls might be taken on the same conditions, and reap the benefits of a complete Christian home life.

The house-mother who is to be in charge will be a Church-woman thoroughly recommended for character, refinement, executive ability in domestic affairs, and the faculty of governing and influencing young girls. The Priest in charge of S. Stephen's Church, Milledgeville, will be ex officio Chaplain, with certain specified duties, as well as the fulfillment of those ordinarily belonging to a pastor.

The duties of the house-mother would consist in the entire management and conduct of the home in subjection to the established rules of the institution itself with reference to hours, etc. She would be in all respects the manager, both as applying to the dietary, duties of the girls indoors, manners, care of rooms, provision of food, regulation of service, and in spiritual matters, such as Bible instruction classes, which she might be able to provide.

The work of the house would be done chiefly by the girls themselves. The care of their rooms, making of beds, mending of clothes, and such like matters, which in wealthy families might be delegated to special servants, would here be done by the girls themselves. A very limited number of servants would be required, and the board and lodging set at a minimum figure, $12.50 to $15.00 per month. Supplies can be had of the Commissary of the School at the wholesale prices paid by the Superintendent. The price paid by the girls would include everything except the washing.

The advantage of the system involved would be to bring into contact with a Church-woman of strong and sterling character and perfect refinement girls of various ages and grades, growing into womanhood, whose necessities do now and are likely to require their own immediate energy, sense and aptness. The conduct of the girls on the street, in church and society, and also at the home, would be embraced within the scope of the house-mother's duty.

The school session lasts about nine months. Some of the girls have occasional holidays, if they are able to take them at home, about Christmas and Easter. The vacation time is about three months, and the house-mother would be absolutely free from care, and would close her house if she so desired.

The beneficial outcome of such a scheme as is contemplated cannot be overestimated. We possess the assurance of the President of the institution of his hearty co-operation to make the plan a success. In lieu of a Church school of our own, fully equipped, and on account of the enormous expense and many difficulties attending a separate institution, this plan is the best that has been advanced, and may be worked up to a condition of very great value, not only to the children of Churchmen, but to others who may be associated under it. Untold influences for good may be expected to proceed from such a Hall. It should commend itself to the interest and sympathy not only of Churchmen, but as we are able to manifest the value and utility of the plan, to many others besides, with the result of increasing the present small endowment for the purpose and placing the Hall, named in memorial of the first Bishop of Georgia, a distinguished name and worthy of all reverence, upon a permanent foundation, and thus in some way to render honor to one, a large part of whose life was given and most of whose property was sacrificed to the noble ambition of training women in knowledge, virtue, Christian thought, gentleness and refinement; to whose splendid efforts there are at present many living witnesses in the Diocese of Georgia ready to testify to the great good accomplished during the time when Montpelier Institute was a factor in the civilizing tendencies of the State.

We herewith append, as a part of this report, the report of a committee of this Board, appointed to investigate the question of the establishment of such a Hall. They report :

"1. That they have conferred with Mr. J. Harris Chappell, President of the College, and that he has assured us that he will be glad to co-operate in every way possible in the establishment of the said Hall; that it can be affiliated with the institution and subject to its rules and supervision, pertaining to its own dormitories, as far as may be desirable; that its household supplies can be purchased through the purchasing department of the College at wholesale prices; and that its prospectus can be printed in the Catalogue. Mr. Chappell also kindly furnished us with an estimate of the probable cost of equipping the house, based upon the prices paid by the College in fitting out a dormitory for one hundred and fifty girls. The estimate is for a house to accommodate, say, twenty girls. This includes furniture for five bed-rooms, four girls to the room, $210.00; dining-room, $120.00; kitchen, $110.00; study hall, including piano, $340; matron's room, hall, etc., $140.00; total, $920.00.

"2. We have also investigated the cost of renting or purchasing a suitable house. We have not been in a position to negotiate directly for either object, but have ascertained that such a house can be bought for from $2,500.00 to $3,000.00, or rented for $25.00 per month.

"3. We have not made any inquiries as to securing a person, or ascertaining the cost of such, to take charge as house-mother, as we have considered that that matter was properly in the hands of the Bishop.

"4. To maintain the proposed Hall we would have the income from the fund held by the Trustees, amounting to about $290.00 per annum; and, in addition, the money received for the board of the pupils. In the college dormitories the board is charged for at cost, and amounts to about $10.00 a month, including board, fuel, lights and washing. The girls attend to their own rooms, and serve and wait at the table in turn. In private boarding houses for college girls, the charge is $12.50 a month, and $1.00 for washing, the girls attending only to their rooms. Twenty girls at $12.50 a month for nine months would yield $2,250.00, which, with the interest from the fund, would give an income of $2,540.00, for the nine months of the school year, for the salary of the house-mother, rent and maintenance. We are not able to say yet what the salary of a suitable person would be as house-mother; nor are we able to say, positively, whether the institution would be self-supporting at these figures. Further investigation will be necessary to establish these points. There are, however, it may be said, a number of private boarding houses which take pupils of the college at these prices, and as they have continued to do so for a number of years, they presumably are profitable.

"We beg, therefore, to conclude by calling attention to these facts: In order to establish the proposed Hall it will require—

"1. Say $900.00 for equipment.

"2. A suitable person to take charge as house-mother.

"3. The securing of a proper house for the purpose.

"We have not felt able or justified to take any steps toward securing the needed funds. We recommend that the matter be brought to the attention of the Convention in such a way as to commend the project to the favorable consideration of Churchmen throughout the Diocese. We recommend that the matter be brought, also, to the attention of the Woman's Auxiliary at its meeting to-morrow, requesting their co-operation in an effort to establish this Hall. For the much desired end sought to be accomplished, as well as a most appropriate memorial to the first great Bishop of Georgia, it is hoped that the scheme will receive their cordial approval and assistance.

"The selection of the house-mother, we have already said, we leave to the Bishop.

"As to the securing of a house, we believe that, if the initial difficulty of raising the necessary money be overcome, this can easily be secured as soon as we can be in a position to make definite propositions looking to that end.

"We, therefore, recommend that the committee be continued with the Bishop as Chairman, to make further investigations, and to take such further steps as may be possible to secure the object desired."

All of which is respectfully submitted,

C. K. NELSON, Chairman,
W. H. TREZEVANT, Secretary,

3. Rev. Thomas Stafford being, indeed, canonically resident in this Diocese, and in good standing in the same, yet being neither "continuously exercising clerical functions in any existing parish," nor "for six months last past performing missionary duties under the direction of the Ecclesiastical Authority of this Diocese," is not entitled, by Article IV. of the Constitution, to a vote in the Convention; and being neither "engaged in the business of literary instruction," nor "disabled by reason of age or infirmity from exercising clerical functions," is not, by the same Article of the Constitution, entitled to a seat in this Convention.

4. All of this applies in the mind of the committee to the case of the Rev. E. H. Butler.

5. List of parishes entitled to representation in this Convention, as follows: Americus, Calvary; Atlanta, St. Philip's, St. Luke's, Incarnation; Augusta, St. Paul's, The Atonement, Good Shepherd; Brunswick, St. Mark's; Cave Spring, Good Shepherd; Cedartown, St. James'; Columbus, Trinity; Darien, St. Andrew's; Frederica, Christ Church; Griffin, St. George's; Macon, Christ Church, St. Paul's; Marietta, St. James'; Milledgeville, St. Stephen's; Savannah, Christ Church, St. John's, St. Paul's, and Thomasville, St. Thomas'. Second Report of the Committee on Claims to Seats.

The Committee on Claims to Seats in Convention, acting on the special case of Emmanuel Church, Athens, begs to report as follows:

The certificate of payment of Bishop's Salary and Convention Expenses appears to be in proper form, and it would seem that the delegates from this parish are entitled to seats in this Convention.

However, the Committee holds—

1st. That as Emmanuel Parish has continued in union with this Diocese, notwithstanding that it had no Rector for eight months during last year; and, as being in union with the Diocese, it expected to pay its usual share of the expenses of the same; and

2d. That as in estimating the amount of said expenses, the assessment should be based, not on an exception, but on the usual customs of the parish; and as this parish has paid $1,200.00 for Rector's salary both before and since the interval referred to, this Committee thinks that Emmanuel Parish should pay on the usual basis, and not on an exceptional one.

Thus the certificate of payment of Bishop's Salary and Convention Expenses, being based on the exception to the usual custom, your committee thinks that the certificate is not in proper form, and, consequently, the delegates from Emmanuel Parish, Athens, are not entitled to seats in this Convention.

Report of Committee on the State of the Church.

The task of your committee at this session is made both easy and gratifying by the very full and complete presentation of the business conditions of the Church in the Diocese.

From the Bishop's Address, the Archdeacon's Report, and the various reports of the Boards and Treasurers, together with the very exhaustive presentation of the subject of diocesan division by the appointed committee, serve to show a commendable spirit of activity and devotion, and also an encouraging condition of material interests throughout the Diocese. The exhibit of the Bishop's Address is that of untiring activity on his part, and of unusual improvement in development of the work of missions. The fact revealed that every parish and mission station in this Diocese is at present occupied and served is one worthy of grateful record, as remarkable as it is gratifying. The Bishop witnesses to the fact that the Diocese has probably never had a stronger or more earnest body of clergy than at the present, and that the older parishes are manifestly strengthening their stakes; he asserts his love for this body of clergy and people and their evident loyalty to him.

The Report of the Archdeacon of Atlanta shows a gratifying increase in church property and improvements, and of subscriptions throughout the broad field under his jurisdiction.

From the parochial reports we gather the following statistics: Number of baptisms for the year, 482; number of confirmations, 388

It is a commentary upon the fidelity of the clergy to the directions of this Convention that with but two or three exceptions that action requiring a reason to be given for omitting any of the offerings appointed by Convention has been wholly ignored. It is painful to record that such failures, especially of offerings to Domestic and Foreign Missions, are the rule through the Diocese.

The reports of the various Boards are gratifying. This is especially the case with that of the Treasurer of Diocesan Missions. The comparison in his report of stipends paid the missionaries, and the incidental expense of the work last year, and this is very favorable to the present, illustrates a principle of economy in having greater work done and less expense.

An analogous fact not easily explained, but on the whole encouraging, as indicating the vigor of mission life, is that while during the past seven years the missionary offerings of parishes have declined, those from the mission field have in a greater ratio increased.

The parochial contributions for the past year show a decline of $117.92, while those from missions are larger by $659.94.

As a result of a failure of a number of parishes to make good their arrearages, the Treasurer is embarrassed in meeting the demands from the missionary field, and in consequence the missionaries are incommoded by deferred payment of stipends. It is due the parishes that this painful fact should be made known, that they may be moved to make good these deficiencies. Arrearages if allowed to grow become an incubus.

Recognizing it to be the duty of the Church to supply her scattered children with ministrations, we would duly recognize and applaud her success in this matter in the recent past. In many places members of our fold, despairing of the Church's care, have strayed to other folds. There are, however, localities where a few have remained faithful, and to-day present a nucleus for successful missionary effort.

One of the most encouraging evidences of the courageous, progressive spirit of the Church in the Diocese is the entertainment and agitation of the proposition to divide the Diocese of Georgia. After an exhaustive investigation, the able committee presented to the Convention a proposed line of division, together with a scheme of assessment and plan of support after division. These plans have been adopted by the Convention, and consent of the parishes will be sought to the needful increase of assessment, the amount necessary being so moderate as to encourage the hope that consent will be had.

Following this, or in the same line of progress, is the proposed plan adopted at the missionary meeting of the Convention, whereby Rectors shall once a year, subject to the Bishop's direction, exchange places with missionaries, thereby bringing parishes and the mission field into closer touch and sympathy.

In conclusion, your committee would like in a suitable manner to recognize the labors of the diocesan branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, but we find ourselves restricted to the bare statement of moneys expended during the last year in the several Archdeaconries. These amounts are as follows :

Albany Archdeaconry	$ 124 95
Atlanta Archdeaconry	7,024 93
Augusta Archdeaconry	3,293 23
Macon Archdeaconry	2,319 41
Savannah Archdeaconry	3,009 54
Total	$ 15,771 06

Respectfully submitted,

ALLARD BARNWELL,

Chairman of Committee.

Report of the Archdeacon of Atlanta.

(See page 29.)

During the years 1897-8 the field of labor of the Archdeacon of Atlanta has been extended until it now embraces, practically, a large portion of the Diocese of Georgia. Notwithstanding this fact, through the co-operation of lay and clerical assistants, Church services in the various Missions have been sustained with systematic regularity. The financial condition of the country and the Diocese has not apparently improved. Collections for building purposes have been exceedingly difficult. Notwithstanding these hindrances the work has noticeably advanced during the year just passed.

The Cathedral Missions in and adjacent to Atlanta still enjoy the faithful service of the Rev. Allard Barnwell, assisted in a slight degree by the Rev. C. D. Franckel, late of St. Luke's Church, Atlanta. The Archdeacon gives them no attention, and they continue to be an independent charge.

The Archdeacon referred in his report of 1897 to a rectory enterprise which he had originated in the town of Washington, Ga. This new rectory is now entirely complete, is located in a handsome lot adjacent to the Church, is in great demand as a residence, and in the absence of a rector located in that field, will be a source of income to the Parish.

In 1897 the Archdeacon reported the building at Sparta still in process of erection, and directed attention to the financial difficulties in the way of this undertaking. Starting with a very modest plan, the original idea has been expanded by degrees until the present building, when complete, will be comparatively both handsome and commodious. The church is not yet entirely finished, although services have been held therein. It is believed that all difficulties are now practically surmounted, and that the building will shortly be consecrated, free from debt.

At Fort Valley the building, similarly delayed by financial weakness, may now be pronounced complete.

At Marshallville, a point contiguous to Fort Valley, and susceptible of advantageous grouping with that point, has been selected for the next building enterprise in that locality. We have secured a centrally located lot and will proceed to utilize it, possibly, during 1898-9.

At Dublin, after much delay, the Archdeacon has finally succeeded in securing a committee of active and interested laymen to prosecute the work. The lot has been long since secured, but the building proper has only begun within the last four months. It is rapidly approaching completion, and Dublin will shortly possess a new church of which, in dimensions, taste of design and equipment, the town need not be ashamed.

At Eatonton we were deprived of the lot which we supposed we had secured. Through the interest and co-operation of a prominent citizen of that town, a handsome location, differently situated, has, however, been secured. We hope the building may be erected during the year upon which we are now entering.

At Elberton we have failed to secure the site which we supposed to be donated at the time of our last report. Nothing has been done at Elberton in the shape of further building or organization during the year just passed.

At Hawkinsville (which has for some time been a charge of the Archdeaconry of Atlanta) the enterprise of the local Vestry has secured a handsome and commodious rectory, already built, just opposite the Church. This building will be a source of both revenue and convenience to this parish during all time to come.

The latest building enterprise has taken shape of late on Moreland Avenue, Edgewood, contiguous to the city of Atlanta. Although this point is within reach of the city churches by the use of the electric lines, the Archdeacon has been for some time profoundly impressed with the necessity of a church at that point. The enterprise, initiated by him about five months ago, has been rapidly pushed to completion. The first service was held by the Archdeacon in a small but massive stone structure at this point on the morning of last Sunday, the 15th of May.

It has been proved by the history of the Church throughout the world that the accumulation of property is essential to its ultimate prosperity. These additions to our mission property, therefore, valued at about $10,300.00 are peculiarly gratifying, as they represent the foundation of future development.

It has been a source of much distress to those engaged in pushing the mission work to note the somewhat critical attitude of prominent Churchmen in various parts of the Diocese of Georgia. This critical attitude has resulted, evidently, in not only diminishing the hearty sympathy which we think is our due, but also it has diminished the fund from which our work has been supported. The policy of the administration of this Diocese prior to 1891 was one of centralization. The multiplication of what was called "weak points" was carefully avoided. The results of this system must be evident to all who have studied the history of the Diocese of Georgia.

The system of group formation, now characteristic of the work of the present administration, is a method of late date. To those who are in-inclined to doubt the wisdom of this method we suggest a careful study of the field, both in its policy and in its results. In every instance where church buildings have been erected in towns adjacent to a central town, or simultaneously in a group of four or five adjacent towns, the work has been largely strengthened and the usefulness and efficiency of the local clergyman increased. Notwithstanding the large number of missions added to the field (they now number 45), the services are more regularly, systematically sustained than ever before in the history of the Diocese.

Taking warning from the previous experience of others, the Bishop has not committed the grave error of initiating a work in localities so isolated, weak and remote that the effort to sustain local ministration is a draft on diocesan energy and means without promise of adequate return. To those who may doubt this the Archdeacon suggests a review of the work reported since 1891 in conjunction with a map of the State.

In 1891 the strong parishes of the Diocese of Georgia contributed the sum of $4,744.00 for the missionary work of the State. In consequence, I think, of the somewhat critical attitude of influential clergy and laity, united with the financial depression of the times, this contribution, instead of being doubled, as it should have been, has been decreased nearly one-half. If it were not for the fact that these missions, which many have prophesied would be a source of weakness, have proved a source of great strength financially, the mission work of the Diocese would be practically almost suspended. It would surprise many of you to know that in 1898 these same missions, which in 1891 were contributing only $700 to our mission work, are now contributing nearly twice as much to their own field of labor as all of the strong parishes of the Diocese combined. The facts and figures speak for themselves.

We beg a close and careful investigation of the statements above referred to. If this statement appeals to the reason of our fellow Churchmen in the Diocese of Georgia, we think we have a right to ask and expect the earnest sympathy and generous support which the exigency of our missionary work demands.

Respectfully submitted,

W. M. WALTON,
Archdeacon of Atlanta.

To the Bishop and Convention of the Diocese of Georgia.

HISTORY OF THE MOVEMENT.

The only action found by this committee of record in the Journals on the subject of division is in the report of the Dean of Atlanta Convocation (Journal of '91, page 114), where it is stated that he was requested to ask the Convention to appoint a committee to consider the subject of the Division of the Diocese of Georgia; and to report to the next Convention. But the Journal shows no action on this report. From one of the Committee, the Rev. Mr. Dodge, we have learned that in 1885 the question of the Division of the Diocese came up for consideration during the episcopate of the Right Reverend John W. Beckwith, at which time the Rev. Mr. Dodge interested himself to arrange for a proper provision for the support of the episcopate in the Southern division, but the lines of the division, as proposed by Bishop Beckwith, were not acceptable, the subject matter was not discussed further or brought to the attention of the Convention. Thus the matter rested until the Convention of 1897. In his address to that Convention—Journal, p. 54—the Bishop states, among other things : “ If we cannot have increased episcopal supervision, one of two courses is unavoidable ; either to increase the interval between the visits, or sub-divide the work.” Bear in mind that his complaint is not that he works too much, but that he cannot do more. When this portion of the address was referred to the Committee on the State of the Church—Journal, p. 132—the statement was made that “ The American Church has committed itself to the policy of increased efficiency of the episcopate by the division and subdivision of the wide territory included in many of our States, and the question naturally arises in our minds if the Church in Florida can afford thus to divide, may it not be within the bounds of prudence, and in the line of progressive policy, for this larger and more populous and prosperous Diocese to face courageously the claim which the highest interest of the Church seemingly makes for an early division of her broad domain ? Evidence appears of the largely increased claims upon the time and energies of the Bishop in the increased mileage of travel, about 30,000 miles the past year ; in the number of visits to congregations, 96 ; and in confirmations holden, 79. The aggregate number of those presented for confirmation within the year is 506, of whom 211 were men and 295 were women. Other evidence of substantial progress, moving our hearts to profound gratitude, appears in the acquirement of Church property, in the consecration of eleven (11) new Churches and the opening of four (4) not consecrated, besides the speedy restoration of those demolished or injured by the cyclone." Upon the presentation of this report the Convention adopted the resolutions under which your committee were appointed and are now acting.

ATTITUDE OF THE BISHOP.

Your Committee desire, in the first place, to emphasize the attitude taken by the present Bishop of Georgia. It is, so far as we can express it, that the initiative of this movement began, as was proper, with the Bishop, but that he does not seek or urge it from any physical disability on his own part to perform the duties of the Diocese, but his attitude is, that he believes such a movement will tend to the growth and progress of the Church. His own words, in a letter to the Chairman of the Committee, were these: "Reviewing the origin of the subject, it lies, of course, with the hint which I let drop in my Convention address. My conviction is growing every year of the impossibility for one man to give to this great State the episcopal supervision and attention which it needs and ought to have, and which possessing, it ought to grow 50 per cent. instead of 25 per cent. per annum, but understand that I do not urge, but did feel, and feel now, that it was proper to open the subject by pointing out how totally inadequate my labors are to the needs of the situation."

His position is still more clearly stated in a letter to a member of the Committee, dated December 15, 1897.

"I do not recall how clearly I have stated my position in the matter to you, but it amounts to this: The conviction of the great advantage to the Diocese of having two Bishops, one in each half of the State, so to speak; second, my belief that the means can be secured; third, my objection to an assistant Bishop on principle and in practice; fourth, the extreme probability of the passage of a canon in the General Convention not later than 1900, which would obstruct our dividing for probably eighteen or twenty years, because the animus is very clear to increase the number of self-supporting parishes in each Diocese for the purpose of division."

WORK OF THE COMMITTEE.

Immediately after the adjournment of the last Convention, the Committee received from the Bishop notes of relevant matter on the division, in which, stating his position, he said, that having suggested the need of increased episcopal supervision, he was willing for the division of the Diocese to take place if the Convention wished it, and the details could be satisfactorily arranged. Immediately the work of investigation and study upon various matters connected with so large a subject was divided among the different members of the Committee, and during the last year they have given careful thought to the various matters presented in this report. One of the Committee made an application to the Secretary of the General Convention for information, and was advised that there was no special form and memorial to the Convention respecting the division of the Diocese. It should be drawn up in a form to suit those preparing it, but was to be accompanied by necessary documents to show that the Diocesan Convention and the Bishop had given their consent, with evidence of a suitable provision. That so far as known the General Convention had never expressed an opinion as to the meaning of the words "suitable provision." He states that at one time he understood the House of Bishops would not give their consent to a Diocesan division, unless the funds for the new Diocese were at least $40,000.00, but that was years ago, and he does not think this opinion reasonable now, and it would be unreasonable to make the amount arbitrary.

Whilst correspondence was had, and careful investigation made by the members of the Committee, no meeting was called until January 3, 1898, at Savannah, Ga.; but no quorum being present, an adjournment was had and another meeting called to take place in Atlanta on January 18th. A majority were present at this meeting, and a conference had with the Bishop. The work of the several members of the Committee was discussed, and further investigation was apportioned among them. The Rev. Mr. McCormick, having resigned from the Committee, on account of having accepted a call to the Diocese of Michigan, his place was filled by the Rev. Mr. Knight, and the Committee adjourned to meet in Savannah on the day preceding the Convention. Such a meeting was held on last Tuesday night, and this report in its final form prepared.

ALTERNATIVES OF PROCEDURE.

The first question comes up whether or not the division of territory with a Missionary Bishop, the election of a Bishop Coadjutor, or the Division of the Diocese so as to have two Bishops is the wisest or the best course. Your Committee were informed that the Bishop does not wish a Bishop Coadjutor. The form of Georgia is such that we cannot well carve out from it territory for a missionary jurisdiction, so that your Committee have come to the consideration of the last mode.

MODE OF PROCEDURE.

By Article 5 of the Constitution of 1789, as it now appears of force, it provides that no new Diocese shall be formed or erected within the limits of any other Diocese unless with the consent of the Bishop or the Convention of the Diocese, as well as of the General Convention, and such consent shall not be given by the General Convention until it has satisfactory assurance of a suitable provision for the support of a Bishop in the contemplated new Diocese. No such new Diocese shall be formed which shall contain less than six parishes or less than six presbyters, who have been for at least one year canonically resident within the bounds of such new Diocese, regularly settled in the parish or congregation, and qualified to vote for the Bishop, nor shall such new Diocese be formed if thereby any existing Diocese be so reduced as to contain less than twelve parishes or less than twelve presbyters who have been residing therein, and settled and qualified as above mentioned. From these constitutional and canonical requirements it appears: (a) That what is a suitable provision is governed by the facts of each application, and (b) there must be left more parishes in the mother Diocese than are required in the new one; that is to say, twelve in the old, six in the new; (c) that a resolution should be adopted to authorize the division, and application made to the next General Convention to carry it out, appointing the delegates chosen at the next Convention of this Diocese as a committee vested with power to act.

In the opinion of the Committee this Diocese is of such extent, and the weight and responsibility of its administration so great, that it should be divided in conformity to these constitutional requirements, if a line of division can be agreed upon in the Convention, and proper provision made for the support of the new episcopate.

MISSIONARY CHARACTER AND WORK OF THE DIOCESE OF GEORGIA.

Since the need for a division of the Diocese of Georgia, in the opinion of the Bishop and this Committee, rests upon the extent and missionary character of the work, we beg leave to refer to certain data. When the Diocese was without a Bishop, and circulars were issued by the Standing Committee asking the canonical consent to the election of Bishop Talbot, it was stated—Journal of '92, p. 143—: "though the Diocese has had an existence of sixty years, nevertheless the State of Georgia is now as truly a missionary field for the Church as many of those portions of the country technically known as missionary jurisdictions. The population of the State is about 2,000,000. The communicants of the Church number about 5,500, most of whom are included in the parishes of the larger cities. In nearly 100 of the 137 counties in the State, the Church is absolutely unrepresented."

DIOCESAN STATISTICS.

These statistics cover a period of five years, the period of the Bishop's Episcopate, from 1892 to the Convention of 1897, when the suggestion of division came from him.

SUGGESTED LINES OF DIVISION.

Five lines for the division of the Diocese have been suggested.

I. THE BISHOP'S LINE.

It may generally be described as a line leaving the Savannah river, south of Lincoln county, running in a southwestern direction, with Washington, Greenesboro, Eatonton to the north of it, striking south of Macon, leaving Macon to the north of it; thence running irregularly to the southwest, leaving Americus to the south of it and Albany to the north, striking the Chattahoochee river north of Decatur county. It is an irregular line, chiefly based upon the relative strength and equality of parishes and communicants upon both sides of it. No statistics of this line were furnished us except in regard to parishes. We have, therefore, supplied them as follows:

	N. W.	S. E.

II. DEAN KNIGHT'S LINE.

Leaves Savannah river at a point north of Columbia, with McDuffie, Warren, Glascock, Washington, Wilkinson, Twiggs, Houston, Dooly, Worth, Mitchell and Decatur counties to the south of it. Its important difference from the former line is with reference to Bibb county, which is left undecided. Statistics of this line are (leaving Bibb to the north):

III. MR. MILLER'S LINE.

Known among lawyers as the Federal Line. Leaves the Savannah river at the same point as the above two; takes the southern border of Lincoln, Wilkes, Taliaferro, Greene, Putnam, Jones, Monroe (leaving Macon to the south), Upson, Talbot, Muscogee, leaving Columbus to the north. Statistics are as follows:

IV. MR. DODGE'S FIRST LINE.

Leaves the Savannah River one county further north than any of the above lines, the point of departure preferred at first by the Bishop; runs along the northern lines of Wilkes, Warren, Washington, Laurens (leaving Macon to the north), Pulaski, Dooley, Sumter, (leaving Americus to the south), Webster and Stewart, striking the Chattahoochee very near the Federal Line. V. MR. DODGE'S SECOND LINE.

Identical with the first line from the Chattahoochee to the north line of Laurens county, thence strikes east, following the northern lines of Johnson, Emanuel and Screven counties, striking the Savannah river four counties below his first line, leaving Augusta and Macon to the north. SUPPORT OF THE EPISCOPATE.

Commenting upon his first line of division, Mr. Dodge says: " This division would very fairly divide the Diocese as regards financial strength, and, allowing for the probable near future, it would also be a fair division of the communicants and parishes. In area the Southern would be the greater, in population the Northern Diocese would greatly exceed its sister.

" As regards the support of the work of these two proposed dioceses, it might be suggested that the following scheme be adopted :

	N. W.	S. E.
Episcopal fund (one-half to each).....	$ 900 00	$ 900 00
$1 from each communicant of a parish.....	2,732 00	2,757 00
50c from each communicant of a mission.....	256 00	513 50
	$ 3,888 00	$4,170 50

"As the Southeastern Diocese need not expend over $3,800, if the new diocese, it would not, in that event, need any larger endowment. But the Northwestern Diocese would be obliged to raise about $10,000.00 additional. The converse of above is of course also true."

Commenting upon this plan, your Committee would state that the assessment upon the Northwest Diocese would be increased from $1,721.41 to $2,988.00, or $1,266.59 increased assessments, about $1,000.00 of which would fall upon the parishes. The assessment upon the Southeastern Diocese would have to be increased from $2,134.56 to $3,270.50, an increase of $1,135.94, about $600.00 of which would fall upon the parishes. If the parishes agreed to this increased assessment, the use of the entire "Fund for the Support of the Episcopate" could, for ten years, be given to the Diocese having the largest expense of the episcopate.

Commenting upon his second plan, Mr. Dodge says: "Under this plan the North would remain the old diocese, and with $5,000.00 raised in the southern end, we could get along."

	N. W.	S. E.

Expenses would be—	$ 4,629 50	$3,429 00
	N. W.	S. E.

PROPOSED LINE.

After a long and careful study of all the suggested lines of division, your Committee were of the opinion that (in the event of the division of the diocese), the most feasible line of demarkation would be the northern and western boundaries of the counties of Columbia, McDuffie, Warren, Glascock, Washington, Wilkinson, Twiggs, Bibb, Houston, Dooley, Worth, Mitchell and Decatur, leaving Macon and Augusta in the Southeastern Diocese.

Such a line would make an almost equal division of territory. As regards financial strength it would be an uneven division, but the inequality could be remedied, as suggested at a later point in our report. The statistics are as follows :

	N. W.	S. E.
Population.....	1,181,016	656,337
Area.....	28,778	30,202
	<hr/>	<hr/>
Parishes.....	14	13
Organized Missions.....	28	36
Unorganized Missions	10	16
	<hr/>	<hr/>
Total points.....	52	65

Assessment, Bishop's salary, 1897.....	$ 1,357 16	$2,498 81
Communicants, Parishes	2,480	3,009
" Missions.....	439	1,100
Total	2,919	4,109

The expense of the support of the Episcopate is reckoned at $3,450.00 for the Southeastern (exclusive of traveling expenses), and $4,450.00 for the Northwestern Diocese.

We believe that these amounts could be readily obtained, if the attempt is seriously made to do so, by raising subscriptions for the purpose of increasing the invested funds of the Diocese, or even without any great increase therein by an addition to the assessments of the parishes and an equitable assessment upon the organized mission stations. The largest assessments under this plan would be lower than the amounts raised for the purpose in the parishes under our old canon.

In the Northwestern Diocese, should that be chosen by the present Bishop, we propose to raise the salary (and life insurance) of the Bishop by applying—

First, the entire income of the present Episcopal Fund.....	$ 1,800 00
Second, an assessment upon the parishes which will equal in the aggregate $1.00 per head of the communicants.....	2,480 00
Third, a like assessment of 50c on missions	219 50
	$ 4,499 50

In this event, these fourteen parishes will have to carry among them $1,000 per annum, which should present no great difficulty.

In the Southeastern Diocese we propose to raise the salary (and life insurance) of the Bishop by—

First, assessment on parishes as above	$ 3,009 00
Second, assessment on missions as above.....	550 00
	$ 3,559 00

The assessment upon the parishes would be increased some $500.00, but as we could count on only one-half of the mission assessments as secure, it might rise to $800.00.

No grave difficulty was found in raising an assessment of one dollar per head for the Bishop's salary, and twenty-five cents for Convention expenses in the many years in which this was the custom. Nor do we believe we would find it difficult in the future. The growth in invested funds and in the number of communicants, which would be sure to follow a division, would operate to steadily reduce even this slight burden.

COMPARISON WITH OTHER DIOCESES.

The feasibility and propriety of the division of the Diocese of Georgia will more fully appear when we compare it with other Dioceses, especially those which have been lately created. A table has been prepared by one member of the Committee, which we now insert, as follows :

NAME.	Area.	Population	Par. and O. M.	Total Points.	Communi- cants.

a. [Note on above. Have used the best statistics available. None of our Church Almanacs agree with each other or the United States census in population or area, and the same is true of their other statistics. Whittaker's comes nearest to agreeing with the census, and where that is no assistance I have taken his figures, except one case, Easton, where he has left out the unorganized missions.]

b. [Note on all Georgia statistics an increase of 77 Communicants over last tabulated statement of the Secretary, which omits as unreturned five points.]

The Northwestern Diocese of Georgia would exceed five of the above in communicants, eleven in population, eight in area, and seven in total points covered.

The Southeastern Diocese of Georgia would exceed all these in communicants, nine in population, eight in area, and nine in points covered, also would exceed in communicants, and in most other points Fond du Lac, Maine, Springfield, and West Virginia, and would come within a hundred of equalling Los Angeles and North Carolina.

We note among the Dioceses named the following, which have been very recently admitted :

DALLAS—Exceeded by both the proposed Dioceses in communicants, parishes, etc.

LEXINGTON—Of which the same is true.

MARQUETTE—Exceeded by both on every point of comparison given above.

OREGON—Exceeded by both in every point except area.

FUNDS OF THE DIOCESE

In the investigation made by the Committee we find :

1. Funds for the Support of the Episcopate.—In 1841, (Journal, p. 22) a resolution was adopted to raise money for the support of the episcopate. This resolution was repealed May 8, 1856 (Journal, p. 21), and a new mode of collection, by a standing resolution, was established.

there being annually elected a treasurer of this fund. Under this resolution collections were annually taken up for this purpose. The fund was raised in this way, save and excepting a legacy under the will of Mrs. Mary G. Harrison (Journal, 1876, p. 36). It was subsequently, by resolution of the Convention, May 5, 1880, (Journal, p. 30) turned over to the Diocesan corporation, who now have the same in charge. The last report respecting this fund (Journal, 1897, p. 97) shows the amount to be $26,867.14.

2. Widows' and Orphans' Fund.—In the Bishop's address, May, 1851, (Journal, p. 11) it is stated that Ralph Elliott, by his will, left a legacy of $1,000 for the support of the widows and orphans of deceased clergy. A resolution was passed to take up a collection, and the wardens and vestrymen of Christ Church, Savannah, were to be trustees. They were so appointed by order of the Chatham Superior Court, August, 1857. They accepted the appointment February 14, 1858, and held the office until February 2, 1888, when they resigned, and the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Georgia, in its corporate capacity, was appointed to administer the fund pursuant to resolution, (Journal, 1879, p. 31) and reported to the Convention (Journal, 1882, p. 21). This fund was annually increased by collections ordered by the canon. In addition to the legacy of Mr. Elliott, there was one under the will of Mrs. Harrison (Journal, 1876, p. 36), which was given to the wardens of Christ Church, the within trustees. The last report on this subject (Journal, 1897, p. 97) shows that the fund consists of $33,032.46 in the hands of the corporation.

Your committee are of the opinion, in the event of a division of the Diocese according to the line proposed, that the funds for the widows and orphans, and infirm and disabled clergy, should be equally divided between the old and the new Diocese, and that the fund for the support of the episcopate be given entirely to the new Diocese.

3. Property of the Diocese.—Everything held under the order of incorporation of the Diocese is for the benefit of some trust, that is to say, not to be distributed for the benefit of the Diocese generally. The Bishop of the Diocese holds title under a deed from Mitchell to a lot in the city of Atlanta in trust for the Diocese, but this has been authorized to be used for cathedral and other purposes (see Journal '97, pages 40 and 48). On the 11th day of May, 1897, Journal 24, the officers of the Diocesan corporation reported that a trust had been created under a deed from the Rev. A. G. P. Dodge, Jr., for the support and maintenance of missions and teachers for certain counties therein named, and in the southeastern portion of the State, which trust was subsequently accepted by the Diocesan corporation. Under this deed is reserved the life disbursements to Mr. Dodge of the property therein set forth, with the power to change the investments, but at his death is to be controlled by the Diocesan corporation and administered for the benefit of the trust, with the proviso that in the event of the division of the Diocese the fund shall go to that portion of the same in which the parish of Frederica is located, the Bishop of the new Diocese to act as trustee until a new Diocesan corporation is formed. The last report made by Mr. Dodge as such trustee (Journal '97, pages 124 to 125) shows that the fund is now $48,053.58. Your committee are of the opinion that as the southern portion of the State will continue to be benefited in the support of its missionaries by the use of the income from the fund now held by the Rev. Mr. Dodge, and to such an extent relieve the parishes from assessments for Diocesan missions, the Diocesan corporation and the Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia be authorized to release and acquit to the new Diocese all interest whatever remaining in what is known as St. Philip's Church lot, now being used as a pro-cathedral.

NAMES OF THE TWO DIOCESES.

Your committee find that in a number of instances lately where the Diocese is divided, particularly when it bears the name of the State, that the name of the largest city in that portion of the Diocese which is cut off by the division is given to it, and that, conforming to this practice, your committee are of the opinion that the new Diocese should be called the Diocese of Atlanta, while the old Diocese reserves the name of the Diocese of Georgia.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, the committee present to the Bishop and Convention the results of their study and investigation during the past year. From their own experience of the time and thought necessary to gather the large mass of facts and figures contained in this report, they would not insult the intelligence of the Convention by believing that you are ready at this time to vote intelligently upon so important a question, nor do they think that the question has been sufficiently agitated in the parishes of the Diocese. They therefore submit these three resolutions:

1. That this report be received as information and printed in the Journal, and also that 1,000 copies be immediately printed and sent to every clergyman in the Diocese, with the request that he distribute the same among his congregation.

2. That a committee of five be appointed to carry into effect the previous resolution; to ascertain from the vestries of the several parishes whether they will accept the increased assessment necessary to secure the division of the Diocese; to ascertain from the organized missions of the Diocese whether they will accept small assessments for the support of the Bishop in view of the fact that, under the new Constitution, they are entitled to representation in the Convention; and to obtain pledges for the Permanent Fund for the Support of the Episcopate.

3. That if the results obtained by this committee are, in their judgment, sufficient to warrant further action, the Bishop be authorized to call a special session of this Convention before the meeting of the next General Convention in October, to take final action in the premises.

Report of the Committee on Sunday School Lessons.

(See page 34, 46.)

Your committee begs to report that it is not yet quite sure for what purpose it was appointed. A similar committee has reported to each of the last two Conventions; both reports were very interesting, and in a way helpful, yet they were along entirely different lines and neither was productive of any practical results.

Is it the desire of this Convention to adopt a uniform system of instruction for all the Sunday Schools in the Diocese?

Is the Committee on Uniform Scheme of Sunday School Lessons expected to compile such a system or to recommend for use in this Diocese one of the many systems to be had from any Church publisher?

Your committee begs to report that it has written a personal letter to a clergyman in each Diocese and Missionary jurisdiction in the United States (except Georgia and Alaska), asking if they had a uniform scheme of instruction in their Sunday Schools, if so, what, and what effect it had in arousing the interest of the children and imparting sound churchly teaching. Your committee received answers from 67 Dioceses and Jurisdictions, and of this number not one reported a uniform system in all schools.

Fifty-one reported no system at all, and sixteen reported that some one system was largely in use, though not "uniform." For example, the Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania has taken no action in the matter of uniform lessons, though the Diocese has a Sunday School Institute, and devotes much time and attention to this branch of the Church's work.

Your committee has carefully examined and compared several of the most popular manuals and systems of instruction, most of them good in a way, yet we are unwilling to recommend any of them as suitable for all the schools in the Diocese. We do not believe such a system exists; if it does, we have been unable to find it by diligent search.

Of course all schools should have graded lessons, and all grades should, as far as possible, study along the same general lines in order to facilitate catechising.

The course of instruction should be upon the Church Catechism (the one uniform system), the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments, and all other things which a Christian ought to know and believe to his soul's health. Our children should be carefully instructed upon all those matters in which the Church differs from the various religious bodies about her in doctrine, discipline and worship. This teaching, to be effective, must be clear, Churchly and authoritative. It must be given by those who have, and can give, a reason for the faith that is in them. In order to have such teachers, there should be a class of instruction for teachers conducted by the Rector or by some thoroughly competent person appointed by him for the purpose.

Your committee would suggest that the trouble with our Sunday Schools seems to be not so much the want of a Uniform Scheme of Instruction for the whole Diocese as the want of any system, any order, any plan, any conscientious, intelligent effort to instruct the children of the Church in the truths of our most holy religion.

Your committee would further suggest that this condition of things might be improved by having the clergy of the Diocese, in their report to the Convention, state what system (or lack of system) is used in the Sunday Schools under their care.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

(See page 26.)

The work so far has been to give mixed audiences, wherever they could be gathered in churches, halls and homes, plain talks on the following subjects: "Difference Between a Home and a Dwelling-house," "Bedrooms," "Clothing," "Kitchen," "Education," "Husbands," "Children," "Manners," and "Thrift." Some visiting in their homes has also been done.

This work was begun in Atlanta, August 31, 1897, and continued there to November 24. During that time 36 addresses were given—11 in homes, the others in churches and halls. In one place only was the whole series given. Total attendance, 991; average attendance, 27.

The work in Savannah continued from November 30 to February 18. Fifty-two addresses were made, also ten talks to children in the schools. Total attendance, 1,690; average, 32. The attendance at the talks to children was not counted. The whole series was given at three places—Thunderbolt, East Savannah, and in the city.

On St. Simon's Island the first address was given March 14, and the last April 22, all given in churches. Attendance, 1,545; average, 55. The whole series was given at each place.

Miss Emery has interested several branches of the Woman's Auxiliary in the work, and they have sent generous donations of clothing, and help to make a dwelling-house more homelike. The ladies in Savannah have also been sympathetic and very helpful. One lady entertained me as guest for over a month, and others enabled me twice to secure refreshments. On St. Simon's Island I was not only entertained during the whole of my stay, but was furnished, free of charge, with horse and buggy to meet my appointments.

Though I have met with so much kindness, I cannot help thinking there be some who think the few dollars which are expended in carrying out this work might be spent to much greater advantage in other ways. I let those who think so stop a minute and consider the following facts:

us, we can't get rid of them ; if nothing is done to uplift them, they may become a dangerous as well as an annoying element. Thirty years have shown that their religion is not much more than animal excitement to the most of them ; it does nothing to correct morals or encourage decency. If the mothers and fathers of today are not led to reflect and to reform, the next generation is likely to be still worse. For selfish, if for no higher reasons, the white people in Georgia might well support our Bishop with their sympathy, their prayers and their money in his effort to convert these immoral and dirty homes which confront us on all sides into such homes as shall cause us neither fear nor shame.

I have written this appeal without our Bishop's knowledge, in the hope that the Convention, or individuals in it, may feel an interest in the work and make such an appropriation as shall enable him to place more workers in the field.

Respectfully submitted,

SR. MARY FRANCES.

Personal Reports.

1809 I STREET, N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
EASTER-TIDE, 1898.

The Rt. Rev., The Bishop of Georgia.

The Rev. J. H. H. Brown respectfully reports that during the past Conventional year, he has celebrated the Holy Communion twelve times, has officiated otherwise twenty-five times, and has preached or lectured fifteen times, chiefly in the Diocese of Washington, where he has made his residence for more than two years.

OPELIKA, ALA., May 17th, 1898.

DEAR BISHOP.—I have delayed writing you, hoping that I might be able to attend the meeting of our Convention, but now regret that I will not be able to do so. The greater part of my time has been spent at home, not being yet strong enough to engage in regular ministerial work. I have, however, in my official capacity performed some ministerial work. I am,

Yours very respectfully,

E. DENNISTON.

BEAUFORT, S. C., May 17th, 1898.

To the Bishop of Georgia :

RIGHT REV. AND DEAR BISHOP.—As I still belong to your Diocese, I feel that in courtesy I should make a report of the services I have held during the past year. Leaving Georgia the first of May 1897, and stopping along the way in St. Louis, Mo., in New Mexico and California, I took passage in the steamer Belgic at San Francisco on the 29th of May and reached Tientsin, China, on the 28th of June.

Of these twelve months four were spent in China and Japan, two months in travel, two months I was detained in St. Louis, Mo., by a severe illness, and I have been four months in Beaufort, S. C., officiating in the church here every Sunday. In my tourings I held service and preached in All Saints' Church, Tientsin, China, Gordon Hall, Tei Zai Ho, China, and in the Cathedral at Shanghai, China; also in San Francisco and San Jose, California, Albuquerque, New Mexico, and St. Louis, Mo.

Respectfully submitted,

W. L. GITHENS, Presbyter.

AUGUSTA, GA., May 16th, 1898.

Right Rev. C. K. Nelson, D. D., Bishop of Georgia :

DEAR BISHOP NELSON—The assembling of the delegates to the Diocesan Convention in St. John's Church, Savannah, at this time reminds me of the fact that they met there on May the 6th, 1858, forty years ago. And along with this circumstance, there is the more impressive fact, that of all the Clerical delegates there assembled, but two beside myself remain on the earth. Of the lay delegates, I think there are not more, if as many as six or seven still in the flesh. What a long list of worthy names I summon up from the past forty years as I write to-day. The number is so great that it fills me with amazement to think of it. Standing at the head of that long list as I now contemplate it, so far as the representatives of the Episcopal Church are concerned, is that of the first Bishop of Georgia—the warm-hearted and noble minded Stephen Elliott, a man to admire and a Bishop to revere. While he, with almost all the excellent men and women who surrounded him in St. John's Church in May, 1858, have passed away and are lost to the sight of our eyes and the touch of our hands, they still retain their places in our affectionate hearts, and we console ourselves in their absence with the assurance that each and all of them are beyond the reach of harm, and are enjoying an undisturbed happiness. May we meet them again, when this twilight of existence has yielded to the full and perfect day of life.

I regret being compelled to say that during the past year I have been unable to officiate in the public services of the Church, or to preach, except as I was permitted to do so, sitting in a chair. In that manner I read

Morning Prayer and preached on eight successive Sundays during last Fall while sojourning for health away from Augusta. It would give me great pleasure (were I off my crutches) to join the friends of the Church in St. John's at this time—where I might recall still more vividly the persons and the scenes in that beautiful temple of worship, which interested me so thoroughly a long while ago. Being denied that privilege, I wish for yourself and the members of the Convention entire peace and enjoyment during your session, and with much regard and fraternal sympathy,

Am, very sincerely, and respectfully yours,

SAMUEL L. LINKERTON.

Report of the Treasurer of the Diocese on the Assessments for Bishop's Salary, etc.

The Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Georgia, held in Savannah May 20th, 1898, having adopted a resolution proposed by Mr. H. C. Cunningham, authorizing the apportionment of money for support of Diocesan Missions (see page 31); and a resolution offered by Mr. Z. D. Harrison, approving the report of the Finance Committee, subject to corrections made by the Treasurer of the Diocese (see page 44); and a resolution providing that objections to assessments should be made within thirty days after the adjournment of the Convention (see page 54); the Treasurer reports that, in accordance with the authority given him under the aforementioned resolutions, he has, in answer to written objections protesting against the assessments made upon them by the Finance Committee, altered the assessments in the case of the following Parishes: Good Shepherd, Augusta, to $189.29 for Bishop's salary and $125.00 for Diocesan Missions; Christ Church, Macon, to $315.61 for Bishop's salary and $386.85 for Diocesan Missions; St. Paul's, Augusta, to $400.00 for Diocesan Missions; St. Paul's, Savannah, to $50.00 for Diocesan Missions; Christ Church, Savannah, to $549.35 for Bishop's salary and $671.43 for Diocesan Missions; St. John's, Savannah, to $468.09 for Bishop's salary and $572.15 for Diocesan Missions; St. Stephen's, Savannah, to $36.86 for Bishop's salary and $43.00 for Diocesan Missions; and Trinity Church, Columbus, to $190.87 for Bishop's salary and $233.29 for Diocesan Missions.

Keeping in view the fact that the Bishop's salary must be paid, $4,400.00 raised for Diocesan Missions, and that the Bishop and Board of Missions rely on this sum being paid in so as to carry on the Mission work of the Diocese, the Treasurer finds that, after allowing the various appeals above mentioned, the amount of 10 per cent. on the basis of assessment fixed by the Finance Committee will not yield the $4,400.00 required for Diocesan Missions, and it is therefore necessary to increase the rate 1 per cent.

REPORT OF TREASURER OF THE DIOCESE. 199

Annexed hereto is a table showing the assessment upon each Parish in the Diocese for Bishop's salary and Diocesan Missions, there being no changes in the assessments for Bishop's salary as made by the Finance Committee, except in the several instances above mentioned; and in reference to Diocesan Missions, the rate is increased from 10, 7 and 6 per cent., as fixed by the Finance Committee, to 11, 8 and 7 per cent.

There is, therefore, a slight change in the assessment on every Parish for Diocesan Missions, which will appear in the table hereto attached.

(For list of assessments as made by the Finance Committee, see page 128.)

W. K. MILLER,

June 25, 1898.

Treasurer, Diocese of Georgia.

NOTE.—The decrease in the Communion Alms, as reported, is caused partly by the failure of two or three parishes to report that item.

The large increase in the contributions for parochial objects is accounted for by the expenditures of two parishes for the restoration of churches partially destroyed by fire, the cost of which was largely met by the proceeds of fire insurance. The Secretary is of the opinion that, if this money were deducted as not properly designated as contributions, the amount of this item would be about the same as that reported last year.

The decrease in the contributions reported for Diocesan Missions is caused by deducting from the receipts of the Treasurer of Missions the sums of money, so far as they could be verified, paid by organized Missions for the support of the clergy ministering to them, and in most cases also reported by them as parochial expenses.

The number of church buildings reported this year has been furnished by the Bishop, and is exact. Last year's total of 85 was made up from the parochial reports, and is inexact. This explains the great apparent increase during the year in the number of new churches.

*Including interest on invested funds.

APPENDIX IV.

Constitution of the Diocese of Georgia.

ARTICLE I.

The Church in the Diocese of Georgia, as a constituent part of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, accedes to, recognizes and adopts the Constitution and Canons of that Church, and acknowledges the authority thereof.

ARTICLE II.

A Convention of this Church shall be held annually at such time and place as the previous Convention may have appointed; Provided, however, that no Convention shall be open for the transaction of business unless there be present at least five clergymen, and delegates from five congregations. In case of an epidemic, or for other sufficient cause, the Ecclesiastical Authority may change the time and place; and in case no Convention is formed, the standing officers of the last Convention shall hold their respective offices until their successors shall be appointed.

The Ecclesiastical Authority shall have power, when it appears requisite for the good of the Church, to call a special Convention by circular letter to all members of the Convention. There shall not be less than fifteen days' notice previous to the day appointed, and such meeting shall be holden where the authority calling it shall determine, and at such special Convention no other business shall be transacted than that stated in the notice calling the Convention.

ARTICLE III.

The Convention shall be composed of clergymen and laymen. Every clergyman in good standing, canonically resident in the Diocese, either regularly settled and continuously exercising clerical functions in any Parish, or who shall have been for six months last past performing missionary duties under the direction of the Ecclesiastical Authority of this Diocese, shall be entitled to the privileges of a member of the Convention; and every duly recognized minister of this Church, canonically residing for six months last past within the Diocese, being engaged in literary instruction, or disabled by reason of age or infirmity from exercising clerical functions, shall be entitled to all the privileges of a member of the Convention with the exception of a right to vote; Provided,

That no clergyman entitled to vote, shall, by reason of age or infirmity lose that privilege. Every self-supporting congregation in union with this Convention shall be entitled to three lay delegates, communicants of the Church, to be chosen from its body by the Wardens and Vestrymen thereof. The Cathedral Church shall be entitled to three lay delegates, communicants of the Church, to be chosen by the congregation thereof. Every Organized Mission shall be entitled to one such delegate, elected by the congregation thereof.

ARTICLE IV.

Every Convention shall be opened with the celebration of the Holy Communion and a sermon delivered by the Bishop, or by a preacher appointed by the Ecclesiastical Authority. The Bishop shall preside in the Convention. In case of the absence of the Bishop, or of a vacancy in the Episcopate, the Convention shall elect a President pro tempore from among the clergy. The Convention shall elect annually a Secretary, a Treasurer, a Chancellor and a Registrar, and such other officers as may be necessary, who shall continue in office until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

ARTICLE V.

New Parishes may be admitted into union with the Convention by a majority of its votes; Provided, That they shall have laid before the Convention written evidence, subscribed by the Wardens, that they accede to the Constitution and Canons of this Church, are regularly organized by the election of two Wardens and any number of Vestrymen, at discretion, not exceeding eight, and present evidence satisfactory to the Convention of their ability to maintain the worship of the Church and to support its Rector.

ARTICLE VI.

The Convention shall deliberate and act as one body, unless a vote by Orders be required by one clergyman and two laymen, in which case each clerical member shall be entitled to one vote, the lay delegates of each congregation jointly to one vote, and the lay delegate from each Organized Mission to one-third of a vote; and a majority of each Order shall be necessary to a decision.

ARTICLE VII.

A Standing Committee shall be chosen at each annual meeting of the Convention, to consist of three clerical and three lay members, of the time and place of whose meetings due notice, in writing, shall be given to all members at least one week before the time of such meeting; Provided, however, That by unanimous consent a meeting may, at any time, be held without such notice. Four members shall constitute a quorum. The Standing Committee shall meet as soon as practicable after their election, and choose a President and Secretary from their own number; and it shall be the duty of the President to call a meeting of the committee, whenever he shall be requested to do so, by any three members of the committee. Vacancies in this committee, caused by death, resignation or otherwise, shall be supplied by the suffrages of the members remaining.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Convention shall triennially, at the session immediately preceding the meeting of the General Convention, elect four clergymen of this Diocese and four laymen, who shall be communicants of the Church, resident in this Diocese, as Deputies to the General Convention. Such Deputies shall be furnished with a certificate of their election, signed by the Secretary of the Convention. The deputies so elected shall be authorized to represent the Diocese in that or any special Convention till their successors are chosen. The Convention shall, at the same time and in the same manner, elect four clergymen and four laymen, with like qualifications, as alternates.

ARTICLE IX.

The election of a Bishop of this Diocese shall be made at an annual Convention, or at a special meeting of the same, called for that purpose at least sixty days before the time of its meeting, the object being stated by notice in writing, and sent by the Secretary of the Standing Committee to all members of the Convention. The election shall be by concurrent vote by ballot of the clergy and laity, a majority of each Order being necessary to an election.

ARTICLE X.

ARTICLE XI.

Whenever any Parish shall be without a Rector for twelve months, or shall for one year fail to elect a Vestry, unless the reasons for these failures are satisfactory to the Bishop, he shall report the fact to the Convention, and if, at the next succeeding Convention, such Parish shall not be in charge of a duly elected Rector, its union with the Convention may, by resolution, be terminated, and the Parish be remitted to the condition of an Organized Mission.

ARTICLE XII.

A proposition for amending this Constitution shall be introduced in writing and acted on by the Convention, and, if adopted by the Convention at which proposed, the same shall be presented to the next regular Convention; and, if adopted at that Convention, the Constitution shall stand amended as adopted by the two said Conventions.

He shall also record in a suitable book the consecrations of the Bishops of this Diocese, with as full particulars as possible, also a list of the priests and deacons, the dates of their connection with the Diocese and official positions held by them. He shall have the right to make certified copies of any record in his charge, and shall make annual reports to the Convention.

SEC. 2. The Bishop may, as provided by law, suspend any clergyman against whom proceedings are instituted under this Canon from the exercise of his official duties pending the trial.

CANON XXIX.

INSTITUTING THE MODE OF TRYING PRESBYTERS AND DEACONS.

SECTION 1. Whenever the Standing Committee shall receive reliable and trustworthy information that a Clergyman of this Diocese has committed an offense within the offenses enumerated in Canon I., Section 5, and Canon II., Section 1, Title II, of the Digest of Canons of the General Convention, it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee to investigate as to the truth of such information pursuant to Title II., Canon I., Section 5, and Title II., Canon II., Section 2, of the Digest of Canons of the General Convention.

If, after investigation, it appears that reasonable grounds exist for believing that such information is true, they shall present the charge to the Bishop in the following form:

"To the Right Reverend A B, Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia:

"The Standing Committee of this Diocese respectfully present that C. D. has been accused upon reliable and trustworthy information, [here recite the mode, manner, charge or charges] and the committee are of the opinion that there are sufficient grounds for presenting the said C. D. for trial, agreeable to the Canon in such cases made and provided."
[Signed by the Standing Committee.]

The offense of which the accused is alleged to be guilty shall be specified with reasonable certainty as to the time, place and circumstances, and shall be held and deemed sufficiently correct when it states the offense so plainly that its nature may be easily understood. No presentment shall be entertained in any case for an offense alleged to have been committed more than three years before the date of the presentment.

SEC. 2. Upon the receipt of the foregoing presentment, the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop, the clerical members of the Standing Committee, if he or they shall find that the facts charged do not constitute an offense, he or they may dismiss it in whole or in part; but if he or they, acting as aforesaid, shall deem it expedient to proceed with the trial of the case, the said Bishop or said clerical members of the Standing Committee, in the event there be no Bishop, shall make, or cause to be made, a list of all Presbyters residing in the Diocese, and entitled to seats in the Convention, excepting the accused person, the accuser and the clerical members of the Standing Committee. He or they shall then summon the accused and the President of the Standing Committee to attend, at a time and place to be named in the summons, for the purpose of reducing the said list to five, the President of the Standing Committee and the accused striking off the names alternately, the President of the Standing Committee having the first strike. Service of the said summons and of all notices or citations in the progress of the proceedings shall be pursuant to Title II., Canon I., Section 3, of the Digest of Canons of the General Convention.

Should the accused fail to attend, or omit or decline to exercise the privilege, the Bishop shall strike off the names in his stead, and shall then summon the five Presbyters whose names remain on the list, and thus selected, to meet at some time not exceeding ninety (90) days, at some place within the county where the accused shall reside or officiate for the time being; and the said Presbyters, or a majority of their number, shall sit as Court for the trial of the accused, shall have power to adjourn from time to time, and, upon good cause shown by either side, from place to place, but always within the Diocese, and to render judgment whether the accused is guilty or not guilty as charged.

SEC. 3. The Bishop, or, if there be none, the clerical members of the Standing Committee, shall forthwith furnish to the Standing Committee and the accused a list of the Presbyters summoned to constitute the Court, with a notice of the time and place of the meeting of the Court. The Standing Committee shall, at least sixty (60) days before the trial, furnish the accused with a copy of the presentment, notice of the time and place of trial, together with a list of witnesses who may then be known to the Standing Committee.

The said committee shall also appoint a Church Advocate, who shall be a communicant of the Church in good standing, and of the profession of the law, who shall conduct the prosecution, and the accused may employ counsel with the like qualifications, the certificate of his or their Rector to be presented as the evidence of his or their qualification.

SEC. 4. As soon as practicable after their appointment the members of the Court shall assemble and choose a President from their own number, and a Secretary, either from their own number or otherwise, as to them shall seem fit, and make such rules as are, in their judgment, necessary for the conduct of said trial.

They shall also be authorized to employ a stenographer. The Court shall also appoint a lay adviser, who shall be a communicant of the Church, and of the profession of the law; such adviser may be present at all proceedings of the court, but shall have no vote in any case whatever. It shall be his duty to give in person to the Court an opinion on any question not theological, upon which the court or any of the members thereof, or either party, shall desire an opinion. If a dispute shall arise whether any question be, or be not, theological, it shall be decided by the court by a majority of votes.

The laws of Georgia, so far as they relate to the law of evidence, shall be, as far as practicable, the rule by which the Court shall be governed, and these laws shall also be the rule of decision as to the competency of witnesses, save and except the accused shall, at his own request, but not otherwise, be a competent witness; his failure to make such request shall not create any presumption against him, but if offered in his own behalf, he shall be subject to cross-examination like other witnesses. The trial shall be conducted according to the practice in the courts in Georgia, as far as practicable.

SEC. 5. It is hereby declared to be the duty of all the members of the Church to attend and give evidence, when duly summoned to do so, in any ecclesiastical trial or investigation under authority of this Church; but in case there is ground to suppose that the attendance of any witness on the trial cannot be obtained, it shall be lawful for either party to apply to the Court, if in session, and if not, to any member thereof, who shall thereupon appoint a commissioner to take the deposition of such witness, and such party so desiring to take the deposition shall give to the opposite party ten days' notice of the time and place of taking such deposition, accompanying such notice with the interrogatories to be propounded to the witness. Whereupon it shall be lawful for the other party, within six days after such notice, to propound cross-interrogatories, and such interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, if any be propounded, shall be sent to the commissioner, who shall thereupon proceed to take the testimony of such witness, under oath or affirmation, and transmit it under seal to the Court; but no deposition shall be read at the trial, unless the Court have reasonable assurance that the attendance of the witness cannot be procured, or unless both parties consent that it may be read.

The oath to be administered to each witness, orally or before his examination by interrogatories, shall be: "I do solemnly call God to witness that the evidence I am about to give shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God." At the option of the Court, or a majority of its members, or of the commissioner, any witness may be permitted to affirm, such affirmation being of a solemn nature and regarded as equivalent to the oath.

SEC. 6. Before pleading to the merits, all exceptions to the personnel of the Court, to the venue of the trial, or the presentment, or any charge, specification or count thereof, or plea in abatement, shall be presented, urged and determined by the Court before proceeding to hear the case on the merits. Should the accused neglect or refuse to appear, or to answer in person or by counsel, in accordance with the notice served on him, as aforesaid, except for some reasonable cause to be allowed by the Court, they shall proceed to announce him in contumacy, and notify him that sentence of suspension or degradation will be pronounced against him by the Court at the expiration of three months, unless within that time he tender himself ready, and accordingly appear and take his trial on the presentment. But if the accused shall not tender himself before the expiration of the said three months, sentence of suspension or degradation from the ministry may be recommended by the Court to be pronounced against him by the Bishop.

If, on or during the trial, the accused shall confess the truth of the charges as stated in the presentment, the Court may dispense with hearing further evidence and proceed to render judgment; but if he shall appear and proceed to trial on the presentment, the Court shall adjudge him guilty or not guilty, according to the evidence. If he be found guilty, the Court shall declare to the Bishop to what ecclesiastical censure he ought, in their judgment, to be subjected.

SEC. 7. The Secretary shall keep a record of all the proceedings, which shall contain a copy of the presentment, specifications, notice to the accused and his answer, with the evidence, both oral and written, and the final judgment of the Court. An attested copy of this record, made out by the Secretary or the stenographer, and certified to by the Secretary, shall be forthwith at the conclusion of the trial delivered to the Bishop, who shall, in the consideration thereof, be authorized to appoint a lay adviser with the same authority and the same duty as that put upon the lay adviser of the Court, and obtain from him when advisable an opinion on all matters not theological. The Bishop shall also have the same authority in passing upon all motions for a new trial.

If the judgment of the Court be not guilty, the Bishop shall give his certificate of acquittal to the accused, embracing a copy of the presentment and specifications, and the accused shall not be subject to a second trial on the same charge. If the Court shall adjudge him guilty on one or more points at issue, the Bishop shall pronounce such canonical sentence as shall appear to him to be proper, provided the penalty shall not be greater than that expressed in the judgment of the Court. Before pronouncing any sentence the Bishop shall summon the accused and any two or more Clergymen to meet him, at such time as in his opinion may be most convenient, in some Church to be designated by him, which shall for that purpose be open at the time to all persons who choose to attend, and the sentence shall then and there be publicly pronounced by the Bishop; but no sentence shall be pronounced until the expiration of twenty days from the adjournment of the Court, nor shall the penalty be greater than that expressed in the judgment of the Court.

At any time within fourteen days after notice of the judgment of the Court to the accused, he may make application to the Bishop for another hearing. This application must set forth the exceptions he takes to the proceedings or finding of the Court, both of law and of fact, and no other matter shall be considered or passed upon under the application for new trial by either party, except such as bear upon the points to which the exceptions had been or are therein taken, provided always, that new evidence discovered since the trial may be considered on such motion for a new trial, when such new evidence shall be presented in the form of affidavits, as required by the laws of Georgia and practice thereunder. If the Bishop thereafter disapproves the judgment, he shall order a new trial, stating his grounds for such decision, or he may approve the judgment, and in that case within thirty days thereafter, proceed to such ecclesiastical censure as the case may, in his judgment, require, whether it be admonition, suspension, or degradation from the ministry.

If the Bishop shall order a new trial, the same shall be had as before prescribed, save and except that the names of the Presbyters selected for the first trial shall be omitted from the list of Presbyters, from whom the new Court shall be stricken.

SEC. 8. The Bishop may, upon the recommendation of the Standing Committee, suspend any Clergyman against whom proceedings are instituted under this Canon from the exercise of his official duties pending the trial. If a clergyman of this Diocese, while under suspension after trial and sentence, shall repeat the offense for which he is suspended, he shall be presented and tried for the offense committed during such suspension just as if no such suspension existed.

SEC. 9. Every summons, notice or citation mentioned in these proceedings may be served by delivery of a written notice to the person to be summoned, notified or cited, by a person duly appointed in writing by the Bishop, the Standing Committee, or the Court, as the case may require. Should the accused absent himself from the Diocese, so that he cannot be served personally, then the Bishop, upon notice thereof, may suspend him, at discretion, from the ministry until he returns to the Diocese or accepts service elsewhere.

SEC. 10. The expense incurred in trying a Clergyman under this Canon shall be paid by the Treasurer of the Diocese out of the Convention Fund, and "prorated" amongst the Parishes as part of the Convention expenses.

Whenever any Rector or Missionary shall receive a communicant without the letter of communion provided for by the General Canons, Title II., Canon XII., Section 1, it shall be his duty to require such communicant to procure such a letter from his or her last Parish without delay. Until the reception of such letter no Rector or Missionary shall enter the name of a communicant from another Parish upon his Register ; nor shall he retain upon his Register the name of any communicant to whom he has given a letter of communion.

Nothing in these Canons shall prejudice the legal rights of any Parish or Vestry already existing by act of incorporation.

No clergyman shall be called as permanent Rector of any Parish in this Diocese until he shall have first been nominated by the Vestry of the Parish, and the nomination approved by the Episcopal authority of the Diocese.
